400 Manufacturers and Factors Hear George S. Harris Tell of Urgent Requirement.

APPEAL OF BISHOP OBJECT OF ATTACK

W. D. Anderson Says Production Must Be Cut If Farmers Are To Command Good Price.

Richmond, Va., May 17.—(Special.) Demand for establishment of a southern cotton delivery contract and defense of textile operators of this section against accusations contained in the "appeal" issued several months ago by Bishop James Cannon and a number of other clergymen marked the opening sessions of the thirty-second annual convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers association, which will be in session here through tomorrow. More than 400 manufacturers are in attendance.

The call for the southern contract was made in an address delivered by George S. Harris, of Atlanta, president of the Exposition Cotton Mills, and president of the Manufacturers association, and the defense of southern mill operators was voiced in the speech of W. D. Anderson, of Macon, president of the Bibb Manufacturing company.

Among other addresses at the meetings today were those of Walker D. Hines, of New York, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, Inc., and Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, United States department of commerce. Dr. Klein was not able to attend and his address was read at the manufacturer's banquet tonight by Edward Pickard, chief of the department of the textile division of the department of commerce.

Mr. Anderson devoted a considerable part of his address to the "appeal" issued by Bishop Cannon and his associates in which conditions in the cotton mills of the south were assailed. He showed the great growth of the industry in the south and the material progress that has been made in improving the mills themselves, working conditions, and the general betterment of the workers.

Attack's Cannon's "Appeal."

"I believe," he said, "that the bishop and his associates are really our friends and I am sure that it would be possible for them to render us valuable assistance, but I fear that the manner in which they have approached the proposition has tended to limit their usefulness in helping us to reach a satisfactory solution of such problems as really call for treatment at this time.

"The men who manage the mills in the south today do not deserve to be attacked, harassed and embarrassed in their efforts to solve the difficult problems confronting them, by any set of men, from either north or south; surely not by any group

WOMAN SUES SMITH LEAGUE FOR BACK PAY

Los Angeles, May 17.—(AP)—The Al Smith Presidential League of Southern California was sued today for $820 damages alleged to be due the plaintiff, Mrs. Florence Gilmour, for labor, service and money advanced in behalf of the primary election campaign here of Governor Smith, of New York.

The governor, the local league and several of its asserted officers, including Isadore Dockweiler, democratic national committeeman, were named in the suit.

ANNEX TO CAPITOL URGED IN ADDRESS BY GOV. HARDMAN

State Executive Plans Also To Ask Legislative Action on Renovation of Present Building.

Construction of an annex to the capitol of Georgia and extensive exterior and interior improvement of the present state house to match the beauty of Atlanta's proposed new and adjacent city hall, was advocated Thursday by Governor L. G. Hardman in an address before the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pointing to the fact that the capitol building was erected in 1884 and "since that time has had little if any attention," Governor Hardman declared that it was his desire to see Georgia construct a state house which will be among the most beautiful and imposing in the entire country.

"The present building," he added, "is totally inadequate to take care of the state's various departments. I have assembled figures which show that there is now a shortage of 30,000 square feet of space vitally needed by those who carry on the state's business."

Following the address, Governor Hardman told a Constitution representative that he has had prepared a detailed survey of the situation and in a short time would submit for legislative action full details of his plans. He said they call for erection of an annex to the capitol building located across the street from it; a thorough cleansing and repairing of the exterior of the state house, and extensive remodeling and improving of its interior.

He said that some time ago he held an option on the property now covered by the building housing the military department on Mitchell street, and felt assured that the state could acquire property on the square occupied by the capitol without difficulty.

"Work has already started on Atlanta's magnificent new city hall building," the governor told the junior chamber. "It will be a splendid addition to the capitol environs and I'm afraid it will make the state's business house look bad by comparison. For this reason, and because of the added fact that the capitol is old, neglected and inadequate, I want to

ACCOUNTANTS END FIRST DAY'S MEET

Theater Party Enjoyed by Delegates to Three-Day Convention of City Comptrollers.

Supervision of the disbursement of $4,000,000,000 annually weighed lightly Thursday night on the shoulders of more than 100 delegates to the twenty-third annual convention of the International Association of Comptrollers and Accounting Officers as they closed the first day of their three-day meeting with a theater party at Keith's Georgia.

Estimates of officials of the association Thursday placed the total outlay which the delegates spend or supervise expenditure of at slightly more than $4,000,000,000 a year.

The morning meeting was spent in

POPE'S COLORS ADORN CAPITOL, HEFLIN OPINES

Alabama Senator Displays Dollar Bill Bearing Cross and Rosary; Hints at Third Party.

ROOM IN CAPITOL BEARS POPE'S STAMP

Daily Tirade Against New York Governor Finds But Few Senators in Hot, Stuffy Room.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 17.—(United News.)—Senator Heflin, of Alabama, spiced his daily senate attack on Governor Smith today with assertions that the Roman Catholic cross and rosary have been placed on some of the government's paper money and that the president's room at the capitol has been done over—in anticipation—he suspects—in the colors of a Roman cardinal.

The senate chamber was warm and oppressive and the two dozen of senators present were dozing over monotonous routine debate when the doughty senator from Alabama appeared in white flannel trousers. His daily attack on Governor Smith is coming to be a reliable source of free entertainment for the galleries and they were packed when he arose to speak.

Heflin reviewed the testimony of Smith's friends and financial backers before the senate investigating committee Wednesday.

"They come down here to the very capitol and flaunt their arrogance and vulgar wealth," he said. "They say they will give all that is necessary to buy the presidency for him. The words are my own but that's what it means.

"My God! What is the country coming to?"

Heflin said he did not believe Smith would be nominated.

But if that crowd at Houston does nominate him," Heflin continued, "he will run third. Republicans will run first. Jeffersonian democrats will run second. We will have 1912 over again. The party will be reorganized within two weeks. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

"I'd rather go down to defeat than to have this annointed of the pope, nullifier and advocate of social equality."

Heflin has never said whether he would bolt the party if Smith is nominated. When asked about that by Senator Caraway a few days ago he said "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it."

Heflin then swung into an attack on Roman Catholics.

"They've even put the cardinal's colors in the president's room here," he said, referring to the small room adjoining the senate chamber where the president comes when he signs bills at the close of a session and where he waits just before inaugural ceremonies. They took down the beautiful green curtains and put up red ones. They put a red top on the pres-

NOBILE EXPEDITION RETURNS TO BASE

Storms Prevent Landing on Lenin Land; No New Land Found in Region Near Pole.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 17.—(AP)—From 7 o'clock Wednesday evening until an hour before midnight, the dirigible Italia sailed over Lenin Land (Nicholas II Land), but such was the forbidding view that met the sight of the Italian explorers that plans for putting men ashore were abandoned.

This news was received here at 7:05 this morning in radio dispatches from the airship, indicating then it had turned about and was north of Nova Zembla and southeast of Franz Josef Land on its trip back to its base at Kings Bay.

A northerly wind was blowing and it was believed here the arrival of the dirigible would be delayed until Friday about noon. The further explanation was made that the most favorable time for exploration had passed with the first half of May and that conditions now are entirely unsuited to the proposed terrestial explorations.

The Italia was 90 miles east of Cape Leigh Smith, the eastern point of northeast land in the Spitzbergen archipelago, at 11:30 tonight, according to reports here. It was expected that the dirigible would reach Kings Bay by 5 a. m. Shortage of gasoline may force the Italia to seek the mooring mast at Vadsoe, in northernmost Norway, instead of continuing on to its base here.

Radio messages from the dirigible indicate that it is meeting with more than a little difficulty in fighting against a stiff northwest breeze. Taking into account that the ship has been in virtually continuous flight since leaving here shortly before 2 p. m. on Tuesday, members of the base force felt that the Italia could have little fuel remaining.

CONE SUSPENSION UPHELD IN SPECIAL SESSION OF BOARD

'Strike' of Marietta High School Students Results in Suspension of Two Pupils.

Marietta, Ga., May 17.—(Special.) The board of education in a speial meeting Thursday night unanimously sustained the action of Superintendent A. C. Keith in suspending Professor O. C. Cone, principal of the Marietta high school, following a short-lived strike of pupils here today.

The strike was the outgrowth of the faliure of the board recently to re-elect Professor Cone as principal for another term, it was understood. At about noon yesterday the fire alarm gong was sounded, and, apparently this having been the prearranged signal, the "strike" was on.

About 75 members of the junior class left their studies and congregated in the school yards, shouting "Hooray for Professor Cone," and "Strike!" "Strike!" and a few minutes later were joined by approximately a hundred other pupils.

Complicity Charged.

Learning of the situation, Superintendent Keith summarily suspended Profesor Cone, declaring that he had information that the demonstration had been "instigated by Cone." Cone denied this categorically and announced he would challenge the authority of the superintendent to suspend him.

It was said that numerous members of the junior class have presented petitions to the board of education asking that Professor Cone be retained as principal of the school, but Superintendent Keith declared it had not been "found wise" to do so.

The strike was soon quelled and with the exception of two boys—one who is alleged to have rung the fire gong and another described by school officials as a "ringleader" in the demonstration—the pupils returned to their classes.

At the special meeting of the board Thursday night it was charged by Superintendent Keith that Professor Cone two months ago had been suspended for failure to cooperate with other teachers and officials of the education board. This suspension, however, he said, was reconsidered and

ELSAS PAY WARD OFFER INDORSED

Hospital and Charities Body To Make Every Effort To Have Fund Included in June Sheet.

When the finance committee of city council begins making up the June finance sheet, the proposal to set up $100,000 to take advantage of the Jacob Elsas offer and establish a pay ward at Grady hospital will be brought to the attention of that body with a recommendation that everything possible be done to assure the success of the project, it was announced Thursday night by Councilman Wiley L. Moore of the seventh ward and chairman of the committee.

The matter will be brought officially to the attention of the finance body by members of the hospitals and charities committee, Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman, and other members have declared.

All five members of that committee will urge immediate action in order that the city may avail itself of the Elsas offer to contribute $100,000 if the city and county will appropriate $100,000 each towards the improvement.

In making his statement Thursday night, Mr. Moore declared that he is unequivocably in favor of accepting Mr. Elsas' proposal and will urge that all means at the disposal of the committee be used in order to assure es-

TEXAS TORNADO RAZES ALL HOMES IN SMALL TOWN

Gainesville, Texas, May 17.—(AP)—Two persons were severely injured and several others less seriously hurt when a tornado struck Thackerville, Okla., a town of 300, about 13 miles north of here tonight. Virtually every house in the town was blown from its foundation, a brick school house was wrecked and a cotton gin was blown down.

Those most seriously injured were a Mr. and Mrs. Gibb, reports from the telephone office at Marietta, Okla., said. More definite advices could not be had because of broken communications.

Rebel Leader Swears To Kill All Americans He Finds; Makes Third Raid on Gold Mine.

CAPTAIN WOUNDED IN RECENT BATTLE

Diaz, Honduran and Mexican Bandit Leader, Thought To Be Commanding New Outbreak.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 17.—(AP)—Airplanes brought here today a partial account of the most severe combat between United States marines and rebels which has occurred in weeks. One marine was killed and another and the commanding officer, Captain Robert S. Hunter, of Kansas, were wounded. The rebels, who were commanded by Joe Lean Diaz, lost five killed and five wounded. One Nicaraguan guardsman was also killed.

From the few details known it was believed here that the clash occurred on Monday near Paso Real, 45 miles northeast of Jinotega and across the Cuba river.

Captain Robert A. Archibald, commanding a squadron of marine planes, today flew over the small marine detachment which is isolated in almost impenetrable country and dropped medical and surgical supplies for the wounded. Two relief columns were sent out from Quilali and were likely to reach the scene of the battle late today.

Brigade headquarters here stated that Captain Hunter's column was believed to be in no serious predicament. Their wounded will be sent to Quilali and then evacuated to Managua by airplane.

There were 25 marines and ten members of the Nicaraguan national guard in what is almost an unexplored section in the dense growth across the Cuba river.

The first hint that there had been a severe engagement was obtained by marine aviators who were reconnoitering around Jinotega yesterday. With the meager information obtained from ground signals, the planes hurried back to the marine base to start relief forces. While the land forces were pushing their slow way into the jungle today Captain Archibald and his squadron flew to the battleground and obtained more definite information.

The methods of signalling were so crude, however, that the names of the enlisted men who were casualties were not obtained. Neither was it learned whether the marines or the rebel force had precipitated the combat.

It was not generally known here that the marine patrol had pushed so far eastward from Jinotega. Brigade headquarters believe that Augustino Sandino, chief of the rebel leaders, had retired to the central part of the department of Jinotega into an almost inaccessible region.

It is nearly three months since so severe a clash occurred between marines and rebel guerrillas. On February 27 a supply pack train was attacked and in the ensuing combat five marines were killed and eight wounded. Several encounters have occurred since that time between marine patrols and small bands of rebels but without fatalities to the Americans.

Two Forces Converge.

In these 25 contacts with armed outlaws the only marine casualty was Captain Francies E. Pierce, who was shot through the foot while acting as observer in an airplane engaging the rebels about six weeks ago.

Brigade headquarters stated that the two marine columns which are converging on Paso Real are under

Lindsey Evans Is Captured At Acworth

Alleged Accomplice in Cape Murder Taken After Fight.

Acworth, Ga., May 17.—(Special.) Lindsey Evans, sought since last September in connection with the murder of W. L. Cape, Pickens county officer and former prominent deputy federal marshal, was captured at his home here Thursday night by Chief of Police Thermand White.

The arrest of Evans was effected after a stiff fight in which the fugitive blazed away at the chief of police as the latter entered the home of relatives of Evans, who denied Evans was present.

As White entered the doorway of the home where it had been rumored Evans was visiting, the fugitive grabbed a pistol and fired almost point-blank at White. Knocking his gun up, White escaped the bullet, which went into the ceiling in the hall.

Evans then ran into a bedroom, according to White, and crawled under a bed in an effort to hide. White followed and after a few moments' desperate struggle dragged his prisoner out handcuffed.

Evans was indicted by a grand jury

PRESBYTERIANS ELECT DR. KIRK AS MODERATOR

Baltimore Minister Given High Honor by General Assembly Now in Session at Central Church.

CHURCH MEN TERM AL SMITH "THREAT"

Executive Committee and Officers Report to Conference at Opening; Three Meetings Daily.

The Rev. Dr. Harris E. Kirk, pastor of the Franklin Street Presbyterian church, of Baltimore, was elected moderator of the 1928 general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church now in session at the Central Presbyterian church here on Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Kirk was one of three nominated for moderator, the others being the Rev. Dr. I. S. McElroy, of Kings Mountain, N. C., and the Rev. Dr. David M. Sweets, of Louisville, Ky., editor-in-chief of the Christian Observer. Dr. Kirk received 156 votes, while Dr. McElroy received 34 and Dr. Sweets 85. The election was afterwards made unanimous.

Dr. Kirk was nominated by the Rev. W. S. Jacobs, of Houston, Texas, while Elder O. C. Erwin, of Rutherfordton, N. C., nominated Dr. McElroy and the Rev. John Van Lear, of Little Rock, Ark., placed Dr. Sweet's name before the assembly. The Rev. W. J. Caldwell, of Yazoo City, Miss., nominated the Rev. Dr. Albert S. Johnson, of Charlotte, N. C., but on request of Dr. Johnson withdrew the nomination.

Smith Termed "Threat."

Al Smith was described as "the threat of the democratic party," by the Rev. Homer McMillan, of Atlanta, during the course of his annual report as secretary of home missions executive committee. Mr. McMillan, declaring that over half of the population of the United States is not affiliated with any church, pointed out the need of aggressive home mission work and stated "there are 35 separate organizations now working for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and Al Smith of New York is the threat of the democratic party."

Thursday sessions opened the conference, which will continue through next Thursday with morning, afternoon and night sessions daily. On Thursday morning Dr. Robert F. Campbell, of Asheville, N. C., retiring moderator, preached his annual sermon to the commissioners.

The afternoon session was devoted to the election of the new moderator and the hearing of reports from several of the half dozen executive committees of the assembly.

Addresses of Welcome.

Addresses of welcome were delivered at the Thursday night session by Governor L. G. Hardman, on behalf of the state of Georgia; by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, on behalf of the city of Atlanta; by the Rev. Dr. Richard

WILLIS ELECTED MEMORIAL LEADER

Prominent Atlantan Asks for Week To Consider Offer; New Conciliation Body Is Named.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

G. F. Willis, Atlanta capitalist, was unanimously elected president of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association at a meeting of directors here Thursday to succeed Hollins N. Randolph, who has officiated in that capacity for five years.

With one exception, all other officers were reelected, as was the present board of directors and the executive committee. In addition a number of new members were elected to the directorate and the executive committee. The retiring president was made honorary president for life by acclamation.

After being nominated by E. Rivers, first vice president of the organization, Mr. Willis declined to permit consideration of his name for the presidency, asserting that the press of personal business would prevent him from accepting the honor.

Asks Time to Consider.

The nomination was put, however, and he was given a rising vote by those in attendance. Later, Reuben Arnold, member of the legal firm which acts as counsel for the association, arose and announced he had been requested by Mr. Willis to ask that the latter be allowed one week for further consideration of the matter.

This was accorded him and provision was made for a committee to wait upon him, formally advise him of his election and receive his decision.

MORE JAPANESE TROOPS ORDERED TO CHINESE CITY

3,000 Nippon Fighters Go to Tientsin and Pekin as Effort at Truce of Warring Factions Fail.

Pekin, May 17.—(AP)—It is officially announced that at least 3,000 Japanese troops are proceeding to Tientsin and that probably 1,000 of them will be sent to Pekin. This would bring the Japanese forces here up to a total of 1,500.

A special train will leave Pekin Saturday for Taku with Japanese women and children, who will be transported from there to Dairen, Manchuria.

TRUCE OFFER IS DISREGARDED.

Shanghai, May 17.—(AP)—Marshal Chang Tso-lin's recent offer from Pekin of a truce in the civil war has clearly been disregarded by his opponents, the nationalists, and hostilities are approaching ever near the capital.

As usual, it is difficult to disentangle the truth from the welter of conflicting reports, but it seems that the nationalists are advancing along the line of the Pekin-Hankow railroad, and the latest nationalist reports claim an advance as far as Paotingfui, about 80 miles south of Pekin.

The nationalist news agency said also Shansi troops vanguard had reached Chang Sintien, about seven miles southwest of Pekin.

There is a belief among the members of the foreign community here that the northerners are preparing to retire from the capital into Manchuria, and indications of the danger menacing Pekin are seen in the attempts of Chang Tso-lin to hearten his own troops and discredit the southern generals by issuing proclamations accusing Fen Yu-hsiang of cooperating with communists and trying to involve the southerners with the Japanese by charging General Fang with attempts to foment anti-foreign manifestations.

Chiang Kai-shek, commander-in-chief of the southerners, tried to open negotiations with General Fukuda, Japanese commander at Tsinan, where the Japanese clashed with the nationalists. Chiang was anxious to discuss the Japanese demands on the Nanking government, but General Fukuda refused to negotiate except with a personally appointed delegate.

RIVAL PRESIDENTS IN CLUB SESSIONS

Tangle Grows as Both Factions Name Committees for Administrative Duties and Hold Posts.

Fixed in their determination not to recede from their positions in the fight for administrative control of the Atlanta Woman's club, two rival factions held business sessions Thursday in adjoining rooms at the club building on Peachtree street and at the end of these sessions the affairs of the club still were in hopeless tangle. The faction headed by Mrs. John R. Hornady and the faction headed by Mrs. Charles Goodman, both of whom were named president by different groups at the annual meeting of the club held Monday, were seemingly adamant Thursday in their purpose of administering the affairs of the club for the ensuing year.

As a result of the meetings Thursday some unique situations developed, one of which placed Mrs. Shepherd Bryan as the first vice president of one faction and the second vice president of another. The situation also developed that Mrs. J. P. Billups, elected secretary of the club by both factions at the stormy Monday meeting, had decided to serve in this position with both factions. Mrs. Billups said she was elected to serve the Atlanta Woman's club as secretary and that she, intended to serve in this capacity even if she had to serve both factions to do it. She undertook these duties Thursday and with the two groups meeting in adjoining rooms she acted as secretary for both.

At the Thursday session of the forces headed by Mrs. Hornady the posts vacated Monday by Mrs. Thomas Brooke as first vice president and Mrs. Joseph E. Brogdon as treasurer were filled. Mrs. D. F. Stevenson was named as vice president and Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, treasurer. As Mrs. Brooke and Mrs. Brogdon had been named to these places by the Goodman faction, the same vacancies occurred in that group. For the places in the Goodman faction were named Mrs. Shepherd Bryan as first vice president and Mrs. J. A. Carlisle as treasurer. The Goodman executive board elected Mrs. Victor H. Kriegshaber as Arkansan, Author of Present Quiz, Asks Senate To Permit All Contributors To Be Called.

CAROLINA IS NEXT INVESTIGATION SITE

Smith Backers Welcome Chance To Show How Little Has Been Spent in North State.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—A resolution extending the authority of the senate presidential campaign funds committee to embrace the activities of "political committees and party organizations and agencies," was introduced tonight by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader and author of the resolution under which the committee is already exploring the activities of the various presidential candidates themselves and their immediate supporters.

In addition the resolution authorizes the committee to sit during the recess of congress and reaffirms the authority of the investigators to summon witnesses, books and papers; administer oaths, and to compel the attendance of witnesses.

The resolution supplements the original one introduced by the democratic leader several weeks ago creating the committee. It would remove any doubt of the right of the committee to sit during the recess of congress and to examine the responsible officials of national political organizations.

RALEIGH IS NEXT ON PROBERS' LIST.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Again shifting the scene of its operations, the special senate campaign funds committee will hold a hearing at Raleigh next Monday to investigate the Smith-for-president campaign in North Carolina.

Subpoenaes were issued late today for 13 witnesses and Chairman Steiwer, who will be accompanied south by one of the two democratic members of the committee, said both sides in the contest revolving around the New York governor's candidacy would be heard.

Those summoned to appear before the investigators in the North Carolina capital are:

John F. Dawson, of Kinston, recognized manager for Smith; Walter Murphy, of Salisbury, manager for Senator Reed, of Missouri; Zeb V. Turlington, of Mooresville, manager for Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee; Sumter C. Brawley, of Durham; W. B. Jones, of Raleigh; Robert H. Edwards, of Goldsboro; Thomas A. Jones, Asheville; Jesse Davis and Larry I. Moore, of New Bern; J. Y. Jordon and James E. Carraway, of Asheville; Rovers D. Johnson, of Warsaw and Faison Thompson, of Morehead City.

Under present plans the committee of two will leave here Sunday night, sit in Raleigh practically throughout Monday and return to Washington that night so as to resume the hearings here next Tuesday with further inquiries into the financing of the campaigns of Herbert Hoover and Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois.

SOUTHERN DELIVERY POINT DEMANDED

of men who claim the south as home, least of all by Bishop Cannon and his associates, who, living here amongst us, should know what has been done, what we are now doing, and, if really interested, could have found out what we hope to do. These men have been called to be our spiritual guides and leaders and many of us have been taught from childhood to look to those who occupy such high places as they occupy, not only for sympathy and help, but for direction to a place from whence issue strength and guidance for every task. The men and women who own these mills and are engaged in the very difficult task of trying to keep them in operation are, for the most part, the stewards, the elders, the deacons, the Sunday school superintendents and the lay leaders of Bishop Cannon's church and the churches of those who signed with him. They are the men and women who are helping the bishop and his 41 associates to do everything he is doing that is really worth while, to speed the coming of the Kingdom of God among men."

Need Southern Delivery.

Mr. Anderson declared that overproduction now is the most serious problem of the textile industry in the south and suggested that the best remedy for this condition would be an agreement among the cotton mill operatives to cease the working of night shifts, a condition which he said was brought about during the world war period when a heavy output was necessary.

Mr. Hines spoke on the subject, "The Survival of the Fittest," saying that he decried this doctrine, declaring that this policy so often invoked in business as a cure for all ills merely postpones and even obstructs the finding of an adequate solution. Consolidation of mills and collaboration in promoting sound business policies were urged by the speaker.

Urging a southern cotton delivery contract, Mr. Harris declared that he was unalterably opposed to any system by which the price of the spot staple must be based on New York contracts, with New York as the exclusive delivery point.

"Theoretically, as manufacturers, we should maintain an even position between cotton purchases and cloth sales. Yet, it seems that few have generally followed the practice of fully hedging their operations with cotton futures. With the cost so large a percentage of our total manufacturing cost, and with the usual very close manufacturing margin, it is now, and always will be, unsafe to buy cotton on a hunch. The fact that cotton futures so often shift their position as they relate to the spot markets, is, I think, largely responsible for the present policy of so very many manufacturers. Short hedges placed in distant months to protect cotton or goods in warehouse, have often caught manufacturers in jams worse than those resulting from price fluctuations; and it seems to be the opinion of the majority that they are much safer when they back their judgment carrying cotton open than when they attempt to hedge it.

"My conviction is that if competing mills would adopt the policy of staying even with cotton, making their prices of goods based on cost plus, we would not only have a more stable goods market, but a more stable cotton market, if we could have a contract that reflected at all times the value of the actual cotton."

Modern business should place no dependence on assumption or tradition, was the message of Dr. Klein, who held that American business thinking should be governed by factual analysis.

HARRIS ATTACKS BISHOP'S APPEAL.

Richmond, May 17.—Establishment of a southern cotton delivery contract was urged by George S. Harris, of Atlanta, president of the Exposition Cotton mills, in his annual address as president before the American Cotton Manufacturers association at the 32nd annual convention in Richmond, Va., Thursday.

Admitting that he believed there is room for improvement in the present method of future trading in cotton, Mr. Harris said that he is opposed to the price of cotton being based on New York contracts with New York the exclusive delivery point. "This," he said, "is largely responsible for many of our troubles, and I urge southern cotton manufacturers to give this matter the full consideration it deserves, and use their influence to bring about a southern delivery contract."

Southern Deliveries.

Mr. Harris said that "while admitting the difficulty of foreseeing definitely all possible reactions, I am of the opinion that future contracts will more nearly reflect, at all times, the market for the actual, if deliveries were possible at designated southern points that are now and always will be large spot markets. I believe that our New England friends who now oppose southern deliveries on these contracts, would find much improved operating conditions, even though it required elimination entirely of New York delivery. Certainly New York is no more a spot cotton market, and I fail to see how it is possible for any conditions to arise in the future through which New York could be made such a market."

Stating that theoretically, as manufacturers, they should maintain an even position between cotton purchases and cloth sales, Mr. Harris said, "Yet, it seems that few have generally followed the practice of, fully hedging their operations with cotton futures. With the cost so large a percentage of our total manufacturing cost, and wit.. the usual very close manufacturing margin, it is now, and always will be, unsafe to buy cotton on a hunch.

"The fact that cotton futures so often shift their position as they relate to the spot markets, is, I think, largely responsible for the present policy of so very many manufacturers. Short hedges placed in distant months to protect cotton or goods in warehouse, have often caught manufacturers in jams worse than those resulting from price fluctuations; and it seems to be the opinion of the majority that they are much safer when they back their judgment carrying cotton open than when they attempt to hedge it."

More Stable Market.

Mr. Harris said that it is his conviction that if competing mills would adopt the policy of staying even with cotton, making their prices of goods based on cost plus, there would not only be a more stable goods market, but a more stable cotton market, "if we could have a contract that reflected at all times the value of the actual cotton. I realize that it would be very undesirable to fluctuate the price of goods parallel with cotton, and that supply and demand should be an element in goods pricing," he said. "At the same time, it is suicidal, on the part of mills, to take these enormous risks in cotton purchases with no chance to win, as so often occurs. Even the old theory that cotton averages low during the fall months has recently been exploded several times when final analyses have been carefully made."

The contract wanted by Mr. Harris must, first of all, reflect the intrinsic value of the actual, but at the same time, must be attractive to speculators, he said, declaring that he could not concur with the thoughts of those who would prohibit those outside the industry from trading in future cotton. "It seems obvious to me that to confine trading in any commodity would be most dangerous," he said. Mr. Harris said that there has come out a serious criticism of prevailing methods of cotton trading, confined largely to Washington, and to "those who purport to represent agricultural America." There have been bills introduced to congress, the purpose of which is to confine future trading in cotton to producers, merchants, and manufacturers of this commodity, he said.

Workmen's Compensation.

Mr. Harris discussed at length the matter of workmen's compensation, stating that from his observation, southern cotton manufacturers have never given proper attention to the waste resulting from injury to workmen. "It is still the feeling of many that the obligation of management has been fulfilled with the purchase of the insurance contract," he said.

"Workmen's compensation has stood the test, and works well, while the old defenses have been eliminated. The injured employee receives definite, prompt and assured compensation and the employer is relieved of the danger of law suits that may result in verdicts for damages 'with the sky as the limit,'" he said. "Under workmen's compensation laws, it is expensive to both the employee and the employer when a man or woman is injured. It is an economic waste that affects the injured one, his employer and industry as a whole and I appeal to you to make this matter of serious importance in your management."

Warning the association that the percentage of "parlor bolsheviks" in the graduating classes is slowly but surely growing, "and I doubt if the young men themselves realize it." Mr. Harris said that he wished to call to the association's attention certain faculty influence in some of the colleges, leading to what he designates as "adverse industrial psychology." "Witness, if you please," he said, "the reaction in the student body of one of our great eastern colleges to the recent execution of the two anarchists, Sacco and Vanzetti. More recently, we have reports of students in one of our western state universities making public demonstrations against an employer. Doesn't the slightest sympathetic demonstration on the part of a group of college students, in a question of this nature, appear to you as a serious indictment against the faculty? Isn't it equally the responsibility of present-day industrial leaders to see that the students of today are carefully protected against such adverse influences?"

Socialistic Tendency.

"There is no question as to the growing tendency toward socialism," Mr. Harris said, making the statement advisedly, and drawing a clear distinction as between socialism and communism. During the past 10 years, he said, "we have observed social upheavals in some of the older countries of the world, which have not occured without influence in our own country. I would suggest that this influence has been limited by our lack of preparation for it. On the other hand, it has not failed to make profound impression, and it is here that I would have you realize that as the custodian of present-day industry, we have a grave responsibility."

Looking forward 20 years, he is convinced that more attention should be devoted by present-day industrialists to the training of, and environment surrounding, the intelligent class of young men, Mr. Harris said. "To educate these men away from labor and business means a degeneration of industrial America; and under our present scheme of things in higher education, it strikes me that we are drifting in that direction."

Produce Quality Goods.

The exchange of ideas at meetings of the associations of mill operating executives has been productive of excellent results. Improvements in shop practice show clearly in the quality and cost figures, and the practical removal of marked prejudice that for many years mitigated against southern-made goods, Mr. Harris said "Our production today is offered with no apologies, and stands the criticism of all markets. We have demonstrated our ability to produce quality goods, and credit must be given to our men in the mills for their loyalty and interest. The great majority of these men have made themselves what they are today, with a background of only a high school education, and in fact, many went into the mill with no more than a meagre grammar school training. This is all the more remarkable when we realize the rapid growth of southern spindles and the annual demand for additional executives."

Referring to prices, Mr. Harris said that he does not advocate any form of price fixing, nor any character of price agreement, for price agreements are not only unethical and unsound, but they are prohibited by law, and it is the first duty of every citizen to obey the law. The price structure is vital; the character of its foundation is all important, he said. "Should not the prices at which our products are marketed bear an economic relation to the cost of production and distribution, and to the vast sums necessarily invested in the business?"

Price agreements are not necessary in order to get a fair return on investments, he said, as all that is needed is a recognition on the part of the industry and the general public, of the fundamental economic facts relating to the industry, and fair-minded, enlightened and legitimate competition in the interests of stability of industry, of employment and of general prosperity.

"SURVIVAL OF FITTEST" THEME OF HINES' ADDRESS.

Urging that the cotton manufacturers not delude themselves by relying on any destructive policy, but that instead they invoke every constructive expedient they can find and work toward a reasonable degree of consolidation, Walker D. Hines, president of the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc., Friday addressed the American Cotton Growers' association at their annual convention at Richmond, Va.

"At the same time we should work toward a general raising of the level of appreciation of sound policies on the part of every unit in the industry, large and small," Mr. Hines said. "In that way, I believe we shall make the maximum of progress, not only in the interests of the stockholders in the industry, but also in the interest of producers of cotton, mill employees, distributors, and consumers, thereby promoting that fundamental stability which is of vital importance to everyone of these elements which go to make up the public."

"Survival of Fittest."

Analyzing the idea of the "Survival of the fittest," Mr. Hines said that there apparently underlies this theory the assumption that somewhat later there will be a situation where a comparatively small number of strong mills, all employing sound manufacturing and merchandising policies, will constitute the industry and that it will no longer be subject to the demoralization which comes from an enormous number of mills of widely varying degrees of strength and ability of management. The theory assumes that as a result the industry will rise above its level of the recent past where in the merchandising of its product it has seemed to be at the mercy of the buyers, and will reach a level where cotton manufacturers will have to a reasonable extent a voice as to the merchandising policies by which they are controlled, he said.

"This first comment I have to make is that if the rate of progress toward arriving at such a result in the future is as slow as it has been in the past, the survival of the fittest has a long road to travel and is not likely to find any reasonable realization before the year 2000 or a good deal later," Mr. Hines declared.

Reorganizations Seen.

The assumption that the weak mills will fail and disappear loses sight of the fact that the spindles and looms will not disappear, he pointed out. "Even if there should be repeated failure of weaker mills, the result would be their reorganization and continued operation and probably in no more experienced and capable management than was true before the mills in question had failed." Further than that, they probably would be reorganized with lower capitalization and therefore would be able to go still further in the direction of influencing merchandising policies up to the time that they fail again."

"It is clear," Mr. Hines said, "that no such processes would redound to the benefit of the fittest mills or the industry as a whole. Therefore, I do not see how the doctrine of the survival of the fittest is going to be an adequate substitute for cooperative endeavor on the part of cotton mills to raise the efficiency of the industry as a whole and the understanding and adoption of sound business principles by each unit in the industry.

"My conviction is that the industry needs to develop with increasing emphasis its recognition of the necessity for exchange of information, for common study of conditions of general significance and effect, and for each unit determining its policies in the light of what is needed to promote sound business principles and methods," he said.

ANDERSON ANSWERS CANNON ATTACK.

Advocating cessation of night operation of cotton mills as a remedy for the present condition of over-production in the industry, in the belief that it would at once be efficacious, easy to apply, cost less and produce the minimum of shock to the industry, W. D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing company, Thursday delivered an address on problems confronting the southern textile industry. Mr. Anderson spoke before the American Cotton Manufacturers association at Richmond, Va.

Southern mills today face a most urgent problem in trying to find a profit in the business, the spread between cost of production and the net price obtained for goods having been gradually narrowed, and, on most lines of cotton textiles cost and market are so close together now that the life of the industry is actually menaced, Mr. Anderson declared. "Any further development along present lines cannot be considered by anyone familiar with the facts, who has a proper regard for the rights of investors," he continued.

Making Too Many Goods.

Declaring that he is sure that the reason for this condition is not to be found in a lack of efficiency, either in equipment of the mills or in methods of manufacture, nor due to poor marketing methods or untintelligent distributors, Mr. Anderson said: "I think the plain truth is that we are making too many goods." In the matters of efficiency, marketing and distribution, "we are doing a better job today than ever before in the history of our industry," he said.

The cause for the present condition is not to be found solely in the increase of spindles, as a keen student of the situation estimates that since 1910 the total increase in spindles has been only about 17 per cent, and that during the past five years there has been an actual decrease in active spindles of 1,500,000, or about 4 per cent, Mr. Anderson said. Neither is the cause to be found in a decrease in consumption of cotton goods throughout the United States, as some may have imagined, as the average consumption of cotton in this country was less than 5,000,000 bales for the four years prior to the war, and it is estimated that during that time the United States was exporting approximately 10 per cent of the production, while during the last four years the average consumption has been nearly 6,400,000 bales, despite a definite tendency toward lighter weight fabrics and the exportation of probably less than 5 per cent of the production, Mr. Anderson said.

Doubts Market Need.

Beyond a temporary demand to fill up depleted stocks, directly after the war, he seriously doubts if the world ever really has needed the production of textiles that has been pouring out of the mills since the day the armistice was signed, Mr. Anderson declared. "The delay of the war-stricken nations in getting under way with their production saved us for a few years, and high-pressure salesmanship at prices that left us without profit, and the increased consumption of fabrics due to style changes, have enabled us to travel thus far without tremendous increased production."

Not the least important factor that has contributed to this overproduction of textiles is the thing of which the United States is proudest of as a nation, and because of which this country is the envy of the world, Mr. Anderson said, adding that he was referring to the efficiency developed in the American shops. "In every worthwhile cotton mill in this country today we are producing more pounds of goods per spindle, more yards of goods per loom, and a greater production per operative in the mill, than ever in the history of our industry. In spite of curtailment in our operations which began in December and has gradually increased since that time, the monthly figures on consumption of cotton indicate the tremendous production that continues to pour out of our mills. We are producing, with curtailment, more goods than we used to produce with the same machinery running at full speed.

"Consider the result. As a nation, we are rich beyond our dreams. Conditions throughout this country are fundamentally sound. Conditions elsewhere in the world have been gradually improved. The purchasing power of the population of the United States, and possibly of the world, is greater than ever before, and excepting the period of the war, consumption of textiles the world over is greater than we have ever known. In spite of all these things, we cannot find a market for our products at prices that will yield a living profit. In fact, it is difficult to move our goods at any price."

Night Hours Not Normal.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that he was not approaching the proposition of ceasing night operations from a "holier than thou" attitude, as his corporation still carries on night operations. He doubted the wisdom of having an appreciable percentage of the population of any community work continuously, at night, as the night hours are not the normal period of labor for human beings, he said.

Pointing to the fact that "our Yankee friends are pouring in here as fast as they can," Mr. Anderson said that he is convinced that the real reason for the southward movement of the mills is that they expect to operate day and night. "I claim that it would be better for our industry as a whole, better for each of us individually, whatever our policy may have been in the past, that it would make for a great stability of our market, that it would give permanency to our business and to the expectation of a reasonable return on our investment, if we would draw the line right here and now and put a stop to the night operations of mills in the south," he said.

Referring to the "appeal" signed by Bishop Cannon and his associates, Mr. Anderson said that he does not fear either the intentions of Bishop Cannon and his associates, or what they are likely to accomplish themselves, but what does make him want to beg the bishop and his associates to call off their dogs, the thing that does give him grave concern, is the fear that those who have sinister designs on the conditions that exist down here, those who "would like to throttle our development, those who have no love for us and no interest in us, except to despoil us, those birds of prey who are leaving a picked carcass and are hunting a fresh kill, will get behind the splendid breastworks which our friends are building for them, and with their highly reputable protection to safeguard them, will spray us with their poisoned bullets and gasses," he said.

"If Blanshard and others who are worse, and those who come after him—the professional labor agitators, the trouble makers, the socialists, the reds—can say, as they go about their reform business, that the church is with them and back of them, it puts a powerful weapon in their hands. We must not mistake that fact," he said. "We of the south are religiously inclined and are more readily influenced by movements that appear to have the sanction of the church, and for which our church leaders are speaking and writing. Believing that these friends really wish to help us, and being convinced that they can help us, I, therefore, hope they will make some changes in their approach."

Reproach Undeserved.

Neither the host of heroes who have had a part in the development of the industry, nor the men who manage the mills in the south, "do deserve to be attacked, harassed and embarrassed in their efforts to solve the difficult problems facing them, by any set of men, from either north or south; surely not by any group of men who claim the south as home, least of all by Bishop Cannon and his associates, "who, living here amongst us, should know what has been done, what we are now doing, and, if really interested, could have found out what we hope to do," Mr. Anderson said. "These men have been called to be our spiritual guides and leaders and many of us have been taught from childhood to look to those who occupy such high places as they occupy, not only for sympathy and help, but for direction to a place from whence issue strength and guidance for every task. The men and women who own these mills and are engaged in the very difficult task of trying to keep them in operation are, for the most part, the stewards, elders, deacons, Sunday school superintendents and lay leaders of Bishop Cannon's church and the churches of those who signed with him. They do not play Dr. Jekyll in one relation on Sunday, and Mr. Hyde in another on Monday. No one knows better than the distinguished bishop that in no previous age have men carried their religion into business as they do today."

Mr. Anderson said that while the bishop seems to resent any implication that he is not thoroughly familiar with all of the problems brought forward in the original paper and in succeeding elaborations of it, and while he has no further disposition to further irritate him, he is bound to say that the body of the "Appeal" presents no evidence of a personal contact with the problems discussed, and certainly does not indicate that the signers attempted to get an expression from the members of the industry as to their attitude on these questions, their thoughts about the matters mentioned, or their hopes as to what may be done to correct any evils that exist.

Child Labor Figures.

While not specifically mentioned in the original "Appeal," enough is said in some of the later communications to drag out the "old stalking horse of Child Labor," Mr. Anderson continued, "Child labor in southern cotton mills has been such a dead issue for so long that no one ought, at this late date, to resurrect the corpse, unless it be merely to head the procession with it, for the sake of the drawing power. Of course, the cry of child labor always will stir the sluggish imaginations of the public and arouse sympathy of the sob-sisters, both male and female. That child labor was a real factor in the operation of southern cotton mills has been a popular sort of delusion in the minds of the people generally for a number of years, even here in the south.

"Even in the days of the infancy of our industry, I doubt if any large number of children of tender years actually were at work in the mills, although the problem of the cotton mill family in those days was one of existence, and it is said that necessity knows no law. However, I doubt if any child was ever put at work in a cotton mill by its parents, or permitted to work in a mill by its management, that had not been at harder work on the farm that had just been left behind. I strongly suspect that the work of the children in the mills in those days seemed more like play to them, as compared to what they had been accustomed to endure on the farm.

"The federal child's bureau, using figures from the census of 1920, stated in one of their publications that of all the children in the United States between 10 and 15 years of age, who were engaged in gainful occupation, in non-agricultural pursuits in the year 1920, only 5.3 per cent of them were cotton mill operatives. The same bulletin states that in 1920 the proportion of children, 10 to 15 years, inclusive, who were gainfully employed in non-agricultural occupations, was larger for New England and for the Middle Atlantic states, and slightly larger for the east north central states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin than for any of the three southern geographic divisions.

"I suggest that all of our fellow citizens who are disposed to think that foreign cows have long horns, and that we are the most backward section of our country in matters of this kind, take that statement and play it on their piccolo for a while."

Laws Are Ample.

Mr. Anderson said that when it comes to the matter of laws regulating the labor of children in factories or shops, all of the southern states are fully on a par in this respect with the laws governing this matter in the eastern states where the cotton mill industry is carried on to any extent, and with whom the south is so frequently compared. In addition, child labor does not pay, and the tendency of the thoughtful men in the industry is to voluntarily raise the age limit of the people they are willing to employ in their mills, he said.

Speaking of wages, Mr. Anderson said that an investigation established the fact, that, on account of certain wage equivalents offered by the mills of the south which are not given by the mills of the east, the increased compensation of southern mill operatives amounted to $4.36 per operative per week, and, based on figures given by the National Industrial Conference board in the service letter of January 25, 1928, the operatives in the southern mills are enjoying slightly higher earnings than are the employees in the cotton mills of the north. Reductions in wages of around 10 per cent have occurred all over the textile districts of New England, but there has not been a single reduction in the cotton mills of the south, he said.

"Bearing in mind that today, cotton mill wages are largely on a piece work basis or a 'per hour' basis, I challenge advocates of shorter hours of labor in the mills of the south to put the question to a vote of the mill employees themselves. We have straw ballots on everything else, why not a straw ballot on this?"

"After any reasonable, fair investigation of the situation, I cannot for the life of me, understand how thinking men and women can bring themselves to the point of making a broadside attack upon the mill village of today. It would be better to try and bring conditions in the tenement districts that are to be found in the same town, or in cities that are adjacent to these mill villages, where people with similar incomes must live, up to the standards of the average mill village," Mr. Anderson said. He challenged in toto the statement in the "Appeal" that the mill village has "generally proved in recent years, however, it may have been at first, to be unfavorable to education, to religion and understanding and sympathy between the citizens of the mill village and those of the largest community."

Mr. Anderson proposed that the association establish a department of industrial relations, attached to the office of the secretary and treasurer, to promote throughout the entire industry the very best things for which the best men in the industry stand, and which they are practicing daily in the conduct of their business, and in its relation to their employees.

SENATE EXEMPTS WORKERS OF CITY FROM INCOME TAX

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Minor changes were made in the tax reduction bill today during an all-day attack by proponents of the 20 or more amendments aimed at the measure and the dragging debate carried the senate into its third week of consideration of the bill, with only a prospect of final action tomorrow.

An amendment by Senator Frazier, republican, of North Dakota, increasing the exemptions allowed clubs from $10 to $25 was approved.

Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, won his amendment to exempt salaries of officers and employees of state and municipal corporations from the income tax. This will affect thousands of employees of state and municipal waterworks and street railway companies who are now taxed.

The proposal of Senator Bingham, republican, of Connecticut, for repeal of the inheritance tax was put over until tomorrow because of the absence of the senator from the city.

Holdup Artist Poses as Gas Meter Reader

A daylight holdup was staged in Atlanta Thursday at 970 Austin avenue, according to reports made to police headquarters. Florence Williams, maid for Mrs. B. F. Morgan, of the above address, stated that while she was alone in the house about 1 o'clock in the afternoon a white man gained entrance to the house by posing as a gas meter reader and then held her at the point of a pistol while he ransacked the place. After taking $15 in cash the man left by the back door and fled down an alley.

FIFTEEN COLORED NURSES TO RECEIVE DIPLOMAS TONIGHT

Graduation exercises of the colored nurses of Grady hospital will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Butler Street Y. M. C. A. James L. Key, former mayor of Atlanta, will deliver the diplomas to the 15 girls graduating, and Thomas Jefferson Flannagan, noted colored poet, will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

Dr. Allen Bunce, president of the colored medical unit at Grady, will preside.

Overcast Skies, But No Rainfall Forecast Today

Cloudy weather with little change in temperature is forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, but there is no indication of rain.

Temperatures Thursday ranged between 63 and 75 degrees, and the thermometer is expected to perform similarly today.

Although May is .21 of an inch ahead on rainfall, the year to date is 2.13 inches behind, the weather man said. This deficiency for the year to date is not worthy of particular notice, however, for 1927 was 8.76 inches short up to the end of May, and was 13 inches behind for the entire year, the weather man said.

COLORED WOMEN'S CONFERENCE OPENS HERE ON JUNE 9

The eighth annual conference for colored women will be held June 9-16 at Spelman college under the direction of the Presbyterian women's auxiliary of the synod of Georgia.

This is one of 13 such conferences to be held in as many states this summer. A daily schedule of studies will include Bible, daily vacation Bible school, Sunday school methods, playground demonstration, sewing, cooking and nursing.

160 GALLONS OF CORN CAPTURED BY POLICE

About 160 gallons of corn whisky and a large car, in which it was found, were seized by police officers Thursday night. The car was found in the rear of 1543 Peachtree by Officers W. B. Martin, A. C. Shyard and H. T. Leathers, but nothing had been learned concerning the identity of the owner at a late hour Thursday night.

"THE RIGHT WAY"

"Easy on the feet"

Some folks are:— usually the careful, well-groomed type. They know that restful feet are most essential to comfort and poise. When your feet hurt, are tired, sore or perspire, even the simplest tasks seem over-burdening. But now it is easy to have foot comfort; to enjoy walking and dancing and feel as fresh at night as you did in the morning. Just shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes. This Antiseptic, Healing Powder, takes the friction from the shoes and instantly relieves sore, tired, aching and perspiring feet. Make this a daily habit, it's as necessary as brushing your teeth and just as important. Trial package Free, address Allen's Foot-Ease, Le Roy, N. Y.

SYDNEY GREASON SELECTED FROM 15,000 APPLICANTS

To Antarctic Pole With Byrd

Sydney Greason, steward of the Atlanta Athletic club, has been chosen out of a field of 15,000 applicants to accompany Commander Richard E. Byrd's expedition to the Anarctic pole next September, he was notified Thursday by the explorer. Greason is to report to Commander Byrd on June 5 in New York, and the expedition will set out on September 10 for the base which will be established 500 miles from the south pole.

The diet of the polar explorers will be in Greason's capable hands, and he will begin the purchase of supplies for a period of two years or so immediately upon his arrival in New York, the steward said. He is fully equipped with the experience necessary for the selection of the supplies, his entire career having been connected with foodstuffs.

Greason Thursday said that he considers himself fortunate to be chosen by Commander Byrd for the trip, in spite of the prospect of facing the bleak months of the south polar region, and of the certainty of running into bitter cold weather. He wanted to accompany the Byrd expedition to the north pole, but was not in a position to do so. Six months ago he decided he would like the south pole trip, and began a correspondence with Commander Byrd, which resulted in his selection.

past 18 months, Greason came to Atlanta from Florida, where he had been engaged in the restaurant business. He was assistant manager of one of the largest New York meat markets for 15 years. He is a native of Newport, R. I., and married Miss Mary Williamson, of Dalton, Ga.

He has formed so warm an attachment for Atlanta during his residence here that he will go on the expedition as a representative of the Athletic club, Greason said.

INTRA-GEORGIA AIRWAY SYSTEM PLAN ANNOUNCED

An intra-Georgia airway connecting the larger cities of the state is to be established by the Dixie and Northern Air Line, according to announcement from the offices of William C. Wakefield, president of the Dixie and Northern.

Passengers and express will be carried over the interstate plane system, according to plans. Types of planes to be used have not been announced but each will accommodate several passengers and several hundred pounds of express. Operation of ships over the new line probably will begin in a few weeks, according to plans.

The intra-state air line will form junction stations with the Detroit, Atlanta, Miami airways to be opened by the Dixie and Northern next month, at several Georgia cities.

Georgia cities on the plane system will be Savannah, Albany, Columbus, Moultrie, Cordele, Thomasville, Valdosta, Waycross, Fitzgerald, Macon, Dublin, Brunswick and possibly Quitman, Dawson, Bainbridge and one or two others.

Junction stations on the two air ways will be Atlanta, Macon, Dublin, Waycross and Fitzgerald.

MISS LOUISE TROTTI FIRST TO REGISTER FOR GIRLS' CAMP

Miss Louise Trotti, daughter of Mr. and Mr. Hugh Trotti, of Decatur, was first to register for the Camp Fire Girls' camp, which opens at Toccoa Falls June 18 to last for six weeks. Registration opened Monday morning and promptly at 8 o'clock Miss Trotti was at the headquarters of the Camp Fire Girls to make her reservation.

Miss Trotti said that she earned the money by setting the table and doing other household duties during the winter months, and saved enough to pay for the six-week vacation, which will cost $7.50 a week. Several other girls registered for one or two weeks, and unless Atlantans come forward with more donations it is feared that many of the girls will be disappointed by having to be left out.

Wade Davis, who is heading the drive for funds to build the camp, asks that every Atlantan who is interested in the education and welfare of girls get in touch with him or with Miss Mary Louise Hollands at Camp Fire headquarters.

3 ATLANTANS HURT WHEN AUTO STRIKES POLE, TURNS OVER

Three Atlantans were injured Thursday afternoon when the automobile in which they were returning from a funeral at Hollywood cemetery overturned near Simsville stop on the River car line, according to reports at Grady hospital. The injured were Eddie Langley, of a Plum street address, driver of the car; T. A. Flourney, 50, of Marietta street, and Harry Bowen, of McAlfee street, it was reported.

One of the front wheel casings blew out on a curve and the machine ran into a telephone pole and overturned, it was said. Ed Bond and Condon's ambulance brought the men to the hospital. The party was returning from the funeral of Jack Newell, who was killed Tuesday when he fell down a flight of stairs at his home on Marietta street.

Great Smoky Park Representatives Plan Meeting at Capitol

Raleigh, N. C., May 17.—(AP)—Representatives of North Carolina and Tennessee probably will meet at Washington on next Monday to further plans for the Great Smoky Mountain National park, Governor McLean announced today.

The two state park commissioners and representatives of each council of state will meet on Monday, if the day is suitable to Tennessee representatives, the governor said, or later in the week.

A. M. E. BISHOPRIC POLL ENDS IN DEADLOCK

Chicago, May 17.—(Special.)—Election of four bishops and 15 general officers was the order of the day at the A. M. E. general conference today.

Bishop W. Sampson Brooks, D. D., of Western Africa, presided. Upon the adoption of the previous day's journal, Bishop A. J. Carey, D. D., tendered the gavel to the presiding officer of the day and he was escorted to the chair by the African delegation, namely J. Mitanis, T. H. Gow, A. A. Mareka, S. P. T. Joane, B. S. Nyombolo, T. B. Coro and H. M. Steady.

After a half-day of balloting, it resulted in no election, down to now.

WOODLAND MILL ELECTS OFFICERS

Woodland, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—A charter having been issued for the Woodland knitting mill, the stockholders met here today and elected the following officers: C. W. Matthews, president; M. H. King, secretary and treasurer; W. P. Robinson, vice president and general manager, and J. H. Woodall, chairman of the board.

The Woodland knitting mill will make men's silk and artificial silk hose exclusively and has already bought the very latest machines for this purpose. Part of the machines have already been shipped and it is expected that the mill will be in operation within six weeks. Details of the building to be erected have not been given out yet, but the mill will begin operation in a temporary building until the permanent quarters have been completed.

FORMER QUITMAN BAKER ON TRIAL ON ARSON CHARGE

Quitman, Ga., May 17.—(Special.) F. M. Dean, former owner of Dean's Pastry Shop, which was destroyed by fire of unknown origin December 1, which also destroyed adjoining property in the business center of Quitman, was placed on trial today before Judge W. E. Thomas, of the criminal superior court, under an indictment charging arson.

Dean was arrested in Danville, Va., upon a telegram from Sheriff Clanton, of Brooks county, as soon as the grand jury indictment was returned, and was brought back to Quitman by the sheriff. Evidence secured through the investigation of the state fire marshal's office and local police officers was introduced this afternoon. The case will continue tomorrow.

Court adjourned at 3 o'clock until tomorrow morning to permit officers, jurors and witnesses to attend baseball game here between Quitman and Valdosta.

TRACK LOWERING WORK COMPLETED AT COST OF $317,000

Work of lowering the tracks at the Union station has been completed by the Brooks-Callaway company, and the city has made the final payment due on this project.

The total cost of the track lowering was $317,101.25, it was announced Thursday by City Comptroller G. Graham West. The work was necessary before actual construction of the Central avenue and Pryor street viaducts could be started.

The bid for the construction of the two viaducts went to the MacDougald Construction company at a cost to the city of $703,000.

ROTARY HEAD

Abit Nix, of Athens, nominated governor of the Georgia District of Rotary Clubs, a nomination which is equivalent to election, is one of the state's leading citizens. He is a former president of the Georgia Sunday School association, is a trustee of Mercer university, Georgia State Teachers' college, and Lucy Cobb institute. Mr. Nix is chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist church of Athens. He is an alumnus of the University of Georgia and Harvard university. He is a former president of the Athens Rotary club and is at present president of the Athens Chamber of Commerce.

FLORIDA BRANCH OF ROUTE THREE TO BE OPEN SOON

Thomasville, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—The Florida portion of the highway from Thomasville, through Monticello, Fla., to Perry and on to Tampa via the west coast, probably will be completed and opened to traffic before July 1, according to indications. This is a part of the well-known route No. 3, from Atlanta and Macon, via Albany and Thomasville, to Tampa, which reduces the mileage from Atlanta to Tampa 90 miles, as compared with any other existing route between those two cities. At Capps, Fla., 30 miles south of Thomasville, Route No. 3 makes a juncture with Florida State Highway No. 19, which runs from Pensacola through Tallahassee, to Tampa.

GEORGIA ELKS TO HOLD MEETING HERE SUNDAY

An important meeting of the executive committee of the Georgia Elks association will be held Sunday morning at the Elks Home on Peachtree street. The executive committee is composed of the present officers of the association, past president and exalted ruler and the secretaries of all the state lodges and due to the fact that there will be no state convention held this year much of the business ordinarily transacted at that gathering will have to be considered at the committee meeting, according to announcement made Thursday by R. C. Broyles, secretary of the Atlanta lodge No. 78.

The business session is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock in the morning. The committee and guests will gather at 1:30 o'clock for a dinner served by the Atlanta lodge in the home at which Dr. Herbert B. Kennedy, exalted ruler of the local lodge, will preside and short addresses will be given by several of the prominent men visiting the Atlanta Elks. The afternoon business meeting will be at 3:30 o'clock.

NEW YORK MAN AWARDED $12,000 IN LAND LITIGATION

A verdict for $12,000 in favor of L. E. O'Keefe, of New York, was found Thursday by a jury in United States district court in a land condemnation proceeding brought by the Toccoa Electric Power company against several tracts of land owned by O'Keefe. The suits were brought up to districts court from Fannin county superior court.

In one case, involving 90.28 acres, O'Keefe was awarded $9,000, and in the other, involving two tracts of 63.22 acres and .01 acres, respectively, he was awarded $3,000. The land was condemned by the power company for the erection of a water power dam in Fannin county.

Oglethorpe Students Plan

:: WIENER ROAST TO FOLLOW SEARCH FOR PRIZES ::

Treasure Hunt Friday Night

BY ELMO HAMBY.

Treasure—ho!

With even a large lake nearby vigilant seekers may sail a fair-sized imitation of the bounding main if they desire, in quest of the valuable treasure-trove, Oglethorpe university students Friday night will participate in a treasure hunt to be held in honor of the senior class as part of the little commencement program at the university.

In pursuance, no doubt, of the time-honored theory that two heads are better than one, or at any rate that two can have a deuce of a better time than in solo-search, President Thornwell Jacobs announces that the hunt will be pursued by teams composed of a boy and a girl each.

Handsome prizes will be given to the winning couple, or rather to the team that finds the treasure, since it is pointed out that all participants are sure winners in the search for fun, which, it is conceded, will be the uppermost object of search.

Assembling at 7 o'clock Friday night in the chapel of the school, the bold hunters will be given the first of the series of clues in rhyme, and thence they will dispatch to the four corners of the sizely campus which covers practically that entire neck of Decatur county and includes the famous Silver lake.

The clues will be in rhyme, as stated, and will no doubt be something like this:

"Clue number two is not at all.
In the vicinity of Lupton hall,
But south by north of a horse's neck
And two feet under a buggy wreck."

DRIVER IS UNINJURED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Chester Glass, 18, escaped serious injury in a freak accident Thursday morning when the steering wheel of the truck he was driving, on Gibson street at Faith crossing, suddenly came apart, the machine crashing into a telephone pole. Although the truck was seriously damaged Glass was only slightly scratched on the hand.

POSTAL AIR MAIL RECORD IS BROKEN ON TWO PARCELS

Probable records for amount of postage on a single package reaching Atlanta were smashed Thursday when the air mail delivered two parcels from the Niagara Lithograph company, of New York.

One package carried more than $43 in stamps and the other a little more than $41. They were addressed to Louis G. Audette, vice president of the New York concern, care the Atlanta Coca-Cola company. They left New York at 6 o'clock Wednesday night and were delivered to Mr. Audette in person at 7:15 o'clock Thursday morning, after reaching the Atlanta post office at 6:45 o'clock.

L. S. BELLINGER HEADS ATLANTA D. A. V. POST

The Betty Harrison Jones chapter, D. A. V., elected L. S. Bellinger, prominent young attorney, as commander at the regular meeting this week at the Ansley hotel.

Other officers elected were M. J. Wager and Jesse Hall, who will serve as junior and senior vice commanders, respectively; Charles E. Lumpkins, treasurer; Cecil V. Whiddon, chaplain. M. V. Emery was elected sergeant at arms and Tracy Joiner, officer of the day.

Plans for the national convention in Denver June 24, were discussed by William J. Folsom, chairman of the ways and means committee, who is in charge of financing the trip. A report of the recent drive for members showed that nearly 100 new members were added during the past month.

James K. Finch was given a rising vote of thanks for his untiring interest in behalf of the disabled veterans during the past year and for his work at the convention recently held at Athens.

HERBERT MEGAR, 5, PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

As his father attempted to warn him back to the curb, Herbert Megar, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Megar, of 1302 Gordon street, was struck down and painfully injured in front of his home late Thursday afternoon by a car driven by J. Wellborn, of 1630 Rogers avenue. The child was taken to Grady hospital, where doctors set a badly fractured right leg and treated slight lacerations on the right arm.

Mr. Megar stated at the hospital that he was standing in the window of his home and saw his son, who had been to a nearby store, standing across the street. The boy, he said, made several starts across the road, only to be driven back by the heavy traffic. Deciding that his son might need his aid, Mr. Megar left the house to help his son, as he came out of the door he saw the boy leave the curb again and shouted at him to go back. The child, however, did not seem to hear him and ran on until hit by the machine. The father stated that the driver could not possibly have avoided striking the boy.

WHAT IS A ONE-CENT SALE?

IT is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes, and save 49 cents. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at regular price. No limit—buy all you want, but on Thursday, Friday and Saturday only!

A PROFIT-SHARING METHOD OF ADVERTISING

THIS sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for one cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profits is justified, as we know the goods will please you.

CHALLENGES CANNON REBUKE.

Speaking before the American cotton manufacturers at Richmond Thursday, W. D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing company, vigorously defended southern textile operators against the ill-advised and unjust rebuke contained in an "appeal" issued by Bishop James Cannon, and several other southern clergymen, a few months ago.

He struck straight at the crux of the whole unfortunate controversy when he declared that what gives him most and gravest concern "is the fear that those who have sinister designs on the conditions that exist down here," those "who would like to throttle our development, those who have no love for us and no interest in us, except to despoil us, those birds of prey who are leaving a picked carcass and are hunting a fresh kill, will get behind the splendid breastworks which our friends are building for them, and with their highly reputable protection to safeguard them, will spray us with their poisoned bullets and gasses."

Direct to the point, Mr. Anderson said:

"Neither the host of heroes who have had a part in the development of the industry, nor the men who manage the mills in the south today deserve to be attacked, harassed and embarrassed in their efforts to solve the difficult problems facing them, by any set of men, from either north or south; surely not by any group of men who claim the south as home, least of all by Bishop Cannon and his associates, who, living here amongst us, should know what has been done, what we are now doing, and, if really interested, could have found out what we hope to do."

The storm of protests against the unwarranted attack of Bishop Cannon became so severe that some of the original signers of the "appeal" withdrew their signatures and frankly admitted they did not know the significance or the serious import of the document.

It has not been charged that Bishop Cannon or any of his signatory associations had ulterior motives in circulating the "appeal," reflecting upon hours of work, the wage scale, child labor, mill villages, etc., all of which contentions were generally incorrect, and a slander in some respects, but they were, even if unwittingly, made the instruments to arrest if possible the movement of textile mills from the east to the south.

And the ghost of this misrepresentation can not be chased off the southern ramparts until Bishop Cannon, and associates, with frankness, turn their efforts to undoing, as far as possible, the injury they have accomplished.

DR. TRUETT'S REELECTION.

The reelection of Dr. George W. Truett to the presidency of the Southern Baptist association, by the convention now in session at Chattanooga, will be pleasing to the church people generally of the southeast whether members of that denomination or not.

Dr. Truett, who is the nationally known pastor of the First church at Dallas, is a native of the Hiawassee valley, having been born just across the Georgia line from Towns county, in North Carolina. He was educated, prior to his seminary course, at the famous old Hiawassee school. He taught there for a considerable time. He is one of the ablest pulpit orators in America, and has been in demand as a lecturer on religious topics in all parts of the world. He has been tendered the pastorate of some of the largest Baptist churches in the country but has steadfastly refused to leave Dallas, where he built one of the largest congregations, and one of the largest and finest edifices to house it in America. He has preached on numbers of occasions in Atlanta, and is personally well known by all of the denomination leaders in Georgia and the Carolinas.

Among the vice presidents chosen to serve with Dr. Truett two are from Georgia, Rev. Dr. F. E. McConnell, of Atlanta, who is also a product of the mountains, and W. A. Hogan, of Lincolnton. Dr. McConnell is pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, which congregation is now completing one of the handsomest churches in the south. Mr. Hogan is an outstanding layman.

MILL MEN CAN FORCE IT.

In his annual president's address before the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, in convention at Richmond, George S. Harris, of Atlanta, president of the Exposition Cotton mills, made a ringing and logical appeal Thursday for the establishment of a southern cotton delivery contract. He declared his unalterable opposition to any system by which the price of the spot staple must be based upon New York contracts, with New York the exclusive delivery point.

These are views expressed by cotton mill operators generally in the south, and have been expressed by The Constitution on numbers of occasions in vigorously protesting against the fictitious New York delivery system which imposes an unfair and unjustifiable burden upon producers, and a correspondent burden upon the southern mills.

Mr. Harris called attention to a very obvious remedy—that is the adoption of a policy by the mills to stay even with cotton, making prices of fabrics or other manufactured cotton goods on "cost plus," based on southern delivery to those who want to buy on that basis.

This would result in a stabilizing of the goods market and also the cotton market.

Georgia's archaic cotton trading act, which is infinitely more harmful to growers than beneficial, must be revised before there can be southern warehouse deliveries in this state, but the leading business interests of Georgia are practically unanimous in urging such a revision. If made to comport with the federal act then the mill owners can settle the whole matter without any further federal authority, and the New York cotton exchange would easily see the justice of relieving the existing fiction of deliveries that are paid for—on a basis of freight charges that are not met—by the producers, and in permitting the price of cotton to be made 1,000 miles from the nearest production fields.

Cotton is grown in the south. Most of it is manufactured into goods in the south. It should be traded on in the south.

If the operators will, they can force southern delivery contracts.

The suggestion of Mr. Harris is wise and timely.

PRESBYTERIANS WELCOME.

Citizens of Atlanta extend a cordial welcome to the Presbyterian hosts from 17 southern states who are here in attendance upon the 68th general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States.

There will be several hundred delegates, and among the important issues to be acted upon, will be that of the unification of all the branches of the church, a problem that has long been pending. This issue will come up as one of program items of the newly-created centralized work committee.

Atlanta is a church and religious denominational center. Among the denominations the Presbyterians are strong. Hundreds of leading citizens are members of that faith. It is always a pleasure for the citizens to extend cordial greetings to any group of religionists that may meet here in convention.

The republicans are trying to make us believe that those are imaginary lines one sees at a soup kitchen.

The Houston platform will be largely inspired by oil wells—those bone-dry and those that have been investigated.

We have been advised to not rock the political boat with talk of a third party—"sit steady" is the command. Vol-steady?

Those multi-colored and striped B. V. D.'s for men will make a colorful background for diaphaneous palm beach trousers.

Reformers are demanding a platform that Al Smith cannot stand on. What is needed is a platform the voters can stand on.

One reason silk hosiery is so popular is because you get a run for your money.

The oil investigation is now off on a new tack. We hope this gets under some one's skin.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The Rothschilds And Waterloo.

That the romance of the Rothschilds is as exciting as that of Disraeli is shown by a book published in England. The scene is set amid historic figures like Napoleon, Wellington and Metternich. Though the story of how the Rothschilds first obtained the news of the battle of Waterloo has often been told in one version or another, it is very interesting to read the obviously truthful and realistic description given by the author, Count Corti. Nathan, the British head of the Rothschild business, anticipating a decisive battle with Napoleon, had instructed his agents everywhere to give him the earliest possible tidings. He had also promised prizes to boats sailing between England and the continent for the most speedy supply of information. One of his agents, whose name was Rothworth, waited at Osten for news regarding the result of the campaign. He succeeded in obtaining the first newspaper account of the successful issue of the battle and with a copy of the Dutch Gazette fresh from the printers he caught a boat which was just sailing for London. He entered the British capital very early in the morning of June 20 and immediately reported to Nathan, who conveyed the news of victory to Herries; and through him to the British government. The government was at first skeptical, as they had not received any direct information and Wellington's envoy, Major Henry Percy, did not arrive with the field marshal's report until June 21.

Position Wanted.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the British prime minister, in the course of a speech before the Institute of Journalists in London complained pathetically that he had never once been offered a chance to write for the press. Before he left the luncheon table, however, he had received a pencilled offer, from an editor who was present, to contribute articles to a well-known English magazine. "Even the oldest of old maids," the prime minister said, "likes in old age to remember at least an offer of marriage." "And yet sometimes," he went on, looking at Lord Birkenhead. "I cannot help feeling that if I tried I might produce something which, if not worth a penny a line, might at least be worth a penny a mile. When I retire or take some other form of work, I should like to feel there was one kind heart who, out of pity or whatever the motive might be, had once made me an offer to see my name with my own stuff over it, and I lay stress on that!" "I should like to see the words: 'Next week, another powerful article by Mr. Stapley Baldwin.' Lord Birkenhead in his speech, found opportunity to return the prime minister's gentle digs, saying that he and Lord Burnham, who have worked as journalists all their lives, would resist "with all the means at our disposal the intrusion of sexagenarian amateurs!"

The Abbe Bethlehem.

The Abbe Bethlehem is in the news again in Paris. He has several times and before two different courts, been condemned to pay fines of 11 francs for each of his offenses. Now the Cour de Cassation, the supreme court of France, has broken those judgments. The good ecclesiastic's crime (it has always been the same) has been the destruction of property, but it has been of a peculiar sort. He is of a race that many Americans think non-existent in France; he is a Puritan, and a militant one at that, a sort of Gallic Carrie Nation. He has noticed that there are many thousands stands in Paris that have among their stocks, on public display, many a journal, usually with brightly illustrated covers, of the sort which the late Anthony Comstock used to call "salacious." The abbe with a truly Puritan zeal for doing good to other people, set out on the warpath to save the children of Paris from reading this corrupting literature. His method was simple. He would go to a news-stand, buy up some of the prints which he considered most offensive, and then tear them up on the spot, with much fracas publicity. Highly conservative people, with the itch for control, have approved the abbe's actions, and the ordinary Parisian has just smiled with the indulgence which he has for any exhibition of too much zeal. But the sur-realists, who have not been accused of a sense of humor, decided that the abbe needed a lesson about too much virtue, and two of them in retaliation went over to the Place Saint-Sulpice and did a little smashing of the objects of piety which are the principal business of that part of town.

Veteran Missionary Calls Field Action An Epochal Event

Editor Constitution: The news report of the Methodist conference at Kansas City, in regard to the change in method of electing the bishops, requires an explanation to be fully understood.

That action has reference to the bishops to be elected in mission fields only. Nor is this action a revolution in the usual acceptation of the word, for it is not a measure suddenly taken and unexpected to the leaders of the church, but is rather a climax to a process which has been going on a good many years. That is to say, for a number of years the authorities of the Methodist Episcopal church have been holding from time to time in the Orient tentative or provisional regional conferences including Japan, China and India. The purpose of these conferences was to find some fair and practical plan according to which the native church could have some form of atonomy and independence and express itself in the election of its own bishops and other church leaders.

Judging from The Constitution's report this morning, the action of the general conference as reported from Kansas City is a happy solution of a very difficult and exceedingly important problem, namely, how to set the native church in foreign mission fields upon its own feet with power from within of self-determination and self-activity, and yet not sever all the bonds and relationships with the mother church in America.

This action, epochal in missionary annals as it is, has not been taken without consultation with the leaders of the native church in the Orient. Not speaking of the details, taken by and large, this action is clearly pioneer in character and is the most far-reaching that has ever been taken by any Protestant church toward mission church in foreign lands. The nearest parallel to it is the recent forward movement in the British empire—a movement that gives to the colonies overseas the status of commonwealths largely autonomous and yet continuing to exist as integral members of the vast British empire. By the action of the general conference at Kansas City, the churches hitherto called foreign mission churches are to become practically autonomous and independent and yet will continue to hold some bond of membership in the great Methodist Episcopal church.

All friends of foreign missions rejoicing in this evidence of progress of the kingdom of Christ among the nations will doubtless congratulate the leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church for this very wise, progressive and far-reaching course of action. It marks a new era, a decided step of progress in the relations between the mother church in America and her many daughters in numerous foreign countries. It indicates a triumphant achievement in Christian statesmanship.

A Partner Shouldn't Start a Fight To Get His Share of the Blood in a Turnip

By Robert Quillen

Capital and labor profit most when they live in peace, and they live in peace when they work as partners.

Their association in an enterprise makes them partners in fact, and tends to make them partners in spirit.

The spirit of partnership—of cooperation—cannot exist without mutual confidence, and there can be no mutual confidence without mutual fairness.

When either capital or labor fails in fairness, the partnership is dissolved and the two become enemies—each determined to get all he can at whatever cost to the other.

The spirit of enmity leads inevitably to disaster and both capital and labor suffer. A house divided against itself cannot stand.

Most of the quarrels between capital and labor have to do with the division of profits. And quarrels continue to develop because there is no accepted rule by which the division must be made.

As Adam Smith taught the world, the price of labor is fixed by the law of supply and demand. When labor is plentiful, and men bid against one another for jobs, the price falls. When labor is scarce, and employers bid against one another for workmen, the price rises.

But in an industrial community, peopled by trained workmen not easily replaced—never scarce, yet not over-abundant—the price of labor is affected chiefly by the profit made on the commodity produced.

Whether this profit be large or small, the division of it usually is fair. The employer's sense of fairness, the workman's insistence on his rights, and the pressure of public opinion all tend to make it fair.

Fairness, however, does not and cannot establish a fixed proportion in which the profit must be divided.

For the workman must have a living wage, whether the employer's profit is much or little. And since the employer alone must gamble, and be content with little when prices are low, it is fair that he should have much when prices are high. If one partner takes a fixed salary, and the other takes whatever profit may remain, that profit he must have—large or small.

But though the employer must be content with little when times are bad, or even run at a loss during a period of depression, he cannot continue to operate at a loss when changed conditions wipe out all hope of future profits.

Either production costs must be lowered or the business must end.

The fairest of men can't divide profits fairly if there are no profits to divide.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

ANOTHER HIT IN THE DARK.

A correspondent contributes an interesting psychological problem:

"I have been waiting for your articles on diseases of the mind, and after reading the one about common ailments of the mind, I am completely convinced of what I have feared for some time. I am a victim of what you termed paranoia. I am now 27 years old. . ."

In the article that settled the question for this correspondent, this sentence comprised everything said about paranoia:

"Paranoia or monomania, characterized by systemetized delusions, often of self importance or persecution, is another type of mental disease in which recovery is rare."

General readers who take only occasional plunges into this column, and readers who give it the up and down regularly, must admit, I think, that we are pretty careful about letting morbid stuff creep in here. For that matter, I have considerable documentary evidence indicating that a lot of people have been reading this stuff of mine quite regularly for years and they've never found any disease here which they can adopt as their own. I boast of this, because I am proud of the record.

The correspondent who discovers, by my help, that she has paranoia or monomania, goes on to recite some symptoms and a chapter or two of history, which is no concern of ours. She says enough, however, to assure me, I should say to reassure me, that, after all, I have not "hit her case."

There is a curious thing about insanity. As a general rule the individual who is insane or who is going insane is the last to recognize the fact, and very often the insane individual never does recognize his own insanity. On the contrary he cherishes an obstinate delusion that he is all right and the rest of the world is quite crazy.

This is especially true, I think, of paranoia. Try to convince a real paranoiac that he is crazy and you will find you have a tough job on your hands.

Another thing I should like to emphasize in regard to the popular misunderstanding of this question. Worry, sorrow, misfortune and unhappiness are not factors of insanity. We should not be misled by the somewhat shabby alibi that this and that poor fellow lost his reason as a consequence of domestic unhappiness, business reverses, or being let down by a woman who at last came to her senses. The real causes of insanity I told in the series of articles the correspondent refers to. Briefly they are war (by taking away and killing or maiming or inflicting with disease the finest and best of the nation's manhood,) alcoholism, drug habits, syphilis and sometimes other infectious diseases, poisoning by lead, arsenic, and some of the industrial chemical poisons, and finally degeneracy (bad inheritance.)

No matter how great your burden of grief or misfortune may be, you can't worry yourself insane over it. If you do think you are going insane, that's a very good sign you are not.

CAMPAIGN PROBERS TO SIT ALL SUMMER

next week will be held in the hall of the house of representatives.

The decision was reported here late today after Gilliam Grissom, United States collector of internal revenue for North Carolina, received a telegram from Senator Steiwer, of the committee, asking him to secure quarters for the hearing.

Smith leaders here greeted without concern the announcement that the senate committee would investigate expenditures in North Carolina in behalf of the New York governor.

It was indicated that whatever money had been expended for Smith in North Carolina, had been spent through James S. Griffin and W. B. Jones, Raleigh democrats. It would not amount to much over $1,000, they said. The chief item of expense had been hiring the city auditorium for the speech of George Gordon Battle, New York lawyer, in behalf of Governor Smith.

Republican leaders took cognizance of the recent report that $10,000 had been spent in furthering Hoover's candidacy in the south with the remark that "little had been spent in North Carolina." Only surface indications of Hoover money spent in the state has been the wide distribution of pamphlet entitled "Herbert Hoover's Record As a Friend of the American Farmer."

MARINES AND REBELS RESUME SKIRMISHES

the general command of Major Keller E. Rockey, of Indiana. These marines will assist the wounded and take up the chase through the difficult region. The wounded will be started at once for Quilali since the detachment has plenty of mules, but the roughness of the country will require three or four days to bring them out.

It was stated at brigade headquarters that the lack of definition to now as the engagement of Captain Hunter's detachment is fully explained by the fact that the armed and organized outlaws had been chased by the marines into regions virtually unexplored. The terrain is so difficult that even pack mules cannot be used, for the most part, by the natives, who resort to human porters and oxen.

The country is so thickly forested and so rugged that marine planes frequently search for several days before being able to sight friendly detachment even when they know it is in a general vicinity.

Marine officers here believe that the band of 60 or 75 men led by Jose Leon Diaz may have suffered more casualties than were shown in the airplane reports.

Diaz Is Cattle Rustler.

Diaz, who is said to be a Honduran, is well educated and has had previous military revolutionary experience. He is considered superior in mentality and training to most of the rebel generals. He has audacity, as was shown last October while the revolution was in full swing, when he attacked a government garrison of 30 men with only 15 followers.

Diaz has a reputation of being a cattle rustler and contraband runner. He was recently reported as having 2,500 well-armed men under his command in western Nueva Segovia. Under constant pressure by the marines this band was broken up, but its members, by twos and threes, worked their way toward Jinotega where they formed again, although in diminished numbers.

Diaz is reported as having been very cruel toward peaceful citizens of the country. Last October he almost annihilated an opposing band. In that battle General Giron, who was reported to have been in charge of the raiders who recently blew up the American La Luz and Bonanza mines, was second in command. Diaz is believed to have left Nueva Segovia and joined forces with Sandino in February.

SANDINO THREATENS TO KILL ALL AMERICANS.

(Copyright, by United News.)

Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, May 17. (United News.)—Rebels commanded by Augstino Sandino, Nicaraguan rebel, made a third raid on the American-owned La Luz mine in the Pis Pis district and burned all buildings except two, Harry P. Amphlett, a Britisher, superintendent of the mine, said upon his arrival here today en route to New York to consult with officials of the La Luz company.

Amphlett said he found a letter addressed to him at the mine threatening to kill all Americans who fell into the hands of the Sandinistas. The letter was signed by Sandino and bore a seal picturing Nicaragua under the heels of a United States marine with a drawn sword.

The letter said Sandino had become convinced that North Americans were in sympathy with the government's policy in Nicaragua, and if any of them fell into his hands "they will have reached their end."

Text of Letter.

A translation of the letter Sandino sent to Amphlett follows:

"La Luz and Los Angeles Mine.

"Dear Sir:

"I have the honor to inform you that on this date your mine has been reduced to ashes, in accordance with the disposition of this command, and to make more tangible our protest against the war-like invasion that your government has made in our territory, without more right than brute force.

"In case the government of the United States does not order the retirement of the pirates from our territory there will be no guarantee in the country for North Americans residing in Nicaragua.

"At the beginning I believed that the people of North America were not in agreement with the abuse committed in Nicaragua by the government of Calvin Coolidge but I have been convinced that the North Americans in general applaud the intrusion of Coolidge in my country and it is for this reason that all North Americans who fall into our hands will have reached their end.

"For the losses that you have had in the said mine you may collect from the government of the United States and Calvin Coolidge, who is the one responsible for the horrible and disastrous situation which actually exists in Nicaragua today.

Ask Marine Withdrawal.

"If you are an honorable man you will be able to understand that the above-mentioned is an accomplished fact. The pretext that Coolidge brings forward for his intervention in Nicaragua is that of protecting the lives and interests of North Americans and other foreigners in the country, which is a tremendous hypocrisy.

"We, the Nicaraguans, are respectful men, and never has there occurred in our history such happenings as actually are occurring, and this is the crop of fruit that has been raised by the politics of your countrymen in our country.

"The most honorable resolution that your government could adopt in this conflict with Nicaragua would be to retire your forces from our territory, thus permitting that we Nicaraguans elect our national government. This will be the only method of pacification in our country.

"It depends on your government to conserve the good or bad friendship with out national government and you, the capitalists, will be respected and appreciated by us always if you treat us as equals and not in the equivocal manner that you are at present doing, ruining our souls and bodies and interests.

"I am your obedient servant for country and liberty.

(Signed) "A. SANDINO."

On this letter, Sandino's seal, picturing Nicaragua under the heel of a United States marine with drawn sword, was stamped.

Amphlett, who was captured by Sandino and released because he was a British citizen, had returned recently to the mine from Puerto Cabezas, where he had come to report after Sandino's first raid, when the property was looted but not destroyed.

HARDMAN URGES CAPITOL ANNEX

see the state build for itself an edifice which, added to a beautified and improved capitol building, will attract attention of visitors from all parts of the nation and give Atlanta a governmental center of which we can all be proud.

"This program I shall seek to have materialize, and I ask the cooperation of the enterprising and civic-spirited young business men who compose the junior chamber in carrying forward this worthy undertaking."

The governor also stated that he and Mayor Ragsdale had conferred on plans to have the exterior of the capitol cleaned and have certain improvements made to the interior of the building. The legislature would have to appropriate funds for construction of an annex as advocated by the governor. The chief executive's address was received with warm approval by the junior chamber.

In addition to Governor Hardman, honor guests of the luncheon meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building at noon Thursday were Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and Professor Jerome McLeland, of New York and Washington, exponent of "business astrology" in salesmanship and commercial approach. Professor McLeland explained his system and gave a demonstration of the effect of time of birth on man's nature.

Entertainment was provided by dancers from the school of Miss Louise Didschuneidt, including Misses Mattie Wall, Evelyn Seibles, Catherine Featherstone and Mary Elizabeth Smith. Dr. Sidney L. Davis was chairman of the program.

CONE SUSPENSION UPHELD BY BOARD

Cone was allowed to serve out his term.

When the time approached for the naming of the faculty for 1929, however, it had been deemed advisable to drop Professor Cone, it was brought out at the meeting.

Announcement of the failure to retain the popular principal precipitated the trouble. At first groups of the pupils brought petitions signed by themselves, requesting the board of education to continue Cone as head of the high school. This later was supplemented by petitions signed by parents of pupils of the school, but no favorable action was taken by the body.

It was announced at Thursday night's meeting that Superintendent Keith would act as principal of the high school until the end of the present term. Disciplinary action will be meted out to other leaders in the "strike," it was indicated, at the discretion of the superintendent.

POPE'S COLORS ADORN CAPITOL, SAYS HEFLIN

ident's desk. If that isn't unmitigated gall I never heard of it.

"Some smooth-fingered booster of Alfred has thought to take time by the forelock and put the cardinal's colors in there.

"I'm not through," he added as he pulled out a dollar bill and held it up before the senate.

"Look at this. There is the Roman cross on this bill," he said pointing to an X-shaped design on the back on the bill. "And there's a rosary under the cross. If they do that now what would they do with 50 senators in there? They'd fix the rules so I couldn't speak.

"A priest sat in the gallery right here and hissed me. If they do that now what would they do if they got into power? They'd have Catholics sitting in the gallery hissing any senator that spoke against the Roman Catholic political machine."

Eventually Heflin sat down and wrapped a handkerchief around his perspiring neck. No senator undertook to answer him. It was very warm and senators get sleepy when they are digesting their noon-day bread and milk. A handful turned gloomily to consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill carrying $38,000,000. The others drifted wearily into the cloakrooms where there are comfortable couches.

ACCOUNTANTS END FIRST DAY'S MEET

organizing the convention and hearing the address of welcome by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and the response by W. S. Hanna, president of the association.

During the course of the day's session several interesting and highly instructive papers were offered by leading officials from many parts of the country.

Committees Appointed.

Appointment of committees looking toward selection of officers for the new year and the time and place of the next convention featured the close of the day's business activity Thursday afternoon.

Committees named by Mr. Hanna follow:

Nominations—C. E. Cook, Springfield, Mass., chairman; W. R. Darby, Trenton; T. D. Caswell, Augusta; Joseph S. Pike, Sommerville, Mass., and C. H. Chatters, Flint.

Time and place—B. Graham West, city comptroller of Atlanta, chairman; C. E. Higgins, Rochester, N. Y.; Frank G. Coughtry, Orange, N. J.; A. R. Burnell, Brantford, Canada, and P. H. Tucker, Roanoke.

Resolutions—J. C. Wilson, Rochester, N. Y., chairman; William Welcker, Wilwood, N. J.; T. N. Waddell, Boston; H. B. Gates, Kansas City, and C. J. Tulley, Ottawa, Canada.

Audit—A. E. Hoyt, Boston, chairman; H. H. Evens, Binghamton, N. Y.; R. G. Higgins, Orlando; W. H. Went, Milwaukee, and J. N. Bell, Norfolk.

Headquarters for the convention have been established at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel and all sessions are being held there.

Features of the meeting today will be the following addresses: "The Operation of the Bureau of Municipal Accounts in the New York State Comptroller's Office," by A. L. Doris, deputy state comptroller of New York; "The Census Advisory Committee," by Walter R. Darby, commissioner of municipal accounts of New Jersey, and "Municipal Airport," by Alderman William B. Hartsfield, of the third ward, Atlanta, and chairman of the aviation committee of city council.

A highlight of the day's activity will be an open forum during the afternoon under the direction of T. D. Caswell, comptroller of the city of Augusta, chairman; C. E. Armstrong, comptroller, Birmingham, and George D. Begole, auditor, Denver.

The climax of the social and entertainment program will be reached at a banquet and dance which will begin at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore.

RIVAL PRESIDENTS IN CLUB SESSION

second vice president. Inasmuch as Mrs. Bryan was named second vice president of the Hornady forces at the Monday session she becomes the first vice president of one group and the second vice president of the other.

Record Still Intact.

As far as could be learned neither side had taken any action to get possession of the treasurer's books and records, which are safely stored in the safe at the clubhouse, having been turned over by the former treasurer, Mrs. Brogdon, who resigned her position Monday, to an auditing company.

Mrs. Stevenson was not present at Thursday's meeting, but when called on the telephone by Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, of Mrs. Hornady's board, she accepted the office.

Mrs. Hornady appointed as parliamentarian for her regime, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, and named Mrs. Lucius McConnell to fill Mrs. Arthur Hazzard's place on the house committee, of which Mrs. Irving Thomas was named chairman.

The finance committee members as elected by Mrs. Hornady's organization were Miss Virginia Hardin, chairman; Mesdames Norman Sharp, W. S. Coleman, George Turner and Harry G. Poole.

Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, as spokesman for the Goodman faction, reported that Mrs. Goodman's executive board had gone into session to carry on the regular business of the club and to start functioning under its new president normally and in order. She emphatically stated that the committee did not desire to involve the club in any court litigation.

Mrs. Richardson, speaking for Mrs. Hornady's organization, said that the executive meeting of Thursday morning was one of entire harmony, with not an instance of unpleasantness or unkindness. She also disclaimed any desire of her following to resort to court action.

Mrs. Ben H. Hill, who served as literature chairman of the club during the past year, stated to The Constitution's representative Thursday that she would not serve in that capacity any longer, though she has not yet tendered formal resignation to that effect.

In the course of the executive session the following resolution was adopted, deploring the presence of policemen at the Monday election:

"Resolved, That we, as southern gentlewomen, deplore the condition which made it possible for anyone to deem it necessary and to be cruel enough to call in officers and order 100 of the representative women of Atlanta ejected from the room of the Atlanta Woman's club Monday. No one deplores this more than the women ordered ejected and we wish to declare that such a course was entirely unnecessary. Our determination is to carry on the club work with its accustomed dignity, refinement and order."

Mrs. Hornady's executive board is composed of the following members: Mesdames John A. Perdue, Bun Wylie, James T. Williams, Frederick S. Rice, W. F. Trenary, M. L. Thrower, E. B. Havis, C. V. Hohenstein, Alonzo Richardson, Julian Bailey, J. B. Billups, Miss Mary Cayce, Mesdames J. E. Miller, Thomas C. Harris, W. L. Little, W. C. Robinson, Norman Sharp, A. P. Phillips, W. R. Bean, C. H. Ashford, A. P. Treadwell, Ira E. Farmer, D. R. Wilder, Alfred Truett, A. C. Whitehead, L. D. T. Quimby, B. S. Barker, H. C. McCutcheon, George S. Obear, Jr., George Turner, Earl F. Scott, Newton C. Wing, Jesse M. Manry, William P. Dunn, Josephus Camp, Homer E. Jessup, B. H. Palmer, Miss Virginia C. Hardin, Mesdames Lucius McConnell, Arthur P. Flowers, W. A. Robertson, Irving S. Thomas, Arthur Hazzard, R. C. Jessup and Harry G. Poole.

tablishment of the pay ward at the earliest possible moment.

"There is no doubt but that there is an immediate need for the pay ward, and everything possible will be done to assure acceptance of the offer which Mr. Elsas has so generously made the city," Mr. Moore said. "The financial status of the city is a matter which must be considered, and due to large appropriations for certain projects at the first of the year, practically all revenue has been anticipated. If, however, there is any legal way to raise the money, the committee will consider it and I feel sure will look with favor on such a proposal. I have not heard of a single objection to the project and feel sure that council will avail itself of the very first opportunity to accept Mr. Elsas' proposal.

"Mayor Ragsdale has expressed himself as favoring acceptance of the plan immediately and I feel confident that some means can be devised to do so this year, and if work can not be actually begun very shortly that every assurance that the money will be set up for payment in January."

Members of the Atlanta police committee have joined in the move to present the urgency of immediate action on members of the finance committee, and will assist Mr. Millican and Councilmen Raleigh Drennon, Howard C. McCutcheon, T. Frank Callaway and W. R. Johnson, other members of the hospitals and charities committee, in presenting the matter officially to the finance body.

last fall following the finding of the decapitated body of Cape on a lonely spot near the Dixie highway about three miles southeast of Adairsville. The discovery of his body was made by a hunter on September 20, and later developments showed that he had been slain about 40 miles from the place where his body was found, and two days previously. Five men were indicted, including a brother of Lindsey Evans, and two of them are serving life sentences.

COOLIDGE NAMES ESCH SUCCESSOR

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The long controversy over the retention of John J. Esch, of Wisconsin as a member of the interstate commerce commission was terminated today when President Coolidge sent to the senate the nomination of Patrick J. Farrell as his successor.

Farrell now is chief law officer of the commission. He became confidential clerk to the late Commissioner Prouty in 1902, rising steadily until in 1918 he was appointed general counsel. Mr. Farrell has ordinarily been classified as a democrat, but has been a Washington resident and in government service for 27 years.

Mr. Esch became a member of the commission in 1923 after having served as chairman of the house interstate commerce committee. When he was renominated last year a determined fight developed against him in the senate and his confirmation was blocked. The opposition was based on dissatisfaction with the commission's decisions affecting rates on lake cargo coal, in which proceedings Commissioner Esch voted against a voluntary reduction of rates tendered by southern railroads to West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky coal producers of lake cargo.

When the senate failed to confirm Commissioner Esch's renomination, it became known that the president would select another to replace him but asked Commissioner Esch to retain the post temporarily under a recess appointment to close up his work on cases pending.

Mr. Farrell is one of the oldest officers in point of service on the staff of the commission. As chief counsel, he has represented the commission in all of its appellate court proceedings during the last ten years and has been particularly involved in the court action resulting from the commission's attempt to place a value on all railroads. His home formerly was in Vermont.

appointed April 25, with a view of composing differences among certain factions interested in the memorial project, was read at the meeting and reported that numerous conferences had been held with representatives of the groups concerned.

It said that agreement had been reached upon "most points" but that the opposing factions had not agreed on others and recommended that further efforts be made for a reconciliation. The report, which expressed hope of a final agreement, was adopted without discussion.

Immediately after the vote President Randolph, who presided, announced that Mr. Haverty had asked to be relieved of the conciliation committee chairmanship, whereupon the retiring chairman was voted the thanks of the directors for his work and the appointment of a new committee was authorized, in view of the election of new officers.

The same four who served with Mr. Haverty then were reappointed as follows: Lindsy Hopkins, William Candler, G. F. Willis and Howell Green, and selection of the fifth member was made the order of future business.

The retiring president who, after Mr. Willis had been nominated, declared that he was "the only man in Atlanta who would be acceptable as president to every faction," expressed the hope that the conciliatory negotiations would continue "until peace and harmony prevail."

"Let me emphasize the necessity for unity," he said, "and going forward that way to completion. If we act as a united people the monument will soon be built. Harmony, peace, unity of action are essential and I hope some way will be found so that all will be satisfied."

Officers Are Named.

Mr. Rivers, the presiding officer announced, would be prevented from continuing to serve as first vice president and he was given a vote of thanks. With his exception all other officers were reelected as follows:

Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, Miss Mildred Rutherford, Dr. E. L. Connally, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, vice presidents; Miss Alice Baxter, historian; Joseph A. McCord, treasurer; Leo Stillman, assistant treasurer; Rogers Winter, secretary and publicity director; Joseph M. Slattery, assistant to the president; L. W. Robert, Jr., consulting engineer, and Messrs. Arnold & Arnold, counsel.

New directors elected were Henry C. Heinz, Atlanta; Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, Atlanta; Raymond A. Kline, Atlanta; S. C. Dobbs, Atlanta; Dr. M. L. Brittain, Atlanta; W. C. Edwards, Atlanta; W. T. Anderson, Macon; B. P. Gambrell, Atlanta; General E. L. Goodwin, commander-in-chief United Confederate Veterans, Elmore, Ala.; Edmond R. Wiles, commander-in-chief, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. H. R. Jewett, Clarkston, Ga.; Mrs. V. A. S. Moore, Decatur, Ga.; Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Decatur, Ga.; Miss Emily Woodward, Vienna, Ga.; Mrs. John Spalding, Atlanta; B. S. Barker, Atlanta, and Mrs. U. A. McCrary, Decatur, Ga. In addition provision was made for the following new directors: Two representatives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, one to be named by the president of the Georgia division and the other by the president general; two representatives of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, one to be named by the commander-in-chief of that organization; one representative of the Venable family; one representative of the Ladies' Memorial Association of Atlanta, to be named by the president of that association.

The Venable family of Atlanta own Stone Mountain, where the memorial is being carved.

Provision was made for similar representation on the executive committee, which is composed of Randolph, Willis, Gambrell, Bolling H. Jones, John Ashley Jones, Robert F. Maddox, Green, Charles D. McKinney, Walter A. Sims, Candler, Mrs. McKenzie, McCord, Willis A. Sutton, Barker and M. B. Wellborn, all of Atlanta.

Randolph's Statement.

Mr. Randolph's statement, on retiring as president, follows:

"I have been connected with this great enterprise for five years and, now that I am laying down my duties and responsibilities in connection with it, I have a farewell word to say.

"I sincerely and deeply hope that the negotiations will continue until peace and harmony fully prevail. Looking back over the course of my connection with this great work, I am deeply impressed with the necessity of our people being united and going forward unitedly in the completion of this great conception. With that done, it is a conviction with me this monument will be built, and it is likewise a conviction with me that harmony and peace and unity of action are essential.

"I, therefore, hope that the new administration will go forward with the negotiations and that some way may be found whereby all will be satisfied and work together in peace and accord until this heroic monument to the heroes of the south is completely finished."

FAULKNER LIFE TERM IS UPHELD BY COURT

The state supreme court Thursday refused a new trial for Oscar Faulkner, Monroe, sentenced to life imprisonment for the fatal shooting last November of Erastus Moon, Monroe policeman.

Holding that "the evidence authorized the verdict," the high court sustained Judge Blanton Fortson, of Walton superior court, in overruling the motion for new trial. The motion was based on the allegation that the judge erred in admitting as a dying declaration the defendant's statement of the shooting, made one day after it occurred. Moon's death occurred four days after the shooting, the evidence showed.

Faulkner was convicted of murder with recommendation to mercy following an altercation with Moon and W. J. Mayfield, another policeman, on the night of November 30, in which he was alleged to have shot both officers, mortally wounding Moon.

At the time of the shooting, it was charged, the two officers had Faulkner in their custody, following his arrest on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

Former Police Official Dies From Sweetheart's Shot

WOMAN INDIFFERENT WHEN TOLD

Miami, Fla., May 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Louise Palmer today returned an almost disinterested, "is that so? Well that's too bad," when a deputy sheriff informed her that E. W. Stenwell, who she claimed was her lover, died last night from a wound she inflicted Saturday night.

She burst into tears, however, when Deputy Sheriff George Bing told her Stenwall "thought a lot of you," and a jail matron, called to comfort her, found her alternating between sobs and long drags on a cigaret.

No charge of murder had been filed this morning. Stenwell died at 11:50 p. m., but Mrs. Palmer was not told until today.

She wanted to know "what complications caused death." Without waiting for an answer, she demanded, "did Elmer (Stenwall) make any statement or mention me?"

"Was it good or bad?" she asked when Bing answered "Yes."

"Well, he thought a lot of you," the deputy evaded.

Bing did not add the story told to newspapermen that Stenwall begged him, a few minutes before his death, to prosecute.

RECESS IS CALLED IN UTILITY PROBE

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The federal trade commission inquiry into the public relations work of the North and South Carolina public utilities information bureau today recessed its public utility financing investigation to May 28 when the activities of utility interests in New York will be scrutinized.

Samuel E. Boney, of Raleigh, N. C., director of the Carolinas bureau, was the only witness today. His testimony developed that he had written articles on utility publicity that were distributed to 6,500 newspapers, civic clubs and individuals in the bureau's monthly bulletins under the names of persons prominent in his territory.

Conducted Campaign.

His testimony also showed that he had conducted a campaign against municipal ownership, surveyed textbooks used in colleges and planned to remove those deemed unfavorable to the industry; and that he had circulated publicity against government operation of Muscle Shoals and the building of Boulder dam.

One of the disclosures today was Boney's attempts to have W. A. Hildebrand, of Washington, D. C., a correspondent of the Greensboro, N. C., News, investigated by the joint committee of national utilities associations.

In a letter to J. S. S. Richardson, director of publicity for the joint committee, dated November 9, 1927, Boney wrote that an enclosed article written by Hildebrand which had appeared in the Greensboro News was the "first break I have had in a long while and I am damned mad."

CHARLES S. WOOD HEADS TEMPLARS

Brunswick, Ga., May 17.—(AP)—Charles S. Wood, of Savannah, was elected grand commander of the Knights Templars of Georgia at the closing session of the sixty-seventh annual conclave here today. Albany was selected as the 1929 meeting place.

Other officers elected were: Deputy grand commander, Charles L. Bailey, Augusta; grand generalissimo, Early H. Johnson, Columbus; grand captain general, Thomas C. Law, Atlanta; senior warden, D. A. R. Crum, Cordele; junior warden, L. J. Brock, Carrollton; prelate, J. C. Wilkinson, Athens; recorder, J. J. Cornell, Savannah; treasurer, J. T. Clark, Augusta; standard bearer, Ralph J. Hancock, Augusta; sword bearer, William J. Penn, Albany.

Emory Fashion Review Winners Named at Show

Winners of the 1928 Emory fashion show were chosen following the review held at 4:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the campus. The show was staged between members of the various fraternities, and the clothes were furnished by Atlanta firms.

Harry Peagler, Kappa Alpha, won the first prize in the street wear class. Second prize went to Richard Fowler, Alpha Lambda Tau, and third place was taken by James Therrell, of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

In the formal dress contest Jack Hastings, Sigma Nu, won the only prize awarded. Mike McDowell, Chi Phi, won the prize offered in the sports suit class.

The style show was attended by a large student body and a number of visitors. The judges were Misses Bo Skeen, Hazel Wolfe, Verdery Rosenbuch, Jacqueline Moore, Myrtis Corker and Anne Ridley.

Prize-winning contestants wore suits furnished by Parks-Chambers company, George Muse company and D. Shalloway & Co.

Ousted Doctors At Grady Start New Court Fight

Another court battle between ousted doctors of the Grady hospital, white unit, and members of the 1928 hospitals and charities committee of city council and hospital administration officials loomed Thursday following filing in Fulton county superior court of a mandamus proceeding by three physicians.

Dr. C. C. Aven, Dr. O. B. Bush and Dr. Harry Vaughan brought the action against Steve R. Johnston, superintendent of Grady hospital, and Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman, and Councilmen Raleigh Drennon, T. Frank Callaway, Howard C. McCutcheon and W. R. Johnson, members of the 1928 hospitals and charities committee of council.

Judge John D. Humphries set June 2 as the date for hearing on the writ.

ARMY HOUSE BILL PASSED BY SENATE; CONFERENCE NEXT

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The senate late today passed the army housing bill, adding more than $6,000,000 in new projects to the $13,000,000 authorized in the house bill. It now goes to conference for consideration of the senate additions.

Crackers Drop Double-Header to Lookouts, 6-3 and 3-1

Olsen Routed In First Game Of Twin Bill

'Nooga Overcomes Lead To Win Opening Game of Series.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Atlanta's Crackers are beginning to act like the drunk you've heard about trying to get up a flight of steps. He'll negotiate a couple of them safely and then fall down about four.

The first of this week Atlanta got started up the ladder by taking two games out of three from Birmingham, leading the league. Then Thursday along came the Lookouts of Chattanooga, occupying seventh position, which is just one notch above Atlanta, on the bottom, and won two games in one afternoon. In the first game it was 6 to 3. In the second it was 3 to 1. If the Crackers win the next two games, Friday and Saturday, which they should do, then the club will be right back where it started Thursday. So there you are.

Bad Breaks.

That first game was tough from an Atlanta standpoint. It seemed that every time a 'Noogan hit a ground ball to the infield it would bounce about 10 feet in the air over the fielder's head and go for a hit.

With Olson pitching good ball the bounding balls were bad enough. But on top of that Umpire Held, on the bases in the first game, suffered an attack for temporary blindness, or something like it, and booted several decisions.

All that of course, sounds like a large bunch of sour grapes. But Atlanta wasn't getting the breaks in the first game and in the second Tom Rogers went along in great style until the fourth inning when he blew and the visitors got two singles and two doubles to score four runs.

Nick Cullop, the batting behemoth, came near getting his home run in the nightcap Thursday. That was in the fourth inning with Gilbert on base. Nick poled one out that cleared the colored grandstand in left field and just before it disappeared curved foul about one foot. That was another one of those tough breaks.

This afternoon one game will be played. It is ladies day and Adcock, the lad who held Birmingham to three hits last Monday, will fare forth and attempt to hold the 'Noogans. It's possible that he will.

For four innings in the first game Art Olson held the visiting nine to one hit and no runs. He walked none, struck out one and was pitching very well.

'Nooga Takes Lead.

In the fifth Taylor walked. Rosenthal laid down a bunt to Cullop at first, who picked the ball up and threw to second to catch Taylor. Taylor went into the base standing up and the ball hit him on the shoulder and bounced over Jones' head. Taylor made third and Rosenthal second. Then Moore singled to center and Chattanooga was two runs ahead.

They made another in the seventh on a walk, single and infield out. Three singles in a row scored Dumas in the eighth. The single that scored him went screaming down the first-base line and appeared to be about a foot foul. Campbell, behind the plate, ruled otherwise.

Then Chattanooga got a single, double and triple in the ninth and scored two runs. That was enough to win.

Atlanta scored one in the fourth. West singled through third. Gilbert came up and while the 'Nooga infield was playing for a bunt, shot one past Defate and West went to second. Then Billy Rhiel plumped a Texas leaguer back of second to score West. Jones attempted to sacrifice Gilbert in from third, but it didn't work.

That was all of that.

Chattanooga had a big moment in its fourth to win the second game. Dumas planted one through third and Taylor sacrificed him to second. Rosenthal singled to left and placed Dumas on third. Moore doubled to right and cleaned the bases. Another double to right by Defate scored Moore and that made three runs.

That came after two unusual plays in the second had brought Rogers out of a bad hole. Gilbert erred and Taylor was safe at first. Rosenthal doubled to center and fast handling of the ball by West held Taylor at third. Then Moore hit to Niehoff at second. Rosenthal tore out for third and so did the Skipper, with the ball. Taylor remained parked on the third sack and Skipper reached the bag just as it was being occupied by two Chattanooga men. Rosenthal was out. Meantime Moore was safe at first. Then Defate rolled one to Rogers. Taylor started home. Rogers threw to Brock. Brock got Taylor in a chase with Gilbert on the other end. The ball went back and forth and Moore steamed into third just as Gilbert got the ball. He tagged out Moore and threw to Nick Cullop, who had dashed over. Nick tagged Rosenthal and that ended the inning.

Wierman pitched the nightcap for Chattanooga and Atlanta got to him for exactly four hits. Two of them came in the sixth inning when Gilbert doubled to right and scored on a one-base smash to right by Rhiel.

Jones, Gunn Beat Georgia Golfers, 2 Up

Bob Jones Turns 72 in Olympic Fund Match at Athens.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., May 17.—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn defeated Johnny Oliver and Dave Black here this afternoon 2 up in a match for the Olympic games benefit. Twelve of the holes were squared while Jones and Gunn took four and the Georgia collegians two. Jones turned in a beautiful 72, one under par, and but for his putting would have been at least three strokes better. The famous golfer had one eagle and two birdies to his credit. Oliver, who won the southern intercollegiate title last week, had a 77, while Gunn and Black were constantly in the woods and traps, turning in 81s, although both were sensational at times.

The visiting golfers got off to a big lead when they won the second, third, and fourth holes after halving the first. On the fourth the Oliver-Black team apparently had won the hole with birdie 4s, when the Atlanta wizard played a niblick shot from a shallow sand trap. The ball hit the top of the bank and rolled straight into the cup, 35 feet away, for an eagle three.

The next four holes were halved. Bobby's 12-foot putt missed by a half inch on the seventh. Coming into the ninth three down, the Oliver-Black combination regained one when Black sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie three.

The Georgia collegians also won the tenth, on Oliver's birdie four, making them one down. Gunns' recovery for a par 5 on this hole was remarkable after he had gone into the woods.

After the tenth, seven straight holes were squared. Black's putt on the eleventh was half-way in the cup and half-way out to give him a 5, same as the other three. Bobby's miss of a three-foot putt on the fourteenth caused him to get a par 4, as Black did to square the hole.

The seventeenth came very near to being the last hole. Gunn and Jones had scored pretty par 3s and Black was lying six feet away from the cup. After wiping off his ball carefully he placed it in the cup to square the hole.

The Atlanta pair won the match on the eighteenth by virtue of Jones' birdie 4, which came very near to being an eagle.

Macon Hurler Goes To Robins for Trial

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 17.—(AP)—Jim Robinson of Macon, Ga., a pitcher, joined Brooklyn of the National league today for a tryout.

ROBINS TRIM PELS.

Cincinnati, May 17.—Brooklyn got off to a victory over Cincinnati, 4 to 2, in its 1928 debut on Redland field here today and broke the tie existing between the Reds and the Cubs for first place. Chicago won and went into undisputed leadership. Dazzy Vance got credit for the victory, breaking his losing streak of four straight. He was removed for a pinch batsman, Henline, in the seventh, which saws the Robins score two runs and take the lead. Doak finished for Brooklyn.

Eppa Rixey and Jakie May shared the pitching for Cincinnati.

CUBS BLANK BROWNS.

Chicago, May 17.—Pat Malone held Boston to five hits today and the Chicago Cubs won their eleventh consecutive victory, 2 to 0.

Hack Wilson hit his fifth home run of the season in the fourth inning. The other tally came in the second, when Stephenson led off with a double, went to third on Grimm's sacrifice and scored on Gonzales' single.

Malone held the Braves to one hit until the seventh inning. In addition to his home run Wilson cracked out a triple to lead the Cubs' attack.

Tech and Georgia Nines Clash Today in Important Series

M'LARNIN BOUT IS POSTPONED UNTIL TONIGHT

New York, May 17.—(AP)—For the second time in lo, these many years, Tex Rickard's proverbial "weather luck" failed him today and forced postponement of Jimmy McLarnin's attempt to lift the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell. The 15-round joust will be staged tomorrow night at the Polo grounds if the weather man is in better mood.

Although the brooding skies failed to break out into a general downpour, the gloomy cast overhead and threats of showers caused the promoter to order the postponement at 2 p. m., just after the contestants had weighed in at the offices of the New York state athletic commission. The Irish lad with the lethal right fist scaled 134 1-2 pounds, just under the limit, while Mandell, after an enforced workout, tipped the beam at an even 135.

When the champion first stepped on the scales he was half a pound over the weight. After much scurrying around, the little Chicago Italian was allowed 15 minutes to reduce to the class limit. Sammy retired to an anteroom, shadow-boxed until the time was up, and returned to save his weight forfeit without a fraction of an ounce to spare. The boxers will not be required to weigh again unless a second postponement is necessary. Both probably will scale well over the limit by tomorrow night.

Godfrey, Risko Fight June 20

New York, May 17.—(AP)—George Godfrey, current "Black Menace" among the heavyweights, and Johnny Risko, Cleveland baker boy who finished second in Tex Rickard's winter elimination series, were matched today to fight ten rounds on June 20 at Ebbets field, Brooklyn.

The match, made by Humbert J. Fugazy, Metropolital rival of Tex Rickard, may interfere with the Madison Square Garden promoter's plan to pit Risko against Jack Sharkey in a bout late this summer. Risko was named alternate to Tom Heeney recently and assured a match with Champion Gene Tunney if anything happened to the New Zealand challenger before July 26.

Godfrey, in his last major engagement, defeated Paulino Uzcudun, the Spaniard, in a ten-round bout in Los Angeles, last February.

Southern League

BARONS TROUNCE VOLS.

Birmingham, May 17.—Luther Roy, star Birmingham right hander, won his seventh victory without a loss here today when he turned back the Vols, 9 to 5. Roy held the Vols scoreless through the first seven innings but permitted five runs after his teammates had given him a nine-run margin. Both teams gathered 11 hits each but the Barons bunched their's for a victory.

HARD AND HEAVY.

Little Rock, Ark., May 17.—New Orleans batters hit the ball hard and often here today and the Pelicans took the first game of the series with the Travelers, 10 to 6. Little Rock got to Danforth in the seventh, but Karr stopped the rally. Eichrodt, of New Orleans, and Boss, of Little Rock, hit home runs.

Winner of Conference Title May Be Decided in This Series.

BY ROGER PAGE.

Winding up their training with a stiff workout Thursday afternoon the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets left last night for Athens where they will battle the Bulldogs of the University of Georgia in the most important series of the season this afternoon and Saturday. The last two games of the series will be played in Atlanta the last of next week.

The four-game series with the Bulldogs has a strong bearing on the 1928 southern conference championship and the winner of the title may be decided by this meeting.

The workout Thursday afternoon consisted of a snappy batting practice and two infield workouts. All of the tossers on Mr. Clay's large squad had a chance to workout.

Takes Large Squad.

An unusually large squad was taken to Athens, Coach Clay having a total of 20 players from which to pick his nine to start hostilities against the Red and Black outfit this afternoon. Eight infielders will be clad in White and Gold when the game starts, four outfielders, five pitchers, and three catchers.

As it now appears, the championship of the southern conference hangs on the outcome of this series between the two state institutions. The Jackets have lost three conference tilts, one to Auburn and two to Alabama, while the Bulldogs have been punished only twice and broke even in another. The Red and Black nine has lost to North Carolina and Auburn, tying another with the contending Auburnites. The record of the Tigers is just about as good as either of the Georgia outfits, and should the series between the Jackets and the Bulldogs be split, the Tigers will probably be awarded the crown.

The Georgia team will have to depend mostly on defensive work to stop the Jackets in this series. The Bulldogs are a lively bunch and cover the field well, but their hitting powers are somewhat lacking compared to that of the North avenue boys. For many seasons the infield of the Athenians has been better than that of Tech, but when such players as Doug Wycoff connect with the ball and send it out of the lot as he did to take the championship from the Red and Black nine two years ago, the best infield possible is made helpless. Bob Parham is another mighty bat wielder, of the same type as Doug, and unless he is terribly "off" this afternoon, the Bulldogs are going to have trouble.

Other Good Hitters.

Parham is not the only one who can swing a wicked bat for the Tech club. Frank Waddy, who covers the centerfield like a coat of paint, belongs to the home-run class. He has several circuit clouts to his credit this spring. Captain Arthur McCash, although his hitting is not as good as it was last year, is a regular slugger. "Sunshine" Hill, the third baseman, is another. In fact, Tech is flushed with good hitters.

Julian Carney, better known on the Flats as "Truthful" Carney, will probably be selected for mound duty against the Bulldogs in the first clash this afternoon. Dick Florrid, another tosser who is considered one of the best in the conference, will get a shot at the Georgia batters while in Athens also. Both of these Jackets have pitched unusual games this spring, each having to his credit over a dozen strikeouts in a single game. The Bulldogs will have Lefty Murdock, the sophomore ace; Jack Waller, or Lefty Stewart to toss to the visitors, while in the Classic City.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS MAY BE DECIDED IN SERIES.
BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., May 17.—A Southern conference baseball championship depends on the outcome of the four-game series between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech, the first two of which are to be played in Athens Friday and Saturday and the other two a week later in Atlanta. Should the Bulldogs win three games out of four they would have an undisputed claim to the conference title; whereas, if Tech wins three out of four they would have a better claim. If the series is split the Auburn Tigers, who now rank third, will have the best claim to the championship.

The present conference standing of the three teams is as follows:

TEAMS—	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Georgia	11	2	.846
Tech	12	3	.800
Auburn	14	4	.777

In Athens a great deal of interest is being taken in the games, perhaps greater than ever before, due to the relative standing of the nines. Of course, there is no official championship in any branch of Southern conference sports but the mythical title exists rather strongly.

Coach White, of the Bulldogs, announced late Thursday that he was liable to send either Murdock, Stewart or Waller against the Techsters in the Friday game while one of the other two would pitch Saturday. "Truthful" Carney and Dick Florrid will do the twirling for the Yellow Jackets.

The Bulldogs brought their batting averages to .295 in the Oglethorpe series. The infield, composed of Rothstein, Freeman, Johnson and Chafin, is conceded to be one of the strongest in the south.

PREP GOLFERS BATTLE WAY TO TRIPLE TIE

Boys' High and Peacock moved on the links at East Lake Thursday afternoon and as a result there is a triple tie for the prep golf championship of the city.

Decided by the flip of a coin, Boys' High and Marist, the third team in the tie, will play Monday afternoon at East Lake and the winner will meet Peacock for the title.

Boys' High defeated Peacock Thursday afternoon by the score of 12 1-2 to 5 1-2 in a hard-fought match in which Boys' High won three out of four matches. A victory for Peacock would have given them the championship.

In the feature match of the day Will Gunn, brother of Watts, and a rising young golfer, defeated Tom Shropshire, of the Peacock squad, 2-up. Both boys played par golf until the last few holes when Hughes weakened slightly and Gunn forged ahead to win his match. Gunn turned in a 73 and Shropshire a 75 during the 18-hole jaunt.

Results of play follow:

Gunn, (B.H.S.), d., Shropshire, (P.), 2-up.

Dannal, (P.), d. Chambers, (B. H. S.), 2-up.

Haas, (B. H. S.), d. Hughes, (P.), 2-up.

Torrence, (B. H. S.), d. Baylor, (P.), 1-up.

Long Streak Puts Chicago Cubs on Top

Hold Undisputed Lead in National League After Uphill Battle.

Chicago, May 17.—(United News.) Undisputed claim to the National league leadership came to the Chicago Cubs today when, in continuing their phenomenal winning streak, they downed the Boston Braves, 2 to 0.

It was the Cubs' eleventh straight victory. The Cincinnati Reds, who had been in a tie with the Cubs, dropped into second place today by losing to Brooklyn.

Pat Malone, Cubs pitcher, takes much of the credit for today's shutout victory. He held the Braves to five singles and was in danger only in the third inning. Until the seventh inning, Malone had allowed but one single and he eased up in the final three frames.

Hack Wilson, slugging centerfielder for Chicago, drove the ball into left centerfield bleachers in the fourth inning for his fifth home run of the season. He also hit a triple but this blow served only to swell his batting average and did not figure in the scoring.

The only other run was scored by Chicago in the second. Stephenson opened the inning with a double to left, was sacrificed to third by Grimm and scored on Gonzales' single to right.

The Braves lost a good chance to score in the third inning when they filled the bases. Taylor had flied out to Webb, when Genewich was walked, and Richbourg singled to center. Moore then flied to Wilson but Hornsby was passed to fill the bags. Brown fouled to Grimm for the third out, however.

Reigh Count Is Talk of Louisville as Derby Day Nears

Hertz Entry Is Sure Shot, Dopesters Say

Talk of Slow Track Dies Down as Skies Clear; Kentucky Town Agog.

BY WHITNER CARY
Constitution Staff Correspondent.

Louisville, May 17. — Thursday morning the two favorite sports in this city of beauty and culture were finding a room upon which to lay one's weary head and in trying to pick some horse that by a terrific stretch of the imagination had a remote or even feeble chance of beating Reigh Count in the Derby Saturday.

Thanks to the turning loose of 3,000 rooms by the hospitable citizens of this city to the wandering public and travel-stained newspapermen, the first pastime was halted rather abruptly. Proceedings in the latter diversion were terminated with the cessation of a downpour, said to have been the heaviest in ten years, and the announcement that with no more rain the track will be fast on Saturday afternoon.

Fast Track.

This announcement concerning the weather put at rest all arguments as far as your correspondent was able to promote in regard to who will win the fifty-fourth running of the Kentucky Derby, the greatest sporting event in this country. During the downpour when Churchill Downs resembled more the Chattahoochee than a race track there were some friendly souls who, caught off guard, might admit that Toro, Misstep, Lawley, or even Strolling Player might have some excuse for being present Saturday afternoon if the track remained sloppy or muddy.

But once the afternoon sun broke through the clouds and the prediction went forth for a fast track on Saturday all the brethren, and even the sisters, went back to the monotonous refrain, "Reigh Count is a dead cinch." It is really terrible to hear the extravagant way in which everyone seems to think the race is as good as in. Conditions will undoubtedly get worse by tomorrow when the vanguard of some 15 special trains begin to unload the pure in heart from Chicago. For the Windy City race addicts are even more rabid on the subject of Reigh Count than are addicts from other sections. The situation is very discouraging.

Here your humble correspondent came some 500 miles in the hope of being able to send back some word of cheer to the long shot brethren concerning the chances of this or that nag to nail Reigh Count, and all he can hear is that the race is as good as over. If present dope is to be believed, he might just as well have stayed home and watched the Crackers; at least their doings provide some uncertainty. But Reign Count, why to hear it from the lowest to the highest, he can't lose. I have wandered up and down, mostly down, every track in the eastern United States and have been present on the eve of many a big feature race, but never in those topsy turvy ramblings have I ever witnessed such pronounced sentiment concernizg the cances of a favorite as this Reigh Count enjoys some 40 hours before post time.

A Walk-Away.

The cab driver who brought me to the hotel was the first to break the saw news that the race was a walkaway for the Hertz racer. Alighting and walking up to the hotel clerk, one was greeted with two remarks, "we have no room and Reigh Count is a dead cinch." In bewilderment your correspondent turned to the fair waitress who brought him his ham and eggs and in a meek and lowly voice asked for her opinion concerning the outcome of Saturday's classic. In a disdainful voice, in which one could detect the note of pity, she haughtily replied, "that no one but a countryman of the deepest dye would ask such a queston, that any sane man, woman or child knew that Reigh Count could not lose."

Sorrowfully your correspondent sought solace in the lobby where he ran arcross young, old and middle-aged race followers. Everywhere it was the same. "Reigh Count by as far as you can throw a brick." As I can throw a brick a considerable ways, the information was not cheering.

At the track this afternoon conditions in the press box were the same. During the copious weeping of the clouds some of the boys, who make their living by writing about the ponies, would politely listen to my remarks about the chances of Toro, Misstep or Strolling Player. But once the storm passed, one was not in fashion to mention anything that could take the measure of Mrs. Hertz's piece of horseflesh. To do so argued that you were ignorant and tht probably you were a bird that did not even know the way to the eight pole.

This latter appraisement is the lowest that the racing fraternity can give. It is even lower than the one, "he is so dumb he does not know where the judge's stand is located."

Reigh Count of Course.

In desperation I sought out the "Hot Dog Kid," a racetrack friend of mine of 15 years' bitter experience. He received his name some 20 years ago when he consumed no less than 22 hot dogs between the finish of first race and the start of the fifth.

He is also known to never pick a favorite. I therefore approached him in high glee.

"Tell me Kid," I asked with a tremble in my voice, "is Reigh Count as good as they say and will he win the Derby?" He gave me a withering look such as he might give a vanishing hot dog and then in words of one syllable, plentifully supplied with adjectives that The Constitution would refuse to print, stated that Reigh Count was as big a cinch to cop the Derby as Moses had been to lead the Children of Israel out of the wilderness. As the kid can trace his blood lines back to those hectic times, I felt that he had paid the Hertz star unusual homage and so turned the conversation into other channels.

So boys, it looks as if it is going to be hard to find a horse to beat this Reigh Count. I wish I could do it for I have heard so much about him that I would like to see him lose. A Derby is a grand and glorious race and no horse has a right to be such a favorite as this same Reigh Count is at the present writing. But it might be well to bear in mind that Bobasheln displayed some dazzling speed yesterday when he went that mile in 1:41 2-5; that Petee Wrack duplicated this same mark today before the first race; that Misstep is as keen as hands can make him; that Toro ran a wonderful race behind Victorian in the Preakness, and that English horses are bred for distance. This last refers to Strolling Player who finished fourth in the Preakness and who was going strong at the end of that mile and three-sixteenths gallop. Remember also that his owners paid no less than $60,000 good American dollars for him and that he is a wonderfully bred animal.

"Well it will all be over in another 40 hours. Will now sound off and cut out into the public places and hear more talk of how Reigh Count will have to break a leg before he can lose.

G.I.A.A. Meet Slated Today At Grant Field

1928 Meet Promises To Be Best in History of Association.

With the best prep school athletes entered and everything pointing to one of the best meets in recent years, the annual G. I. A. A. track and field meet will be held this afternoon at Grant field.

Officials of the meet are looking forward to many new records this afternoon. A fast track is predicted which will aid in faster time. All athletes are reported to be in top form for the meet which is unusually late this year.

The meet this afternoon gives promise of being one of the greatest in the history of the association. Many handsome trophies have been offered for the winners.

A handsome gold trophy will be given to the winner by the Georgia Tech Athletic association. It is on exhibition in the show window of A. G. Spalding and Brothers on North Broad street. Other trophies will be given for second and third place in the meet.

All details were completed Thursday night at a meeting of coaches and it was decided to give the money taken in at the meet to defray the expenses of the Atlanta prep school stars going to the Chicago meet. Judges were named along with the completion of other details.

UHLE WINS ANOTHER.

Washington, May 17.—George Uhle pitched and batted Cleveland to another victory today, defeating Washington, 8 to 3. The big veteran held the Senators to nine hits and personally knocked in four runs. He scored a mate ahead of him in the sixth with a home run. Fonseca, of the Indians, and Bluege, of the Senators, also got four baggers.

RED SOX GO HIGHER.

Boston, May 17.—The Boston Red Sox went into fourth place in the league standing here today by defeating Detroit, 5-3. Sensational fielding was responsible for the Red Sox victory, as Russell allowed the visitors nine hits. Ken Williams drove in three runs and prevented Detroit from scoring at least two tallies when he made a remarkable save on Fothergill's long drive to left center in the fifth inning. The bases were filled and two were out at the time. The game was the Red Sox's sixth straight victory, the longest winning streak in many years, and the seventh consecutive defeat for Detroit.

YANKS WIN; RUTH HOMERS.

New York, May 17.—The Yankees ran their winning streak to seven straight here today by winning the first of four engagements with the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3. The game was featured by Ruth's twelfth and Gehrig's sixth home runs, but these drives were matched by circuit blows from the bats of Lu Blue and Otis Brannon.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS

Work For Hanlon.

The great knockout punch of the great Stiles Attaway will stand a bit of grooming by Manager Eddie Hanlon if Stiles expects to stop anybody but palookas.

Stiles hit the limelight a year or so ago and his greatest boast was a kick in each hand. Thursday night after a year of improvement both hands rolled into one could not have stopped Willlie Potomy, who substituted for Russ Rowssey, who substituted for Tillie Herman.

The third substitute entered the ring amid the doubts of the cash customers and left amid their cheers after Stiles Attaway, the Gainesville killer, had hit him with everything but the box office and failed to put him out.

The soldier was on the floor twice, but a woodpecker will fell a pine if he pecks long enough. Potomy failed to show any great hitting ability but he offered his head as a sacrifice to Attaway and the Gainesville boy learned something—that opponents have a body to hit as well as a head, especially when that head is impervious to hitting.

Stiles simply met a lad who knew something about the game and could take all he had and then some. Stiles might have learned something. He should have. If he did, the fight did not go for naught.

* * * * * * * * *

The Very Thing for Dubs.

The names of Donald Ross and some few others are always mentioned in connection with the building of golf courses but probably the greatest golf architect in the world has won fame as a football coach rather than an architect.

He is Coach W. A. Alexander, of Tech, and his idea of just how a golf course should be built is pictured below by the artist. This idea may not be exactly orthodox but when the rules are explained Coach Alex will receive the votes of all the dubs in any popularity contest ever staged.

Coach Alex revealed his scheme at a conference in the sanctum of the O. F. C. organization at the Atlanta Athletic club Thursday and its popularity was attested by the round of applause from such sterling golfers as Hal Voorheis, Al Doonan, George Nicholson and Lew Scott—not to mention the writer.

Coach Alex's proposed course would be laid out as shown in the diagram. The rules would be as simple as the idea. The golfer would tee off and he would be allowed to play the hole nearest to the point where his ball lodged after the drive. After playing the hole he would return to the tee and play the next hole. If the usual direction followed by most of us prevailed there would be no duplication of play. Eact tee shot would find a different hole and thus the nine holes would be played without trouble. All in favor of the idea vote aye. The ayes have it.

Winner Turns Initial Nine In 38 Strokes

Match Ends on 14th Hole; Miss Maddox Cards Pair of Birdies.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

When a feminine golfer shoots a 38 on the front side at East Lake in a championship match her opponent is expected to be down. And the expected happened Thursday morning when Margaret Maddox came to the ninth green with a 38 on her card and Mrs. Helen Dargan Lowndes was 3 down.

As the figures indicate, Miss Maddox was playing almost unbeatable golf and the very presentable 41 carded by Mrs. Lowndes served only to keep her from turning much further down.

There will be many a championship played over the East Lake course by the members of the "stronger sex" when cards will not show better figures than those of the two fair golfers Thursday. It is significant that out of the first nine holes, the winner on each hole was above par figures but twice and two birdies wer carded by Miss Maddox.

The match was finished on the 14th green when Miss Maddox took the hole with a par 5 to go 5 up.

First Hole Halved.

The first hole found both players safely on in three and two putts each halved the hole in fives. Then the fireworks began. Mrs. Lowndes canned a par 3 on the short second to go 1 up, but the match was even at the third, when Miss Maddox dropped a 15-footer for a birdie 3 and Mrs. Lowndes' par 4 was not good enough to win.

Mrs. Lowndes again went 1 up at the fourth when she was on in three and dropped her first putt for a par 4. Miss Maddox failed to can her initial attempt and took a five. On the long fifth Mrs. Lowndes found trouble at the left with her drive and also hooked her second to the rough at the left. Her third was short in the rough and her pitch was hole-high, but her putt rimmed the cup and she took a 6 while Miss Maddox was safely on in 3 and down in two putts for a par 5.

That squared the match again and Miss Maddox went 1 up on the island hole when her tee shot was 10 feet past the pin and she dropped a birdie 2. Mrs. Lowndes' three was not good enough to win.

Pretty Shot.

The seventh found Mrs. Lowndes too far to the right with her tee shot and she played her second to the summer green 60 feet short of the pin with a spoon. It was a pretty shot and should have given her at least a half because Miss Maddox's drive was partly stymied by a tree. She played a beautiful low shot that rolled just a few feet past the pin and her four was enough to win when Mrs. Lowndes' approach was 12 feet short and she failed to go down with her first putt.

That put Miss Maddox 2 up and she took another hole on the "long short" eighth, when Mrs. Lowndes drove the trap in front of the green and her out was over the carpet. This was the first hole on the front side won in worse than par figures.

Going to the ninth tee Miss Maddox needed a five for a 37, but she three-putted the last green to halve in sixes with her opponent. Miss Maddox's drive was far to the left in No. 1 fairway, but her second cut back within easy pitching distance of the green. Mrs. Lowndes had a good drive, but half topped her second and it was well short of the green. Miss Maddox was away and played a pitch and roll, which stopped 20 feet past the pin. Her opponent elected to pitch full to the green and overclubbed herself, carrying over the green and up to the driveway. Her return was short and it looked like another hole for Miss Maddox, but her three putts left her a half.

On the back side Miss Maddox did not continue to shoot her near-par golf, but Mrs. Lowndes found trouble on nearly every hole. On the 10th they drove even, but Mrs. Lowndes' second shot rolled to a hanging lie on the back of a trap and she failed to get out with her third. She then got well on, but took three putts for a 7 while Miss Maddox was taking a safe 5, to go 4 up.

More Trouble.

Worse trouble befell Mrs. Lowndes on the short 11th when she drove the trap to the left and overshot on her recovery. Coming back on her third she was short again and caught the trap. She picked up to give Miss Maddox a win with a 4. Miss Maddox was in the trap also, but her blast found the green.

That put Miss Maddox 5 up with 7 to go, but Mrs. Lowndes exhibited her fighting spirit by cutting that lead on the 12th with a good par 4. Both found the rough with their drives, but Mrs. Lowndes was safely on with her pitch, while her opponent found the trap guarding the green.

Mrs. Lowndes avoided being closed out on the 13th when she dropped a long putt for a half after pushing her drive to the rough and topping her second shot. Miss Maddox was on in three but took two putts to halve.

A topped drive by Mrs. Lowndes on the 14th was the beginning of the end. Her second shot found the big trap at the right of the fairway, and her third failed to get out. She took a seven and they shook hands on the 14th green when Miss Maddox took a five to end the match, 5-4.

In winning from Mrs. Lowndes Miss Maddox demonstrated clearly that she is a dangerous golfer among the women. She takes her game seriously and seems nerveless. She will bear watching.

Attaway Gets Verdict Over Willie Potomy

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Mr. William Potomy, alias Russ Rowsey, alias Tillie (Kid) Herman, lost a 10-round decision to Stiles Attaway, of Gainesville, Ga., Thursday night at the city auditorium.

At the last minute the young Mr. Potomy was sent in to sub for Russ Rowsey who, in turn, had been selected Saturday to fight in the place of Tillie (Kid) Herman, selected as Attaway's opponent for a return go here. According to Matchmaker James Mayson, who did the subbing and selecting of subs, Potomy is champion of the army and the marines and is from Fort Benning, Ga.

Pretty Good.

The latest substitute managed to put up a very good fight and pleased the cash customers assembled. He would hunch his shoulders, draw in his head while Attaway would stand off and flail away at Potomy's head like a butcher's assistant wielding a meat cleaver.

Then suddenly Willie would lash out with one of his fists and once in a while he landed a right smart blow somewhere on Attaway's anatomy that probably hurt. At any rate, the punching of the soldier-marine was better than any shown by Attaway. Time was when Stiles was advertised as the lad with a kick in either hand. Home-brew has a kick lots of times. And then sometimes it ferments, blows off the top and the kick is gone. Attaway was in the same fix Thursday.

About twice he quit trying to sock Potomy on the jaw and landed a short body punch. He did this once in the tenth round and Potomy went to the floor. It appeared to many that Potomy had been shoved down. But Attaway's punch traveled about four inches and sent the lad down.

Potomy Goes Down.

The boy from Gainesville also put Willie down in the ninth round for the count of six with a back-hand slap. These were the only knock downs of the fight. The rest of the time was devoted to Attaway's flailing wildly at Potomy's head with Potomy taking it all in a very calm manner.

Substitutions at the bout Friday night were so frequent as to remind one of the eminent Knute K. Rockne of Notre Dame and his reckless usage of various young men during a game of football.

In the semi-final bout wherein Casey Jones was to box a gentleman from LaGrange by the name of Marshall Cardwell, someone stepped on Cardwell's hand or something and word was received that he would be unable to fight here.

Battling Barnett was subbed and he and Casey stepped about in lively fashion for six rounds to make a good fight with Jones winning a well-earned decision.

Cline Gets Draw.

Irish Benny Cline was momentarily checked in his comeback aspirations when he fought to a six-round draw with Bobby Wilcott. Wilcott was several inches taller than Benny and had a longer reach which enabled him to hold Benny off, where the latter's punches couldn't land.

In the other six rounder of the evening Simon Kessler, Jewish heavyweight of Tampa, knocked out Piggly Wiggly Johnston, a local heavy, in the fourth round. Benny Crebb won a technical kayo when Shufird Jones failed to answer the bell at the third round of their four-round opener.

Mayson May Draw Suspension From Local Fight Body

It was intimated Thursday night, following the Attaway-Potomy fight, by Commissioner Al Martin, of the boxing board, that Jimmy Mayson, matchmaker for the card, would be suspended for infringement of the commission's rules.

Attaway was originally scheduled to fight Tillie (Kid) Herman. It was learned Saturday that Herman would not be able to go on with the fight and Russ Rowssey was selected as a substitute, this being agreed to by the commission.

Then Thursday night the time for the fight arrived and another substitute was sent in—Willie Potomy. The commisison had not been informed of this substitution, but allowed the fight to go on as Potomy was making a good showing.

A rule of the commission reads that any substitution on a card must be made 24 hours before the fight in order that the public might be informed. Mayson, in failing to notify the commission, violated the rule. His case will be considered at a meeting to be held this morning.

JACK BOYKIN TAKES PREP TENNIS TITLE

Jack Boykin, runner-up in last year's meet, defeated Nathan Brandon, of Boys' High, Thursday afternoon, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, on the East Lake courts in the final round of singles in the annual city prep tennis tournament. Boykin, star of the University school team, was playing a steady, driving game and Brandon was unable to cope with him to any success.

In the doubles the team of Lester and Elliott, representing G. M. A., downed Conniffe and Gaines, of Boys' High, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, to win the doubles championship. This match was extremely hard fought, going the full limit and both teams put up a hard battle, with Lester and Elliott playing a steadier game.

Boys' High won the team trophy by virtue of its men winning more matches in the tournament than any other school. The Boys' High squad, in matches played before the tournament, has defeated all of the local prep teams and several strong southern prep squads.

FINALS TODAY IN DOUBLES AT NET CLUB

Finals in the doubles round of the Atlanta Tennis club's spring tournament will be played this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock on the courts of the club at Argonne and Ponce de Leon avenues.

This match will see the Bryan Grant-Jack Mooney combination meeting Harry Gault and Jack Simpson for the championship. Grant and Mooney rank No. 1 and 2 in the Southern Lawn Tennis association, Grant having defeated Mooney for the southern title last year at Memphis.

Semi-finals were played Thursday afternoon in the singles and finals will be played Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Harry Gault meeting his doubles partner, Jack Simpson. Gault defeated Merry, 6-3, 6-4, to go into the finals while Simpson downed young Billy Dreger by a score of 2-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS.

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookseller in London and later in Winterbourn, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven, when his son, Conrad, sees him there. He's been estranged from both his sons since the beginning of the war, and they have lost track of him. Conrad hastens to tell his brother, Probyn, that he has seen his father. Probyn's son, Lance Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead, but he looks him up at the Saracen's Head without telling his parents of the meeting. When Lance returns to Cambridge for the last term he invites his grandfather to visit him there.

On leaving Cambridge Lance takes a small room in London and devotes himself to writing. His father gives him a modest allowance. He still continues to visit his grandfather secretly.

In London Lance meets Olive Gadsden, a neighbor, to whom he is attracted.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.
ENCOURAGEMENT.

At the Marylebone road crossing Lance held Olive's arm, and she did not resist him. She had a wise, sleek look. They made a dash like a couple of children in front of a red bus, and on the further pavement she betrayed a laughing breathlessness.

"Quick work! And to think that I shall have to loaf all day, or mince about showing off frocks. Like this—my dear."

She walked ahead of him for a few paces, giving him an exhibition of the mannequin's walk with its little, gliding swigger swag of the hips and its exotic gestures of the hands. But he caught her up.

"You can stop that, Olive."

"Don't you approve?"

"It makes me——. I say—are you going to be shut up all day?"

"Till half past five.

"And tonight? Dancing?"

"No, not tonight."

"Let's go somewhere. I'll wait for you."

"Perhaps."

"Indeed!"

"Please."

She looked straight ahead down Baker street.

"Very well. We'll be good and just sit in Regent's park, and listen to the seals in the zoo. I shall be outside the Baker street tube at 6."

"That's great of you."

"Don't keep me waiting. I don't wait."

"Do you think I shall?"

But at the corner of Chalfont street she told him to turn back. She was very determined about it

"I don't allow men to hang about my place of business, laddie. It isn't done. So—remember."

He stood looking at her with a kind of smiling yet serious ardor.

"All right. I think I approve."

When he had left her he did not know what to do with himself. In fact, there seemed to be nothing worth doing until he saw her again.

He was spurred.

He quickened his pace. It occurred to him that he had good cause to go and see John Richmond, and to put his case into Richmond's hands. Richmond would help him. The May sunshine had a new urgency, the scattered gold, the goblin gold for which a young man's hands might begin to grope.

He found himself in the yard of Blair & Donnisthorpe's historic house. Vans were delivering paper, or removing packages of books and periodicals. A porter, with the face of a sot, blundered into Lance on the narrow sidewalk, and glared at him with bleary hostility.

"'Ere, mind yourself."

Lance made a movement as of dusting his sleeve. Demos, handling the parcels and packages, received more money for his brainless job than did many of the authors. The commissionaire in charge of the door had known discipline and gentlemen. Lance's card was handed to a flapper.

"Will you take a chair in the waiting room, sir?"

Lance sat down in the little tank of a room. He glanced at the magazines on the table with the names of popular authors announced upon their bright covers. The house of Blair & Donnisthorpe had a vastness. He could hear the pulsing of machines, while he felt rather like a stock fish in a tank waiting for someone to fish him out of his obscurity. But what did it matter? At 6 o'clock he was meeting Olive Gadsden.

The flapper returned.

"Mr. Richmond'll see you. Come upstairs."

He was led up stone stairs and along corridors into which people popped through glazed doors. The flapper, with an air of stodgy boredom, passed him in to Richmond's secretary.

Lance smiled at her.

"Good morning, Miss Vincent."

His smile was returned, and it was the smile of a woman who worked. Miss Vincent was big and fair and deliberate, with a face that was wide open to you, and eyes that were not to be beguiled. Richmond always said of her that she was the best secretary in London, and the only being who knew when he was angry and when he was pretending.

"Mr. Richmod's engaged for a minute. Please come in and wait."

"It's good of him to see me. I won't keep him five minutes."

Miss Vincent, returning to her desk and her labors, gave him a kind of mother's look, much the look she would sometimes lay upon the crown of Richmond's big head.

"You won't mind if I go on working?"

"I should feel wrong here if you didn't."

At the end of two minutes Richmond's bell rang, and Lance was allowed into the great man's inner room. For John Richmond was a great man. You would find him as Lance found him, sitting squarely and heavily behind his desk, and ready to look at you with curt blue eyes from behind rimmed spectacles. You would—perhaps—think him a plain man; he had not a feature that was as it should be, but when you knew him, when he had talked to you, the whole man became transfigured. His very plainness was lovable; it had a sort of beautiful rightness, a Cromwellian vigor. He talked very fast, in swift, forcible bursts, or he said very little If he was silent you might take up your hat and go. He had moments of explosive energy. At times he might appear intensely irritable, because he was intensely sensitive, and became fiercely impatient in the presence of humbugs, and prigs, and obstructionists. No man at any time had done more kind things and forgotten them. If he troubled to curse you it meant that you were worth cursing.

He said: "Sit down, Pybus. What's the matter?"

Lance had the sense not to waste Richmond's time. He could forgive you anything but prosiness or false modesty.

"Nothing's the matter, sir. I think I told you once that my father was financing me for two years."

"Are the two years up?"

"At the end of September. I was wondering if I wrote a series of short stories . . . "

Richmond got up out of his chair. He liked to walk about the big room when he was talking to particular people.

"Finished your novel?"

"Not yet."

"You had better let me see it."

"If you don't mind, sir, I would rather finish it before you see it. You see . . . "

"Quite. What's the matter with you father?"

"Paternal curiosity, I think. I'm to find my own feet, or go into business."

"Of course, you're young, but youth doesn't matter. Look at Arlen and Margaret Kennedy. It's youth's day. What's your idea?"

"To live on short stories and articles until my novel . . . "

"You believe in it, do you?"

"I do, sir. It's not conceit. I believe I have the stuff in me."

Richmond returned to his chair.

"Look here, Pybus, you must promise me that I shall see the whole of that novel, say, by the end of September."

"I think I can do it. It's very good of you."

"Rot. It's my business. And write me three short stories. If I like them I'll start you with an order for two a month, at eight guineas apiece. Our magazines eat up stories by the hundred."

"It really is awfully good of you, sir."

"Hold on. Wait till you see whether I like your tales, my lad. If they turn out as good as those London sketches of yours, you'll like me."

Washington Seminary Celebrates Golden Anniversary Today

In celebration of Washington Seminary's golden anniversary, the student body of this popular girls' school will present a historical pageant this afternoon at 5 o'clock on the school campus. The pageant will begin with a brilliant processional in which a large number of Washington Seminary alumnae will participate. Events illustrating the history of the school during the past 50 years will be depicted by colorful dances symbolic of progress, education, goodwill, love, friendship, etc. The occasion will close with the singing of the school's alma mater and will be followed by a reception which will assemble several hundred prominent Atlantans including parents of students and members of the alumnae association.

The celebration inaugurates the series of interesting affairs attendant upon commencement week at which members of the 1928 senior class will be honor guests.

Bryan-Winn Wedding Solemnized At Beautiful Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Louise Bryan and Courtland S. Winn, Jr., was solemnized at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, May 17, at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bryan, 110 Fifth street. The Rev. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of relatives and friends.

The lovely bride, who entered with her father, J. H. Bryan, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, J. R. Smith. Her natural beauty was enhanced by her lovely wedding dress of pale gray chiffon, fashioned with slightly bloused waist and graceful skirt of uneven hemline, which was artistically combined with touches of pale gray lace. The long sleeves and becoming V neck line were features of the lovely model. The whole was offset with a rhinestone ornament at the waist. A charming hat of delicate gray straw completed the lovely ensemble. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Bryan, mother of the bride, wore a model of cream-colored chiffon offset with a shoulder bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Courtland S. Winn, mother of the groom, was lovely in an artistically draped model of delicate blue chiffon, artistically combined with touches of rose. She wore a shoulder bouquet of yellow rosebuds. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home.

The young couple left afterward for a two weeks' trip to Asheville, N. C., after which they will make their home at 878 Rock Springs road, Morningside.

Miss Carmichael and Mr. Tucker Wed at Beautiful Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Alice Carmichael and Frank Blackburn Tucker was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hugh Carmichael, on the North Decatur road, the occasion assembling a large number of prominent Atlantans. Dr. Wade H. Boggs, pastor of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, performed the impressive ceremony which was preceded by a musical program rendered by Mrs. W. M. Gertman at the piano and Miss Mary Emma Phillips, violinist. Mrs. Thomas Campbell sang "My Thoughts Are You" and "O Perfect Love."

The attendants descended the broad stairway through an aisle of tall floor baskets filled with Easter lilies and ferns into the living room where the marriage rites were read. The bridal party stood before the wide mantel, which was banked with palms that extended across the entire length of the room.

Wedding Attendants.

Miss Katherine Lott and Miss Margaret Whittle, who acted as bridesmaids, entered first, descending the stairs singly. They were gowned alike in costumes of pink tulle posed over pink taffeta. The skirts were fashioned with uneven hemlines and close-fitting bodices. They carried bouquets of pink sweetpeas, pink roses, yellow rosebuds, pink and yellow snapdragons.

Miss Evelyn Carmichael, sister of the bride, entered next and wore a gown like those worn by the bridesmaids. A fluffy pink tulle bow trimmed the left shoulder of the attractive costume, the ends of the tulle extending to the bottom of the skirt. She carried a bouquet of lavender sweetpeas, yellow roses and pink snapdragons tied with lavender satin ribbon. Miss Frances Carmichael, another sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid, and was a dainty figure wearing a frock of pink taffeta and pink tulle made in tiers of ruffles. She carried a bouquet like those carried by the bridesmaids.

Little Lorraine Pritchard, who acted as flower girl, preceded the bride. She wore a frock of shell pink chiffon and carried a small basket of pink sweetpeas and pink roses, the basket handle being tied with pink satin ribbon.

The bride was joined at the bottom of the stairway by her father, Samuel Hugh Carmichael, who gave her in marriage. Her exquisite blonde beauty was enhanced by her beautiful wedding gown of lustrous white satin fashioned with a close-fitting bodice and a full skirt of misty white tulle ruffles posed over the satin. An inserted white satin panel in the front of the skirt was elaborately embroidered in seed pearls. A similar design embroidered in tiny pearls trimmed the front and back of the satin bodice. Her bridal veil of tulle and lace was arranged to her hair 'n cap effect and confined to the back of her head by sprays of orange blossoms. The bride carried an exquisite lace kerchief which her mother carried at her wedding and which is a valuable heirloom in the bride's family.

The bride's bouquet was made of bride's roses and valley lilies showered with valley lilies and narrow white satin ribbons.

Elaborate Reception.

An elaborate reception followed the ceremony at which Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael were assisted in receiving by members of the bridal party and Mrs. A. W. Walker, Jr., Mrs. D. F. Carmichael and Mrs. E. A. Stephens. Among those assisting in entertaining were Mrs. H. H. Askew, Mrs. Warren Candler, Mrs. George E. Knott and Mrs. Asa Lemons.

Mrs. F. M. Barfield was in charge of the bride's book. Mrs. Hugh Carmichael wore an attractive gown of apricot colored chiffon lavishly beaded in crystals. Her shoulder bouquet was of sweetheart roses and valley lilies.

Mr. Tucker and his bride left in the late evening for a wedding trip to North Carolina and upon their return they will make their home in Atlanta. The bride's traveling costume was a smart model fashioned of navy blue Elizabeth crepe and she wore a small felt hat to match.

Hapeville O. E. S. To Hold Meeting.

Hapeville chapter No. 179, O. E. S. meets Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic temple at Hapeville, in celebration of its eighth birthday. Honor guests of the evening will be: Mrs. Julia J. Turner, past grand matron of Georgia; W. H. McLaren, past grand patron of Georgia and the Worthy Patrons club of Atlanta.

Miss Shewmake Honors Miss Eleanor Gay.

Miss Anna Harriett Shewmake was hostess at a tea Thursday at her home on West Peachtree street, in compliment to Miss Eleanor Gay, a lovely bride-elect.

Sixteen guests were invited to this delightful affair.

Nobody Loves a Skinny Woman!

Gain pounds of weight and strength in 3 weeks with new YEAST and IRON—or pay nothing

Get a Lovely Skin for an Ugly One

"Gained 20 Pounds!"

"When I started taking Ironized Yeast a month ago I weighed only 90 pounds and could hardly drag myself around. Today I weigh 110 pounds and I feel fine. Best of luck to Ironized Yeast, say I."—Mrs. C. S., Hattiesburg, Miss.

Folks are amazed at Ironized Yeast. They see 5 to 15 pounds gained in 3 weeks! Skinny limbs covered with rounded, graceful flesh! Ugly hollows in shoulders filled up! Eyes sparkling with health. They ask—how does Ironized Yeast work so quickly?

How Ironized Yeast Builds Quick Flesh and Health

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

If you are underweight, nervous or tired, you need Ironized Yeast. Start it today. It does not cause gas or bloating. Safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs. Pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle.

Try It on "Money Back" Offer

Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If not delighted, get your money back. If inconvenient to buy from the druggist, send $1.00 direct to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—©I. BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

THE SCANDAL GROWS.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Of things that sprout and swiftly grow,
A scandal leads all that I know.
—Old Mother Nature.

While all the birds of the Old Orchard were doing their best to drive away Black Pussy the Cat, Sally Sly the Cowbird was chuckling to herself. She had slipped into the nest of Sweet Voice the Vesper Sparrow, left an egg with the three that were already in the nest, and slipped out again without being seen. She didn't stop to join the others in driving Black Pussy away. Instead she flew away to the Old Pasture, where she joined some others of her family.

When at last Black Pussy had sneaked out of the Old Orchard and disappeared under Farmer Brown's barn, all the feathered folk returned to their homes. Perhaps you can guess how Mrs. Sweet Voice felt when she looked in her nest and discovered four eggs there instead of the three she had left. In an instant she knew what had happened. The new egg was half again as big as any of hers.

"It's Sally Sly's!" cried she. "Sally Sly stole in here while we were driving Black Pussy away. Oh, dear, oh dear! Now I suppose I shall have to raise Sally Sly's baby for her."

"Nothing of the sort!" declared Sweet Voice. Usually there is no gentler person than Sweet Voice, but now he spoke fiercely. "Nothing of the sort!" he declared again. "Just you let me get in there, my dear, and I'll settle the matter of this egg! I'll kick it out! That's what I'll do, I'll kick it out!"

"But you might make a mistake and kick out one of our own eggs," declared timid little Mrs. Sweet Voice. "That wouldn't do at all, my dear. I think the best thing is to let it remain." She said this in such a decided way that Sweet Voice knew it was of no use to argue.

Of course, the news was soon all through the Old Orchard and everybody was talking about it. It was a scandal, and you know everybody loves to talk over scandals. Little Friend the Song Sparrow and his cousin, Sweet Voice the Vesper Sparrow, talked the matter over between them, but they couldn't reach any decision as to what should be done. Meanwhile all their friends and neighbors wondered who would be the next victims. They didn't have long to wait. The very next morning Redeye the Vireo brought the news that there was an egg of Sally Sly's in his nest and that Mrs. Redeye was very much upset.

"What did you leave your nest unguarded for?" demanded Kitty the Catbird. "It seems to me it was very careless and foolish of you."

"We can't either of us think when the nest was unguarded," replied Redeye sorrowfully. "We do have to eat, you know, just the same as the rest of you. When Mrs. Redeye goes to eat I take her place. I can't remember a single moment when one or the other of us was not at that nest. Yet there must have been and Sally Sly took advantage of it."

There had been and Redeye had forgotten it. A butterfly had passed—a very tempting butterfly. It had passed very near to Redeye and the temptation was more than he could resist. He had chased that butterfly and it had taken him a couple of minutes to catch it. When he had returned he hadn't noticed that there was an extra egg in the nest. Mrs. Redeye would have noticed, but Redeye didn't.

The day after Sally Sly had imposed on Mr. and Mrs. Redeye, Mr. and

"Just you let me get in there, my dear, and I'll settle the matter of this egg."

Mrs. Sunshine the Yellow Warblers were the victims. Blacky the Crow had visited the Old Orchard and there was strong suspicion that he was looking for eggs. The result was that all the feathered folk had turned to drive Black away. It was then that Sally Sly made the most of her opportunity. Sally is nothing if not an opportunist.

Music Club Holds Final Meeting.

The Atlanta Music club presented Wednesday the final program of the season with the "Forum Series" under the splendid leadership of Mrs. DeLos Lemuel Hill, the general chairman, at the home of Mrs. Henry C. Heinz. The programs followed closely to the national authorized text, "Epochs in Musical Progress," being both educational and entertaining.

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, who succeeds herself as the president, talked briefly of the affairs of the club for next season, explaining that there would be but one membership fee with the price varying, $15 and $10, according to the location of seat, all concerts to be housed at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium, with every seat reserved. It is urged that deposits be made immediately, as the concert course will be selected, according to an exact budget determined by the number of members. Suggestions of the artists are invited. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Hill will direct the "concert course." Miss Nana Tucker, first vice president, will be chairman of the morning musicales, and Mrs. Hill will again be chairman of the forum series. The "Music Poster" will be edited by Miss Helen Knox Spain.

The program was opened with a paper read by Mrs. Hill, subject, "Three Hundred Years of Music in America." A chorus of fifty voices from the I. N. Ragsdale public school led the singing of the national club song, "America the Beautiful." The boys and girls formed a picturesque tableau standing on the majestic stairway. With clear diction and beautiful shading they sang a group of Indian and negro songs, giving as an encore "Dixie." Miss Ida Hurtel is the director of the chorus and with the aid of Miss Fannie Spahr, the principal, and Miss Kate Harralson, supervisor of music in the public schools.

Mrs. Hill gave an interesting reading of a group of piano numbers by John Alden Carpenter, I. M. Mayer and Edward MacDowell, responding with "In a Deep Wood," by MacDowell. Louisa Wicker Allensworth sang selections by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach Riker and Harriet Ware. Her encore was "Hills," by Frank La Forge. Elinor Whittemore King, violinist, again built great favor with her audience by playing an Indian suite by Burleigh, negro spirituals arranged by White and closing with that delightful piece of Garnder's "From the Canebrake," which she was forced to repeat as the final encore.

The club will not maintain an executive office under a paid executive secretary next year. After May 31, the office now located at 1150 Peachtree street, N. E., will be closed and all club business will be conducted at Mrs. Moore's residence, 63 Eleventh street, N. E.

Seminary Girls To Plant Garden.

The students of the Washington seminary in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversy of their school have adopted the plan of beautifying the lower portion of the campus when this year's pageant "The Spirit of Progress," will be given. It will be the golden anniversary garden and in its making every girl has contributed through her class.

Dance Series At West End Club.

Mrs. Jeff Wright, second vice president, invites the younger dancing set to attend the regular Saturday evening dance to be given at the West End Woman's club, 1100 Cascade avenue. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock.

Miss Laura Johnston will act as hostess with a special group of young ladies selected to assist on the reception committee. Arrangements have been made with the newly elected officers to continue these dances throughout the summer under charge of Mrs. Chester Johnson, the newly elected president.

St. Philip's Aid To Serve Dinner.

The ladies' aid of St. Philip's cathedral will serve a chicken dinner at their lunch room, 112 East Hunter street, Friday, May 18, from 12 to 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. P. H. Jeter Is Honored at Reception.

Honoring Mrs. P. H. Jeter, former state president of Georgia Congress of Mothers, the DeKalb P.-T. A. entertained at a reception Thursday at the Decatur Woman's club.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Richards were the school superintendents, the school principals, the past and present presidents of the local P.-T. A.'s. All the P.-T. A. workers of the fifth district were invited and Mrs. Joe Dan Miller, new state president, was present.

Those assisting Mrs. Richards in receiving the several hundred guests were Mesdames Wellington Stephenson, Roy Jones, A. F. Woodruff, R. N. Fulton, W. H. Bowen, A. G. McLennon, W. M. Kell, Schley Howard, J. M. Lennard, T. O. Johnson, M. W. Cowan, Max Flynn, Mark White, J. A. Campbell, Van Devender, J. A. Borg and Messrs. Lamar Ferguson, Amsler, Whit Williams, H. C. Parker, Carreker, Barnes and Whitenberg and others of the school officials.

Junior Hadassah To Give Reception.

The Atlanta chapter of Junior Hadassah will honor their mothers and members of Senior Hadassah at a reception to be given at the Jewish Women's club May 20 at 3 o'clock. A beautiful program has been arranged for the occasion. This is the last affair to be given by the chapter before closing activities for the summer month.

Mrs. Manzel Speaks Sunday Afternoon.

Robert Bryan Harrison will present Mrs. Addaleua Manzel at 3 o'clock Sunday, May 20, at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Manzel will discuss "The Power of Imagination."

A beautiful musical program will be presented under the direction of J. Gordon Moore, including ensemble singing and vocal solos.

Ladies' Aid Plans Fish Fry.

The Ladies' Aid society of the East Atlanta Christian church will sponsor a fish fry at 11 o'clock Saturday at Grant park during the lunch hour and also during the supper hour.

HOUSE IN FLAMES, BABY'S SCREAMS AROUSES FAMILY

Aroused early Thursday morning by the cries of her one-year-old daughter, Mildred, Mrs. W. T. Rogers, of 663 Tenth street, awoke to find her home filled with smoke and flames menacing the lives of the occupants. Seizing her baby and rousing another daughter, Mamie, 19, she rushed for the safety of the street. When going through the front door she stumbled and sustained what later proved to be a broken ankle. Dragged away from the house by neighbors she and her daughters were forced to watch the total destruction of their home, firemen finding the flames beyond control when they were called to the scene.

Two other children, Peggy, 4, and Frances, 6, were asleep at the home of their aunt, Mrs. J. B. Steele, who lives nearby. It is thought that the blaze may have originated in a back room in which a lamp had been left burning. Mrs. Rogers estimated her loss in household goods at $300.

COURT OF APPEALS GRANTS NEW TRIAL TO ELISHA SPIVEY

A new trial was granted Thursday by the state court of appeals for Elisha Spivey, convicted of manslaughter in Coffee superior court and sentenced to 8-12 years' imprisonment following the killing of John Wiggins in that county on May 4 of last year.

The motion for new trial, overruled by the trial court, alleged that the court had improperly asked certain questions of a witness, "leaving the impression with the jury that the court discredited the defense." The court of appeals reversed the lower court in denying the motion.

WOMAN IS INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILE CLIMBS SIDEWALK

Miss Georgia Anderson, 831 Dalney avenue, was treated at Grady hospital Thursday afternoon after she had received a fracture of the left leg and minor bruises when a car driven by Mrs. O. W. Rushin, 630 Spring street, climbed the curb on State street, near Sixth, striking her as she walked along the sidewalk.

According to police reports, Mrs. Rushin was driving north on State street and had turned out to pass a wagon when she saw a car southbound on State directly in front of her. In attempting to avoid striking the oncoming car she swerved her car sharply to the left, going over the curb and striking Miss Anderson.

Mrs. Rushin is charged with reckless driving. Call Officers T. C. Watkins and V. N. Whitley investigated the case.

BLAND OF STEWART COUNTY WILL RUN FOR GEORGIA HOUSE

Lumpkin, Ga., May 17.—D. G. Bland, of Lumpkin, has announced his candidacy for representative from Stewart county to the general assembly of Georgia, subject to the democratic primary to be held next September 12.

Mr. Bland is a resident of this county, having moved here a number of years ago from Juliette, Ga. He is well known throughout the state as a lumber manufacturer and is a member of the firm of Alexander & Bland, of Lumpkin.

Near East Relief Workers Prepare For Drive Opening

A successful meeting of the women workers in the Near East relief campaign was held Thursday afternoon at the chamber of commerce, when they were instructed in regard to the street sale of the golden rulers to be held Saturday.

Dr. N. R. High Moor talked briefly on the Near East relief and the great need of the orphans of the world war was brought out to such an extent that the workers were fired with enthusiasm for the cause of the children left destitute.

The workers were assigned stations and were told that all supplies for the sale, including the tags like miniature golden rulers, and the boxes for the donations could be had at the office of the Atlanta organization at 100 Thrower building at any time Friday or Saturday.

The Near East relief organization is directly responsible to congress for all money received and disbursed. These funds are expended in feeding, clothing and educating the thousands of orphans left by the Turkish massacres. Each child is taught a trade before being dismissed from the care of the American organization so that they are fully self-supporting. More than 30,000 such children still need the help of the committee.

Scores of girls and women will offer the little golden rulers to the public Saturday from all prominent street corners and in the office buildings.

REV. HARRIS E. KIRK.

Columbia Theological seminary, presented a gavel made of wood from the old buildings of the seminary when it was located at Columbia, S. C., and from the new buildings at Decatur, Ga., where is was relocated recently. The Columbia seminary is celebrating its centennary this year and many of the visitors to the assembly are here also for the anniversary celebrations.

Reports of the secretaries on religious education, committee on church publication, Christian stewardship, men's work and women's work committees were made at the night session.

Missions Emergency Met.

The report on foreign missions made in the afternoon showed that, as a result of an urgent appeal for funds made during the past year, the emergency had been met and the debt of the foreign mission committee reduced from $290,000 to $132,000. The report showed that while there had been great disruption of the mission work of the denomination in China because of the civil war which is raging there, many of the missionaries are still at their stations and others, who have been forced to seek sanctuary in port cities, are making trips as frequently as possible to their interior stations.

On the other hand, the report of the committee on home missions showed a heavy falling off in contributions to this cause, with a steady decrease in financial support for the past two or three years.

An appeal for a special fund of $125,000 to aid in restoration and relief work in the flood regions of the lower Mississippi valley, resulted in subscriptions of slightly less than $30,000, it was shown.

The home mission report, however, showed splendid results from a spiritual standpoint.

The report of the committee on Christian education and ministerial relief was presented to the assembly but not read, the secretary stating that he would make his appeal proper at the Monday night session.

Special committees to pass upon the report of the committee on the assembly's work, presented Thursday afternoon by its chairman, the Rev. Ernest Thompson, D. D., of Charleston, W. Va., were named at the conclusion of the afternoon session.

Dr. Thompson's report was extensive and complete in its analysis of the coordinated work of the different departments of the assembly and was furnished all commissioners in pamphlet form.

Among important recommendations was one for an investigation of advisability of relocating all executive and promotional agencies of the assembly at one central plant, with a view to great economy and efficiency.

A budget of $3,000,000 for the year was recommended, which is a slight in[illegible] of 19[illegible]. This would be divided as follows:

Foreign missions, 53 per cent; home missions, 28 per cent; Christian education and ministerial relief, 13 1-2 per cent; religious education, 3 1-2 per cent; general assembly's training school, 1 per cent, and Bible cause, 1 per cent.

Auxiliary's Name Changed.

It was also recommended that, in the future, the woman's auxiliary of the church shall be known as the department of woman's work.

Church rules regarding divorce and the remarriage of divorced persons; withdrawal from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America on the ground that the organization has "radical tendencies;" closer relations with the northern Presbyterian church; publication of patent medicine advertisements in church papers, and relocation of the Presbyterian Historical society, now at Montreat, N. C., are among important matters which are to be presented to the assembly during its sessions here.

Harsh criticism of the Presbyterian committee of publication, of Richmond, and its secretary, R. E. Magill, for recommending two books written by Harry Emerson Fosdick, one entitled "The Meaning of Service," and the other "Twelve Tests of Character," is contained in a request from the Harmony Presbytery, of South Carolina, that the assembly "reprove them, in no uncertain terms."

Publications Recommended.

Other publications recommended for mission study by the foreign mission commission are criticized in a communication from the central Mississippi Presbytery. The race question is touched upon in this complaint when sections of a book entitled "New Paths for Old Purposes," are quoted which say "I plead for equal treatment of all races without any qualification whatever, because I see that this is the only way to evangelize the world." Another citation from the book quotes Willis J. King, an American negro, as saying: "Our foreign missionary enterprise must absolutely fail unless you can solve this race problem here at home because you bump into it all the way around the world."

The same book again is attacked for what is declared to be a criticism of the American government when it states "It is hard to preach the gospel of love, the gospel of a common Heavenly Father, and at the same time have gunboats in port to shoot up these our brothers if they mistreat us." This, it is said, refers to the protection by United States gunboats of missionaries at Nanking.

F. T. ALLGOOD, ATLANTA, NOT PARTY INDICTED

Fred T. Allgood, of 436 Holderness street, has asked The Constitution to state that he is not the Fred Allgood, of Marietta, who was indicted for embezzlement in a Fulton county court some days ago. Mr. Allgood says that some confusion, due to the similarity of names, has arisen.

Emory Glee Club To Give Last Concert Here Tonight

:: RAGSDALE SENDS GREETINGS TO LONDON ::

Referring to the Emory Glee club's farewell pre-European concert as "an event unsurpassed by any other musical occasion save Atlanta's annual week of grand opera," Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Thursday proclaimed Friday night as "Emory Night" and called upon the people of Atlanta to give the singers a rousing send-off on their mission as ambassadors of goodwill across the Atlantic.

The mayor also congratulated Byron Warner, who will be the guest soloist at the concert, upon being the first Atlanta tenor to study successfully for a career as a grand opera star. Mr. Warner has been studying in Italy for three years and will make his debut there next fall.

In an official communication to the Lord Mayor of London, by whom the Emory boys will be received again upon their second visit to England, Mayor Ragsdale wrote:

"In 1926 the Emory Glee club, of Emory university, Atlanta, Ga., made the first European tour undertaken by any southern university glee club. Glowing accounts of the reception accorded the singers in England appeared in press reports describing the visit.

"The club has accepted invitations for a return visit, and will sail in June for the British Isles.

"The people of Atlanta, and of the entire south, are proud of the wonderful glee club of Emory. Its appearance in concert here is an event looked forward to with interest unsurpassed by any other musical occasion save Atlanta's annual week of grand opera.

"I wish to convey the greetings of the people of Atlanta, and to express the hope that the present tour of 'the south's sweetest singers' may surpass even the triumphs of their former visit."

The program for the farewell concert, as announced by Dr. M. H. Dewey, the director, calls for three groups of solos by Mr. Warner, the guest soloist. The first will be an aria from "La Boheme," in which he is to make his operatic debut. As a grand finale, the soloist, assisted by the entire glee club and orchestra, will give the dashing finale from the ever-popular "Il Trovatore."

Negro spirituals, for which the club is especially famous in this country and in Europe and of which it has made Victor records, will include "Deep River," "Steel Away," "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray" and as many more as the audience wants, to quote Dr. Dewey.

Ed Kane, tenor, and George Baker, baritone, two popular soloists, will make their final Atlanta appearance with the club in this concert, as both are seniors.

The ticket sale will continue at the Cable Piano company until 6 o'clock tonight. The curtain will rise at 8:30 o'clock.

BAST UNFROCKED BY METHODISTS

Kansas City, May 17.—(AP)—Bishop Anton Bast, of Copenhagen, today was unfrocked as a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church by an ecclesiastical court which found him guilty of imprudent conduct with Mrs. Ellen Vedel, wife of a Danish government official, and with converting to his own use profits of a magazine published in connection with his church work.

The court's verdict was reported to the quadrennial general conference of the church in session here as a matter of information, no action by the governing body being necessary.

Bishop Bast was continued in church membership and the ministry and the 17 ministers who tried him recommended that the episcopacy committee of the general conference make adequate provisions for his support until the annual Denmark conference meeting soon.

The three specifications on which the bishop was found guilty were not read to the conference by Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of Pittsburgh, the trial judge, in announcing the verdict.

RED MEN WILL HOLD SCHOOL ON SATURDAY

The fourth semi-annual spring convention of the Atlanta District school of Instructions, Improved Order of Red Men, will be held here at the wigwam, 160 Central avenue, S. W., Saturday afternoon and night, according to an announcement Thursday by R. C. McCall, Jr., general chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The Atlanta District School of Instructions is composed of the tribes of Red Men in Atlanta, Smyrna, Newnan, Griffin, Lithonia, Milstead, Thomaston, Austell and Augusta and more than 500 delegates are expected to attend the meeting from tribes located in these cities. Several hundred will be in attendance from the north Georgia division as guests of the Atlanta division. The purpose of these meetings, which were inaugurated three years ago, is to hold degree contests and to promote social features of the order.

TRADING IS DULL IN BOND MARKET

DAILY BOND AVERAGES.

	Thurs.	Wed.
10 first grade rails	96.98	97.18
10 secondary rails	99.23	99.28
10 public utilities	98.86	98.91
10 industrials	101.60	101.72
Combined average	99.17	99.27
Combined month ago	99.52
Combined year ago	97.70

Total bond sales (par value), $10,826,000.

New York, May 17.—(AP)—Movement of time money rates to the highest level since 1923 and expectations of an increase in the New York Federal reserve rediscount rate, realized after the close, made trading dull in the bond market today, with prices easier. Virtually the only feature was the decline of United States government obligations.

Third and Fourth Liberty 4 1-4s dropped to new lows for the year, the third at 100.3 and the fourth at 102.13. Treasury 3 3-8s and 4s moved to the year's minimum and the 3 3-4s bill to a new year's low of 101.24.

Similar Declines.

Similar declines were general in the industrial group. Anaconda Copper 7s slumped more than 3 points and Andes nearly 2. Bethlehem Steel convertible 6s, International Telephone and Telegraph debenture 4 1-2s and Remington 5 1-2s with warrants also were prominent in the decline. Such recent leaders in the advances, Liquid Carbonic convertible 6s and Kayser & Co. 5 1-2s, declined 3 and about 2 points, respectively.

American Agricultural Chemical corporation refunding 7 1-2s, which have been called for redemption August 1, and American Telephone and Telegraph sinking fund 5s, responding to strength of the stock resulting from proposed increase in capitalization, moved upward against the trend.

Others Advance.

Atlantic Gulf and West Indies also advanced, reaching a new year's maximum at 82 1-2.

Rails and New York Traction issues joined the downward movement. Outstanding among the generally easier utilities were New York Gas, Electric Light, Heat and Power 4s, which gained a point.

The foreign list held fairly steady, with Italian industrials again strong. Fiat 7s with warrants touched a new top at 116 and Pirelli 7s moved up 2 points to a new high at 111.

COOPERATIVE COTTON BODY URGED IN SOUTH

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The creation of a huge cotton cooperative marketing association to embrace the entire south was proposed today to the house agriculture committee by S. Odenheimer, of New Orleans, representing the Louisiana state agricultural department as a method for the planter to control the prices for the product.

Such a cooperative organization could pool the nation's cotton crop, he declared, and "run the speculators out of business." The association should hold a meeting each month to fix the price, he proposed, and thus maintain a stabilized price throughout the year.

C. B. Howard, of Atlanta, Ga., general sales manager of the American Cotton Growers' exchange, advocated the legislation, declaring that cotton was the only commodity in which the net weight system was not used and that the lack of this system worked a hardship on the farmers.

BROKERS' LOANS SHOW INCREASE FOR PAST WEEK

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York federal reserve member banks for the week ending May 16 amounted to $4,502,044,000, the federal reserve board announced today, comparing with $4,361,108,000 the preceding week.

Money Market.

New York, May 17.—Call money stronger, high 6, low 5½, ruling rate 5½, closing bid 6; time loans firmer; mixed collateral, 60-90 days 5½@5¾; 4-6 months 5¼@5¾; prime mercantile paper 4½. Bankers' acceptances unchanged.

Great Britain demand 487¼; cables 488; 60-day bills on banks 484 5-16.

France demand 3.93½; cables 3.93¾. Italy demand 5.26½; cables 5.27¼. Belgium demand 13.95. Germany demand 23.91¼. Holland demand 40.33. Norway demand 26.78. Sweden demand 26.82¼. Denmark demand 26.82. Switzerland demand 19.27¼. Spain demand 16.77. Greece demand 1.30. Poland demand 11.25. Czecho-Slovakia demand 2.96¼. Jugo-Slavia demand 1.76. Austria demand 14.10. Rumania demand .62. Argentina demand 42.71. Brazil demand 12.02. Tokyo demand 46.48. Shanghai demand 6.00. Montreal demand 99.52 3-16.

Bar silver 60; Mexican dollars 46¼.

London, May 17.—Bar silver 27 5-8d per ounce; money 3 5-8 per cent; discount rates—short bills 3 7-8c 15-16 per cent; three months 3 15-16 per cent.

Sugar.

New York, May 17.—Although there was not much activity in raw sugar today the undertone was firmer, with offerings light. Prices advanced 1-16 of a cent to the basis of 4.40 on a sale of 35,000 bags of Porto Rican, due Monday.

Reflecting the steadier tone in the spot market, raw futures were higher, but there was only moderate trade, with operators still inclined to limit operations and await developments. The market opened 1 point lower to 1 point higher and sold 2 to 3 points above the previous close on covering and a little trade buying which probably represented the taking in of hedges against sales in the spot market. Demand was soon supplied, however, and partial setbacks followed under selling by commission houses, with final prices 1 to 2 points net higher. Approximate sales, 15,350 tons. May closed 2.59; July, 2.71; September, 2.82; December, 2.90; January, 2.83; March, 2.78.

Refined showed no change of consequence the trade again being inclined to limit purchases to near-by requirements. Prices were unchanged at 5.95 to 6.00 for fine granulated.

Flour.

Minneapolis, May 17.—Flour 10 cents lower; in carload lot; family patents quoted at 8.45@8.55 a barrel in 98-pound cotton sacks. Shipments 36,190 barrels.

CAPT. SCHAUFELE, WORLD WAR VET, TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Captain Turner F. Schaufele, of Atlanta, who died Wednesday at the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Oteen, N. C., will be held this afternoon at Dublin, Ga. Captain Schaufele was a veteran of the world war, serving overseas as captain of the quartermaster corps, and also served on the Mexican border.

Captain Schaufele was a resident of Atlanta, and connected with the Atlanta Trust company until a short time before his death, moving here from Dublin in 1922.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

Stock market gives early exhibition of great strength. Airplane issues continue to rise. New high is set in brokerage loans.

New York, May 17.—(Special.)—Considering that one-half of yesterday's high record turnover in the stock market occurred in the last two hours in the heaviest wave of selling yet witnessed in this unprecedented phase of our prolonged bull stock market early in the trading today gave a wonderful exhibition of strength.

General Motors, closing at 198 1-4 opened at 198, dropped to 197, and by noon was up to 199 1-2. Steel common, opening at 145 1-2, down 1-2, advanced to 146 3-4. Radio, closing at 189 1-2, opened at 190 and advanced to 192. Wright closing at 219 1-2 after yesterday's sensational advance and decline, opened at 213 and advanced to 229. Curtiss, unchanged at 150, dropped to 149 1-2 and then jumped to 165 1-2. American Telephone, on the announcement of the offering of $185,000,000 stock to shareholders with rights figured closed to $15 a share, advanced $15 a share in the early trading today.

Brokers' Loans High.

Another new high in brokerage loans and an advance in the New York rediscount rate to 4 1-2 per cent came after the close of the market. It was thought in some quarters that the rise in the rate would help the stock market, in that the list would rise now that the bad news was out. Moreover, the advance, it was said, would attract funds from the outside.

In banking circles, however, the prediction was made that it was only a question of time until firmer money based on the higher rate would check the market.

There was some support at the opening of the stock market, as is always the case after a severe break, but there was also a flood of buying orders from all parts of the country.

The net result of today's opening and early trading from the viewpoint of the big outside public now speculating in the stock market was just one more illustration that no serious break in prices was possible; that stocks should be bought on all weak spots; that the sky is the limit.

Margins Are Watched.

Despite today's early recovery in the stock market some Wall street houses watched margins closer than before and in other ways drew a tighter line, believing that yesterday's heavy selling of stocks in the last two hours was the beginning of the end of this phase of the prolonged bull market.

Call money again renewed at 5 1-2 per cent and in the noon hour advanced to 6 per cent, checking the recovery in the stock market and slowing down trading to the point where the tape was only three minutes behind the flood against yesterday's 79 minutes. During the first two hours signs were not lacking of further tightening in the time money market. These signs, together with the advance in the call money rate to 6 per cent caused a resumption of selling in the stock market.

GEORGIA BOY PASSES ANNAPOLIS EXAMS

Elberton, Ga., May 17.—Information that John W. McCalla, of Heardmont, has successfully passed the examination for entrance into the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle McCalla, of Heardmont, and was an appointee of Congressman C. H. Brand.

LIONS OF GEORGIA GATHER IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., May 17.—(Special.) Members of the Georgia Lions clubs met here today for the annual convention, heard the reports of District Governor J. O. Partain, of Atlanta, District Secretary Paul P. Blackwell, Atlanta, and the stories of how various clubs in the state have served their communities during the year.

Tonight they were guests of the Athens Lions club at a barbecue and dance at the Athens Country club, where earlier in the afternoon they witnessed an exhibition golf match with Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn of Atlanta, as one of the opposing teams.

House and Senate AppointConferees For Shoals Bill

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The senate today declined to immediately accept the house substitute for its Muscle Shoals bill passed yesterday and asked for a conference to adjust differences with the house.

Chairman McNary, of the agriculture committee, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the senate's government operation measure, and Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, were named conferees for the senate.

Speaker Longworth, as soon as the house convened today appointed five members of the military committee as the house group to confer with a similar senate group in an effort to adjust differences between the two houses on the Norris-Morin bill. Chairman Morin, of the military committee, and Representatives James and Reece, republicans, and Quin and Wright, democrats, were named on the house conference body.

Sinclair Assumes Loss of Company In Teapot Lease

New York, May 17.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair has assumed personally whatever loss the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company may have sustained through its purchase of 25 per cent interest in the Mammoth Oil corporation, organized by Sinclair to hold the Teapot Dome oil leases which have been invalidated by court decree.

He has turned back to the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company 250,000 shares of consolidated stock, with a book value of $7,000,000. This stock was used to purchase a 25 per cent stock interest in the mammoth company, he also returned $400,000 in cash representing dividends on the 250,000 shares of Sinclair stock. Stock of the mammoth corporation, which had an active market career for a time, is now practically worthless.

Atlanta Children Appear in First Of League Plays

"Christopher Robin's Birthday Party," the first of a series of plays to be given by the Junior league, of Atlanta, was presented Thursday afternoon before a large audience in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club. This offering was given, as the others of the series will be, with a view of amusing Atlanta children and also for the purpose of stimulating their imagination and their appreciation of the educational and cultural side of the stage. The acting in all of the series will be done largely by children of Junior league members.

JUDGE JOHN J. PARKER TO ADDRESS TARHEELS

Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., member of the United States circuit court of appeals for the fourth district and highest ranking judicial officer in North Carolina, will be the guest of honor at the meeting Saturday night at the Capital City club of the North Carolina society and will make the principal address, it has been announced by T. B. Higdon, president of the society.

Mr. Higdon stated that the usual meeting date of May 20, which is the anniversary of the signing on May 20, 1775, of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence, will be changed this year to May 19, because May 20 falls on Sunday. He urged that all persons eligible for membership attend the meeting, first notifying the secretary, Miss John Bowie, Grand Opera House building. Eligibility is open to all former residents of North Carolina, whether born in that state or not, explained Mr. Higdon.

SELLING CAUSES BREAK IN GRAIN

Chicago, May 16.—(AP)—Heavy selling by holders of future delivery contracts forced a big break in wheat prices today. Houses with eastern connections led the selling. Beneficial rains both in the American and Canadian northwest, as well as in domestic winter crop territory, were an effective bearish influence.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady, 2 1-4c to 4 1-8c net lower, with corn at 3-4c to 1 1-8c advance, oats 1-8c to 1 1-2c off, and provisions 2c to 22c up.

Sellers in Majority.

Right from the outset, sellers of wheat showed themselves much in the majority, and throughout the day the price rallies which ensued were without power to last. Particular attention was given to improvement indicated for crops in the spring wheat belt, special notice being taken of authoritative trade reports which said that although spring wheat territory requires additional moisture in some places, rains have been sufficient to start seed, and that early sown wheat fields in Minnesota and South Dakota have a good appearance.

Seeding Complete.

It was added that wheat seeding is practically complete in North Dakota and Montana.

Comparative slackness of export demand today for wheat from north America was an additional bearish factor, specifically as appearing to reflect handicaps of Canadians in disposing of their big stock. It is estimated that the amount of north merican wheat bought today for shipment to Europe was not to exceed 500,000 bushels. Meanwhile, deliveries of wheat on Chicago May contracts were again liberal, totaling today 609,000 bushels.

Bearish Influence.

Selling of wheat here against purchases of corn counted also as a bearish influence on wheat.

Corn prices developed notable strength in the face of wheat weakness. Spread trading that consisted of buying of corn and of simultaneous selling of wheat was largely responsible. Receipts of corn continue meager, and talk was current that a big eastern demand for corn all season appears likely. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

CANDIDATES SPEAK AT FOUR MEETINGS

A score of aspirants for positions for which nominations will be made in the city democratic primary made addresses throughout the city Thursday night in behalf of their candidacies for posts on the heels of formal withdrawal of Dr. L. N. Huff from the race for mayor against I. N. Ragsdale, incumbent.

Action of Mr. Huff leaves Mayor Ragsdale unopposed for a second term and assures his nomination.

Construction Race.

Interest in the contests was centered on the contest for chief of construction in which William A. Hansell, incumbent, is opposed by his former first assistant, Clarke Donaldson. This race, according to political observers, is destined to occupy the center of the stage. Both aspirants were on the stump Thursday night.

J. Ben Daniel, Steve C. Glass, J. M. Pirkle and L. D. T. Quinby, candidates for the marshal's post, all spoke or were represented; F. B. Florence, incumbent; Marvin Roane and R. A. McMurray, aspirants for the position of tax collector; R. C. Turner, incumbent, and P. M. Pat Hendricks for city electrician; Ed. A. Gilliam, opposing Alderman J. M. House from the twelfth ward; W. Guy Dobbs, incumbent, and W. C. Jenkins for alderman from the seventh ward; Ben T. Huiet, for alderman from the third ward; William E. Saunders, for council from the twelfth ward; Solon Johnson, for council from the tenth ward, and others, were included in the list who appeared or were represented.

Meetings were held at the Highland Avenue school, the Kirkwood pharmacy, the Ormewood Presbyterian church and Adair park.

In his formal statement of withdrawal Dr. Huff thanked his friends for their proffered support but added he felt Mayor Ragsdale was entitled to a second term.

Ashley's Veto Scored.

The Fifth ward civic league at its regular meeting Thursday night went on record as condemning Mayor Pro-Tem Claude Ashley's action in vetoing the purchase of the DeFoor lot selected for the junior high school to be erected in the Fifth ward, according to announcement made by Miss Eva Mae Green, secretary of the league.

T. H. Buckaley, president of the league, presided at the meeting. A large number of the members said that they would be present at council meeting Monday afternoon, when the matter again will be considered.

BARGE LINE BILL PASSES IN HOUSE DESPITE ATTACKS

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Described as an effort to develop cheap inland waterway transportation for the agricultural industry, the Denison bill to extend the government barge lines upon the tributaries of the Mississippi river was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

The measure was adopted without a record vote and its supporters resisted attempts by a dozen members both to prevent the proposed extension of the service and to enlarge the barge operations to other navigable rivers of the country, including several southern streams.

MAYOR RAGSDALE GOES TO BARBER; LOSES MUSTACHE

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale yielded to the modern trend and shaved his mustache.

City hall employees today await eagerly to see whether Mrs. Ragsdale will carry out her threat to bob her hair as a result of her husband's action.

"I just though it ought to be dobe," was the only comment the mayor made after arriving at his desk at the city hall after the noon hour.

He denied he was celebrating the withdrawal of Dr. L. N. Huff from the race against him as mayor or that the shave was a consideration for the opposition's decision to quit the contest and leave him unopposed in his race for renomination for the second term in the city democratic primary of June 6.

New Orleans, La., May 17.—(AP)—Moderately heavy buying promoted by unfavorable weather and weevil reports was reflected in an advance of approximately $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today. The advance carried October contracts from an opening to 20.31 to 20.80, a gain of 49 points. Some realizing in final trading caused that mon to close at 20.72, or 41 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 35 to 41 points.

The opening was easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than due. First trades showed losses of 3 points to gains of 1 point. Reports of heavy rains in Oklahoma and the Texas Pan-Handle brought out increased demand and July rallied to 20.46, October, 20.44 and December, 20.39, 9 to 13 points above yesterday's close.

The bulge met realizing by recent buyers and prices reacted 5 to 8 points, but the market stiffened later on confirmation of the western rains and reports of weevils in many portions of the belt as well as a warning by a Mississippi entomologist that farmers of that state must expect considerable damage from the pest. While the course of prices was upward there were several minor reactions but at mid-afternoon July touched 20.95, October 20.80 and December 20.74, or 40 to 49 points above the previous close.

There was a renewal of realizing in the final trading and the close was a few points off from the best with July at 20.90, October at 20.72 and December 20.76, or 35 to 41 points net higher for the day.

Port receipts today, 10,473; for week, 72,067; for season, 9,097,201; last season, 12,384,451. Exports today, 28,007; for week, 138,409; for season, 6,592,938; last season, 9,894,223. Port stocks, 1,359,987; last year, 1,754,107. Combined on shipboard, 100,931; last year, 91,700. Spot sales at southern markets, 10,406; last year, 9,911.

WEATHER CAUSES RISE IN COTTON.

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The cotton market was higher today on nervousness over the weather outlook and private reports indicating that boll weevil were beginning to show up in some sections of the belt. July contracts sold up from 20.80 to 21.25, or 44 points net higher, and closed at 21.17, the general market closing steady at net advances of 35 to 42 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points. The market showed signs of hesitation after the call, but some realizing or local selling was absorbed on setbacks or 3 or 4 points. Prices soon firmed up again on reports of showers or rains in the eastern belt and rather an unsettled weather outlook.

Offerings Are Light.

Offerings were light, while buying became somewhat more active during midday, when reports reached here that boll weevil were making an appearance in some sections of Alabama, Georgia and Arkansas.

There was rebuying or covering by early sellers, while demand seemed to broaden out somewhat during the afternoon as prices worked higher without meeting any particular opposition.

May advanced to 21.49 and October to 21.25, or 42 to 49 points above yesterday's closing quotations, before demand tapered off and realizing checked the upward movement. Closing quotations were 6 or 7 points off from the best under realizing.

Rain in Southwest.

The detailed weather reports showed rainfall in Oklahoma and northwest Texas with considerable precipitation at some points, while there were also showers or rains in the eastern belt. The wet weather seemed to encourage the talk of probable boll weevil infestation, which local brokers said, was a more prominent feature in market discussions than previously for some time, and was considered one of the factors on the advance in connection with the uncertainty of further weather conditions.

The government's revised figures on last year's acreage placing the area under cultivation July 1, 1927, at 41,905,000 and the area harvested at 40,138,000 showed only very moderate changes as compared with the estimates of last December and had little or no effect on the market.

Port receipts today 10,473. United States port stocks 1,350,270. Exports 28,007, making 6,780,241 so far this season.

New Orleans, May 17.—The market for cotton oil futures after an easier opening later bulged sharply on an advance in lard and corn and on the firmness in the cotton market. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 10.05, up 10 points, and prime summer crude closed at 9.00. Futures closed strong: May, 10.20; July, 10.30; September, 10.40; October, 10.45; December, 10.50.

New York, May 17.—The cottonseed oil market was quiet today, but the undertone was firmer in late dealings, active months closing 14 to 16 points net higher. Offerings were limited and values responded easily to support from southern interests, locals and refiners, influenced by the firmness in cotton, a sharp recovery in lard and weevil reports from the eastern belt. Sales 7,300 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot 10.40; May closed 10.45, July 10.62; September 10.93; October 10.98; December 10.87.

Seeds.

Toledo, May 17.—Clover seed cash imported 13.50 asked; other seeds unchanged.

CURB MARKET CLOSES LOWER

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The curb market closed lower today after a wild session of unsettled trading during which total sales reached 1,405,600 shares.

Interest centered in trading in American Telephone and Telegraph rights, more than 290,000 of which changed hands, and in stock of the new Transcontinental Air Transportation on a when, as and if issued basis, which had a turnover of more than 40,000 shares. Some 200,000 of the telephone rights changed hands between noon, when they were placed in trading, and 1 o'clock. Prices rose from 14 at the opening to a high for the day at 16 1-8, subsequently slumped to 13 7-8 and moved back to close at above 15.

Air Transport Shares.

A block of 7,000 shares of Transcontinental Air Transportation changed hands at 20 1-2 when trading began at noon. The stock was rapidly bid up to close at the day's high, 28 1-2, or nearly three times the price at which 500,000 shares recently were privately purchased.

Increase of the call money rate to 6 per cent and expectation that the New York Federal Reserve bank would increase its rediscount rate, which actually happened after the close, served to inspire selling movements throughout the day. A few industrial specialties moved upward against the trend, among them Columbia Graphophone, in which a stock split is expected; Brill corporation B, Deere & Co., Henney Motor and others catering to the automotive industry; and Atlas Plywood, Noranda Mining, U. S. Gypsum and others affected by favorable individual developments.

Wagner Electric.

Wagner Electric moved up 35 points to a new high at 120. Aero Supply A and B, active in the advance for the past two days, closed 7 to nearly 10 points lower. Aluminum company, Bahia, most of the chain stores, Niles Bement Pond, and Ford of Canada, declined 2 to 14 points. Fox Theater A closed off about 2 points and General Baking about a half point lower.

American Light and Traction, International Utilities B, Cities Service B, Puget Sound and Standard Power and Light were among the few utilities to resist the selling movement.

Most of the oils also closed lower. Kirby Petroleum, Mexican and a few other low-priced shares held their ground.

GEORGIA COTTON CROP PASSES MILLION BALES

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Revised estimates of last year's cotton crop announced today by the department of agriculture places the area in cultivation July 1 at 49,905,000 acres, the area picked at 40,138,000 acres, the yield of lint cotton per acre at 154.5 pounds and the total of cotton actually picked at 12,955,000 equivalent 500 pound bales. Ginnings of the 1927 crop totaled 12,950,473 equivalent 500-pound bales as announced by the census bureau.

These figures compare with a June 25 area of 48,730,000 acres for the crop of 1926, a harvested area of 47,087,000 acres, a yield of 182.6 pounds of lint per acre and a total production of 17,977,000 equivalent 500-pound bales.

Virginia area picked 64,000; production 31,000.

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The long expected increase in the New York Federal Reserve bank rediscount rate came after the close of a series of bewildering price movements in today's stock market, which left final quotations irregularly higher.

Trading failed to maintain the terrific pace set earlier in the week, the day's sales falling about 1,000,000 shares below yesterday's record-breaking session.

Prices dipped 1 to 6 1-2 points at the opening on the execution of overnight selling orders placed by investors and traders who were alarmed at yesterday's sweeping reaction. These were quickly absorbed and the market headed upward again before the end of the first hour, some of the volatile issues climbing 5 to 15 points.

Wave of Selling.

Another wave of selling swept over the market in the early afternoon when the call money rate was increased from 5 1-2 to 6 per cent and many of these gains were substantially cut down or wiped out. Trading turned dull on the decline and then speculators for the advance took control again and bid up a selected assortment of stocks in spectacular fashion just before the close.

The announcement of a higher rediscount rate was accompanied by the weekly report of federal reserve brokers' loans, which showed an increase of $140,936,008, bring the total to a new high record at $4,502,044,000.

Banks called about $30,000,000 in loans during the day in time money rates were increased from 5 1-8 to 5 1-4 per cent, the highest level since October, 1923.

Wildest Gyrations.

The wildest gyrations took place in the airplane stocks. Wright opened 6 1-2 points lower at 213, soared to 229, broke to 212 1-2 and rallied to 219, off 1-2 a point net. Curtiss opened unchanged at 150, zoomed up to 165 1-2, plunged to 148 3-4 and rallied to 159 3-4, up 9 3-4 net.

American Telephone was in brisk demand throughout the session as a result of the proposed increase of 185,000,000 in capitalization with the issuance of valuable "rights" to shareholders, closing about 12 points higher at 208 1-2 after having established a new high record for all time at 211.

General Motors staged a remarkable comeback in the late trading, rallying from a low of 195 1-8 to 201 7-8 for a net gain of 3 6-8. Radio closed a point higher at 146 3-4 after touching a new low on the present movement at 144 1-2.

Buying Operations.

Special buying operations were apparent in about a dozen stocks.

Ludlum Steel, in which the Fishers are reported to have acquired a large interest coincident with the reported receipt of a large order from the Ford organization, soared nearly 10 points to a record high at 68. Central Alloy Steel ran up to a new high on the announcement of an increase of $7 a ton in Alloy prices. International Harvester, which is reported to have shown a marked increase in its truck and bus business, ran up 11 1-2 points to a new peak at 270, closing at 268 1-2.

New Peaks for Year.

New peak prices for the year, or longer, also were established during the day by American Brown Boveri, American International corporation, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, Butte and Superior, By-Products Coke, Equitable Office Building, International Chemical, Park & Tilford, South Porto Rican sugar and a few others. Collins & Aikman and Vivadou sank to new 1928 lows in reflection of the recent omission of dividends.

Commodity markets were mixed. Wheat declined 2 1-2 to nearly 4 cents a bushel on selling inspired by favorable weather reports. Cotton rallied about $2 a bale on reports of boll weevil infestation. Coffee and sugar quotations showed a little change.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow limits, sterling cables holding steady around $4.88 1-4.

FEDERAL RESERVE IN NEW YORK INCREASES RATES

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today increased its rediscount rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent, placing eight of the 12 federal reserve banks on this basis.

The previous change in the New York rediscount rate occurred on February 3 with an increase from 3 1-2 to 4 per cent. The 3 1-2 per cent rate had been in effect since August, 1927.

Chicago and Boston banks started the movement of the higher rate to 4 1-2 per cent on April 20. Since then rediscount rates have been moved up by banks in Richmond, Dallas, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Philadelphia.

Coffee.

New York, May 17.—Coffee futures were rather irregular today, with near months relatively easy in the case of Rio contracts, which were influenced by the issuance of a few notices. Later deliveries held steady on trade buying or covering. The market for Rio opened 20 points lower to 5 points higher. July sold off to 15.55, but rallied to 15.65, with the close net 10 points lower to 8 points higher. Santos contracts opened 1 to 10 points higher and closed at a net advance of 6 to 15 points. Estimated sales Rio, 34,000; Santos, 23,000. Closing quotations: Rio, May, 15.40; July, 15.65; September, 15.71; December, 15.70; January, 15.70; March, 15.70; May (1929), 15.68. Santos: May, 23.15; July, 22.95; September, 22.80; December, 22.51; January, 22.42; March, 22.35; May (1929), 22.22.

Spot: Firm; Rio 7s, 16½; Santos 4s, 24@24½. Cost and freight offers included Bourbon 3s and 5s at 23.10@23.75.

Owing to the holiday in Brazil there were no quotations from the primary markets. Brazilian port receipts yesterday, 37,000; Jundiahy receipts, 16,000.

AIR LINE RAILWAY OFFICERS RETAIN POSTS ON BOARD

New York, May 17.—(AP)—All officers of the Seaboard Air Line Railway company were reelected today at a meeting of the board of directors with the exception of M. H. Cahill and M. J. Caples. No explanation was forthcoming regarding the omission of these men.

Market Gossip

News and Comment From Wall Street and New York.

FROM LIVINGSTON & CO.

Hornblower & Weeks: Speculation is veering from one group to another in rapid succession and it is something of a question to judge what particular stock or group of stocks will next receive attention. What traders seem wholly disposed to do, however, is to follow activity in stocks and especially if such activity is associated with the names of some of the big operators whose touch is regarded as magic in the way of directing price movements.

Halle & Steiglitz: We still think the most favorable buying opportunities exist in the rail and oil groups and that in the copper group trading opportunities still exist.

Louchheim, Minton & Co.: The rush up in specialties is serving as an excellent cover for distribution elsewhere in the list.

Hirsch, Lilienthal & Co.: The pace is very fast and many issues will probably sell higher, but we regard as a good time to take profits.

Stock Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, May 17.—(Special.)—Great resiliency was again shown in the market this afternoon. Six per cent call money in the early afternoon brought a secondary wave of liquidation but for the first time in the week, the ticker caught up with the market, reflecting that the market still goes dull on reactions.

Pool operations were immediately resumed, particularly in Studebaker, which got above 79 again after selling at 75 in the early afternoon. American Telephone and Telegraph, International Harvester, Kraft Cheese, International Nickel, Murray Body and a number of other specialties all were in heavy demand.

The steels also were featured with Ludlum and Central Alloy, on prospects of their new product, nitralloy, behaving rather sensationally. The pool is working in Bethlehem Steel which acted well.

Following a reaction such as yesterday's the rally today does not indicate that reactionary tendencies are entirely over. Nevertheless, we think that on any setbacks which do occur, a number of issues can be purchased.

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Stocks were forced to absorb another heavy selling movement today. Trading sentiment was in a nervous state owing to the drastic charcter of Wednesdays' setbacks and to fears of another substantial increase in brokers' loans in the statement due after the close.

Professionals were extremely bearish in view of credit conditions and operations for the decline were pushed aggressively. Stop-loss orders were caught in large numbers, adding to the volume of liquidation. New lows on the movement were reached by Steel, General Motors and other industrial leaders, and further sensational declines took place in Wright and Curtiss.

But the selling showed definite indications of drying up by the start of the last hour. Trading decreased in volume and the tape caught up to the market to such an extent that it was possible to print transacions in active issues. This evidence that the force of the downward movement had temporarily been spent caused active short covering in the late afternoon and prices scored good recoveries from the lows.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, May 17.—Today's market opened nervously following record liquidation yesterday. Call of $30,000,000 by the banks sent money rates up to 6 per cent while time money increased to the highest level since 1923.

Liquidation seemed to affect all parts of the list, particularly of course, the recent favorites. The selling, however, was not as furious or disorderly as yesterday and at times during the afternoon there was an appearance of strength which, however, did not continue.

Sympathetic declines in copper and oil stocks in line with the general market decline should be taken advantage of as should present levels in Stewart Warner and Victor Talking Machine. Switching into such stocks from others, as to which more doubt is felt, should in the long run prove a profitable policy.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, May 17.—(Special.)—The selling wave of yesterday continued through most of today's session. Call money went to 6% and time money continued firm. The banks called loans liberally. The public were sellers. At the opening there was almost a complete lack of buying orders from around the country. After money went to 6%, a great deal of weak stock was thrown over. At one time during the day, the tape practically caught up with the market, suggesting a soldout condition. In the last hour some new buying came into the list and the close was strong. Naturally, tomorrow's market will be affected by the broker loan figures and the reserve bank news, but generally speaking, the technical position is much improved. That is to say, if we are to admit conditions of the present speculation, we have seen a normal completed technical setback. If we are going into a real corrective movement why, of course, the present decline is not even substantial enough to be called a beginning.

There was little news. President D. F. Kelley, of The Fair, said that sales and profits for the first quarter of the company's fiscal year were about the same as last year. Equitable Office Building split up its stock four for one and put the new stock on a $2 dividend basis.

Cotton Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, May 17.—(Special.)—The market has given a further demonstration of its sensitiveness to bullish news today. Weevil reports from several sections including South Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana combined with rains in Georgia and Alabama with forecast for showery conditions in the central and eastern belt and weather details showing excessive rain in parts of northwest Texas and Oklahoma, participated a general buying movement which resulted in a net advance of 35 to 40 points. There was considerable replacing by sold-out bulls, extensive covering and continued buying by trade interests with contracts comparatively scarce. It is a weather market for the present and its responsiveness to adverse weather developments suggests the advisability of purchases on all good setbacks, as it will obviously require a considerable period of ideal weather to cause any material decline and the lateness of the crop subjects it to danger of severe weevil damage later on.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, May 17.—The news favored the buyers of cotton today and market scored a good advance. Three days of rains in the northwest, torrential rains in the section during the day, fear that the rains will move eastward and cause a protracted wet spell. Reports of weevil appearing in southern sections and the deduction of nearly 800,000 from last year's acreage by the bureau were the stimulating and uplifting influences. Map shows mostly favorable weather with light showers in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, but Oklahoma had unneeded rains and private wires told of torrential rains at several points in west and northwest Texas.

Rains in the northwest are considered beneficial but there is fear they may be the forerunner of similar weather in the central and eastern states.

The government says only 41,905,000 acres were planted in cotton last year instead of 42,683,000 as originally reported. These figures will be used as the basis for calculating this year's acreage. Consequently the reduction may have an important effect.

The entomologist of the Mississippi A. & M. college says indications point to heavy weevil infestation in that state this year.

The market is more responsive to unfavorable than to favorable news and the tendency is towards higher levels.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, May 17.—An unsatisfactory weather map, showing cool wet weather in the central and eastern belt, and further rains in the west, caused an extremely sharp upturn in the market today.

Contracts as in the past appeared scarce on the upturn. Short covering and replacement buying by recent sellers were the chief factors in the market. Coupled with the bad weather, private reports of young weevil making their appearance in Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas began to reach the market.

The kind of weather the belt is experiencing can be classed as weevil weather and in view of the heavy hibernation last fall with this kind of weather we are bound to hear further complaints as the season progresses. We continue to advise purchases on all setbacks.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: May 11.21; July 11.18.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, May 17.—Due to report of heavy rains in northwest Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas with cloudiness over almost the entire cotton belt, and further unsettled weather forecast for the entire belt, increased concern was felt for the cotton crop, which was expressed in demand. Prices were steady in the morning and strong in the afternoon, at an advance of approximately $2 per bale.

Already reports are coming in to the effect that boll weevils are appearing. Some fear this year's weevil damage will be quite great. It is certainly known that when they work heavily they are the largest consumers of cotton. This knowledge may tend to produce a feeling of sufficient fear to encourage some in the trade to buy now to discount damage.

Today the government revised cotton acreage for 1927 and placed the total at 41,905,000; the crop at 12,955,473 equivalent 500-pound bales and yield per acre 154.5 pounds.

If weather conditions are regarded as unfavorable or fear of boll weevil damage increases, strong prices will result.

October Liverpool due 11.10.

WESLEYAN TO CLOSE ON THURSDAY, MAY 24

Macon, Ga., May 17.—(AP)—Wesleyan college will observe its annual commencement season this year with an elaborate program beginning Thursday evening, May 24, and closing with graduating exercises on Monday evening, May 28, Dr. W. F. Quillian, president, has announced.

Bishop William B. Beauchamp, Atlanta, is scheduled to deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, May 27, with the Rev. A. Frank Smith, of Houston, Texas, making the literary address at the graduating exercises.

Alumnae of the institution from all parts of the country will gather on Monday, May 28, for their annual business meeting, to be followed by a garden party, it was announced.

Salute To Greet Gen. R.H. Allen, To Arrive Today

Thirteen guns will roar in salute this morning when Major General R. H. Allen, chief of infantry, United States army, arrives at Fort McPherson on an inspection trip of the troops at Fort McPherson and the departments of the fourth corps area over which he has jurisdiction.

Three other high ranking officers will greet Major General Allen upon his arrival, these being Major General Richmond Pearson Davis, commander of the fourth corps; Brigadier General Abraham G. Lott, commander of the post, and Brigadier General Frank B. Cocheu, district coast artillery commander.

Due to the fact that the troops of Fort McPherson are holding their annual maneuvers some distance from the fort, it is thought doubtful that there will be any formal review of them by General Allen.

General Allen and the other generals will be the guests of honor at a dinner given by a number of regular army infantry officers at the Atlanta Athletic club at 7 o'clock Saturday night. During his stay in the city General Allen will be the guest of General Lott. Leaving here Monday he will go to Columbus to inspect conditions at Camp Benning.

BILL AUTHORIZES PAYMENT OF DEBT DUE N. C. SINCE 1812

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—A senate bill to authorize the payment to the state of North Carolina of $118,035.69 which the federal government has owed the state since the wars of 1812 and the civil war was approved today by the house judiciary committee.

The sum embraces the value of cotton that was seized by federal troops during the civil war and loans made by North Carolina to the federal government during the war of 1812.

MRS. MYRTLE OWENS WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle M. Owens, who died Wednesday, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the South Side Baptist church. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery, with the J. Austin Dillion & Co. in charge.

DR. POROHOVSKISKOV ENDS LECTURE SERIES

Dr. Pierre Porohovskiskov, formerly of Moscow but now of Atlanta, Wednesday night concluded a series of six lectures on Russia at the residence of Mrs. Charles Loridans, it was announced Thursday. The private lectures concluded with a talk on "Russia of Today and the Future."

CAROL NOW DOMICILED NEAR DINANT, BELGIUM

Brussels, Belgium, May 17.—(AP)—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Rumania, who left England by request, departed for Chateau D'Ardennes, near Dinant, this morning.

You Know a Tonic Is Good

when it makes you eat like a hungry boy and brings back the color to your cheeks. You can soon feel the Strengthening, Invigorating Effect of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. 60c—(adv.)

BENJ. C. YANCEY BURIED AT ROME

Rome, Ga., May 17.—(Special.)—Funeral services were held here today for Benjamin Cudworth Yancey, Rome's last mayor and one of the most prominent citizens of this section of Georgia. The services were conducted from the Yancey residence, the Rev. Dr. R. C. Cleckler, pastor of the First Methodist church, and the Rev. Dr. J. F. Sammons, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Myrtle Hill cemetery.

Mr. Yancey, who was 50 years of age, was the eldest son of Colonel and Mrs. Hamilton Yancey. He was connected with the Rome Cabinet company. From 1912 to 1916 he served as mayor of Rome, being the last mayor of the city, which adopted the commission form of government upon his retirement.

He was graduated as first honor man from the Webb school, of Bell Buckle, Tenn., and received his A. B. and law degrees from the University of Georgia. Death was unexpected and was a result of a sudden attack of angina pectoris. Monday night Mr. Yancey attended a motion picture performance at a downtown theater and apparently was in the best of health.

Tuesday morning he was stricken upon arising and although medical aid both locally and that of Atlanta physicians was summoned, he died early Wednesday morning.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Maude Harris, of Rome; one son, Hamilton Yancey III; his parents and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Sam Hewlett, of Atlanta; Mrs. Austin Clark, of New York; Mrs. J. G. Newton, of Americus; Mrs. Donald B. Gilles, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Hamilton Yancey, Jr., of Americus.

MEDIE M'CLOUD, DOOMED NEGRO, DENIED RETRIAL

Medie McCloud, Bainbridge negro sentenced to electrocution in connection with the killing last October of S. B. Arline, Brainbridge policeman, Thursday was denied a new trial by the state supreme court.

The motion for new trial was based on grounds that the judge of Decatur county superior court, which tried the case, refused to give the jury certain instructions requested by defense counsel. The lower court's action in overruling the motion was sustained by the supreme court, which held that the instructions requested had been "fully covered" in the general charge of judge to jury.

McCloud was convicted of murder on charges of having shot Arline on October 14 of last year, while the latter had the negro in custody, arrested on charges of "disorderly conduct and drunkenness." January 6 was the date originally set for execution.

Keith's Georgia.

Billy House, known as "Big Stuff" House, is the one big stage bet of the week. Holding forth on the stage at Keith's Georgia this week "Big Stuff" keeps the audience roaring with his quips and gags. Formerly a star in musical comedy he has brought to Atlanta one of the most laughable acts seen this year. Two comely maidens dance and cavort in through the act while Jack Allen does a good job at the piano.

Capitol.

The thrilling and gripping drama of the newspaper, "Freedom of the Press," is playing to capacity houses this week at the Capitol theater, in conjunction with a big vaudeville bill. In "Freedom of the Press," Peter B. Kyne, author of the story, tells of the courage and the devotion to duty of a modern newspaper editor, who loses his life because he will not suppress information of damage to a criminal gang. "Revue Unique," one of the finest dance acts seen here in several months, headlines the stage bill, which also presents Cy Seymour, Canzana, and Bertrand and Ralston.

Loew's Grand.

Eddie Lambert, unique comedian, and the famous Perry Mansfield dancers are the two headline attractions at Loew's Grand theater this week. Other acts are Jack Princeton and Renee Yale in a song and comedy sketch; Frank Whitman, trick violinist, and Cahill and Maybelle in a daring aerial offering. Marion Davies is the star in "The Patsy."

Metropolitan.

Sue Carol, a new star in the photoplay firmament, is delighting the audiences at the Metropolitan this week in "Walking Back," a story of the modern youth. The picture is of a type rather different than most pictures of its kind and comes in the form of a diversion. It is the story of youth, though wild, still real. Vincent Rose's orchestra headlines on the Vitaphone program.

Rialto.

"Tenderloin," the gloriously beautiful story of the love of a young cabaret dancer for a young crook and the tests to which the love of both are put, is playing its second capacity week at the Rialto theater currently, in conjunction with an entirely new issue of Movietone news reel and Vitaphone vaudeville. Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel, in the leading roles, are winning new fans by their charming voices heard on Vitaphone.

Empire.

Douglas Fairbanks in perhaps the finest picture of his entire career, "The Gaucho," is seen at the Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crew street, for the last times today. As "The Gaucho" Doug rollicks through the role of the South American cowboy like his "Robin Hood."

Ponce de Leon.

Alamo No. 2.

Tenth Street.

Today the Tenth Street theater offers "Sorrell and Son," a picture that has been pronounced by critics a dramatic sensation. It's a story of thrills, suspense and interest that will prove a most enjoyable attraction. In the cast appear stars well known to every movie lover.

West End.

Today the West End theater offers one of the really great pictures of the year in D. W. Griffith's "America." A rushing, leaping drama of charm and excitement. It's the romance of 100,000,000 people told in heart throbs. In the cast appear Carol Dempster, Neil Hamilton, Lionel Barrymore and a company of 30,000.

Palace.

Today the Palace theater offers "The Last Command," with Emil Jannings, the outstanding dramatic actor of the world. Jannings will captivate you in his role of the Russian general, who is all powerful—with a nation of men and women at his feet—until he is caught in the fury of mad revolution and swept into oblivion. This picture reaches the greatest climax ever known to the screen.

DeKalb.

"Paul Short's 1928 Revue" scored a tremendous hit last night in its first appearance on the stage at the DeKalb theater. This revue assembles a number of talented performers in five clever acts, devised and staged by Mr. Short, who directs the attraction before the footlights. This revue appears again tonight and Saturday night only—so if you are looking for unusual entertainment see this array of entertainers.

On the screen appears "West Point," with William Haines scampering through Uncle Sam's military school.

COMMISSIONERS END MACON MEET

Macon, Ga., May 17.—(AP)—F. H. Turner, of Blythe, Ga., was elected president of the Association of County Commissioners at the fourteenth annual convention here today. Augusta was selected for the 1929 convention city.

Mr. Turner succeeds R. J. Kennedy, of Statesboro. Fred Houser, of Atlanta, was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Other officers chosen were: W. H. Wright, of Savannah, first vice president; W. B. Stewart, Atlanta, second vice president; G. B. Baggs, Camilla, third vice president; M. W. Tift, Albany, Ga., fourth vice president.

J. H. Griffin, of Athens, was selected chairman of the executive committee. Other members of that committee are: F. M. Cates, Jr., Waynesboro; H. C. Beasley, Reidsville; G. Gunby Jordan, Columbus; Lee H. Happ, Macon; J. Frank Pittman, Thomasville; J. R. Gay, of Gay, and R. J. Kennedy, ex-officio member.

The commissioners adopted a resolution calling for appointment of a committee from the state at large to work with the state highway commission in forming plans for future highway building and improvement.

The action was taken as a means of ending the differences among the "pay as you go" and the "bond issue" factions which the commissioners considered was slowing up highway improvements in the state.

President Turner was authorized to name 12 members of the commissioners and five prominent Georgians not members of the association to work with the highway board and to report to that body at the Augusta meeting next year.

"MOTHER'S DAY" MAIL HERE SET NEW HIGH MARK

A new high record for special delivery mail delivered during the "Mothers' day" season was set this year by the Atlanta postoffice, Postmaster E. K. Large revealed Thursday. The special deliveries Saturday and Sunday showed an increase of 729 pieces over the same dates last year, when the total was 8,119.

SISTER OF ATLANTAN DIES IN FORT WAYNE

Mrs. Lucian York left Thursday for Fort Wayne, Ind., to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Logan, formerly of this city. Mrs. Logan was the widow of a prominent jurist and active in civic affairs of Fort Wayne.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

A hundred and more stations will carry the broadcast of the two big political parties' convention in June. During the last seven or eight years, radio has literally burst upon us. We have had great hookups, master congregations of artists on a single program, hitherto unbelievable feats in transmitting—but the high spot in all radio so far will be the broadcasts of the June party conventions.

All the National Broadcasting company's stations, the Columbia system's broadcasters and many independent stations will be on the air. The cream of the nation's announcers will be at the microphones. Political observers will watch the proceedings and interpret the moves being made on the floor and in hotel room.

Of especial interest is the list of stations which so far are assured. Many others will be added to the list. Here's who will be on, with Atlanta's WSB among the first:

WADC, Akron, Ohio; WSB, Atlanta; WBAL, WCAO, Baltimore, Md.; WBZA, WEEI, WNAC, Boston; WGR, WMAK, Buffalo; WBT, Charlotte, N. C.; KYW, WGN-WLIB, WEBH, WMAQ-WQJ, Chicago; WKRC, WLW, WSAI, Cincinnati; WTAM, WEAR, Cleveland; WAIU, Columbus; KOIL, Council Bluffs, Iowa; WFAA, Dallas; WOC, Davenport, Iowa; KOA, Denver; WHO, Des Moines, Iowa; WGHP, WJR, WWJ, Detroit; WOWO, Ft. DR. WILL HOUGHTON CONTINUES REVIVAL AT TABERNACLE

Continuing the two-week evangelistic series begun last Sunday, Dr. Will H. Houghton, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, on Thursday night preached on the subject "Getting Your Person and Possessions to Heaven."

Dr. Houghton announced that the service Friday night would begin at 7 o'clock in order that he might catch a train to the Baptist convention in Chattanooga, which he will attend Saturday, and be back in time for the Sunday services. There will be no service Saturday night.

Jackson Hill Baptist Church Plans Series Of Revival Meetings

The Rev. Ronald C. Young, pastor of Jackson Hill Baptist church, announced Thursday that a series of revival meetings will be held at that church from May 20 to May 30, inclusive.

The Rev. A. M. Bennett, pastor of the Palm Avenue Baptist church, of Tampa, Fla., and widely known throughout the south, will be in charge of services at 7:30 o'clock every night.

A cordial invitation is extended by the pastor to all members of the church and their friends to attend the revival meetings.

Robert Goolsby Dies.

Robert Goosby, 58, colored business man, and resident of Atlanta since 1888, died at his home at 380 Auburn avenue Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held in the Liberty Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. C. M. Perry will officiate and burial will be in Southview cemetery.

NOTICE

Georgia—Fayette County.

In the Matter of the Receivership of the Public Funds of Fayette County.

Fayette Superior Court, August Term, 1928.

In re Petition of B. D. Murphy, receiver, for direction as to payment of outstanding warrants of Fayette County.

Read, sanctioned and ordered filed:

It appearing that there are a number of outstanding unpaid warrants, as shown by the exhibit attached to this petition, and that some of the holders of said warrants are non-resident of this State, and that the present holders of other of said warrants are unknown, and that the address of many is unknown, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that all of said warrant holders, and all holders of warrants of said Fayette County, are required to present their said warrants to the Receiver herein, B. D. Murphy, at Fayetteville, Ga., to be by him identified and listed within ninety (90) days from this date, and further that in default of so doing all warrants unpresented will be disregarded in the distribution of the funds of said county, and will lose their rank and right to share in the distribution of said funds and the right to be paid out of such funds.

It is further ordered and decreed that this rule, properly captioned, be published twice a month for two months in the Fayette County Times and in The Atlanta Constitution and the Receiver pay for such publication.

It is further ordered and decreed that a copy of this rule be delivered to, or be mailed to last known postoffice address of all warrant holders; and that the publications aforesaid and delivery, or mailing, of this rule, as aforesaid, shall be deemed and held to be a service hereof.

Gifts To Jurors Constitute Basis For New Trial

Gifts of cigarettes and whisky from defendants to jury in a civil trial constitute "gross misconduct" on the donor's part, and unless it can be shown that the jury was not influenced, the plaintiffs have valid grounds for a new trial, the state court of appeals held Thursday.

In the case of the Jackson Banking company and others against J. B. Mays and others, the court reversed the action of Butts superior court in overruling a new trial motion.

Grounds for the motion were the plaintiffs' charges that the defendants, J. B. Mays and J. R. Strickland, during the course of the trial had given to the bailiff of the jury a carton of cigarettes and a bottle of whisky to be delivered to the jury.

It was alleged that the presentation was made in front of a drug store and in view of the jury, which had stopped there to rest.

Evidence showed that some of the cigarettes found their way into the hands of the jury, but with regard to the whisky the high court said:

"The evidence tends very strongly to show that although the donor, Strickland, intended the whisky for the jury, the bailiff in charge of the jury did not deliver it but drank it himself and became so intoxicated that he was scarcely conscious of what he was doing or of his relations to the jury."

The suit was based upon four deeds alleged to have been made by the defendants, which the plaintiff banks sought to have set aside. When the jury found for the plaintiffs in connection with two of the deeds but returned a verdict for the defendants with reference to the other two, the plaintiffs appealed the case.

CENTRAL EMPLOYEES HAVE CREDIT UNION

Central of Georgia railway employees began operation of the Right Way Credit Union on May 1. The union is a miniature bank and operates on a plan similar to that used by building and loan associations, being a mutual business among the employees. Shares are being sold and loans made on personal notes.

Officers of the new organization are Frank G. Lewis, president; A. D. Banks and W. W. Nunnally, vice presidents; T. R. Blackmer, secretary, and B. H. Cole, treasurer.
